WITNESS IN U. S. PLASTER INQUIRY SHOT TO DEATH; PISTOL NEARBY

Body of Louis Tackser, 55-Year-Old Contractor Found in His Office—Circumstances Indicate Suicide.

HAD EXPRESSED FEAR FOR HIS LIFE

Indictment for Nine Men Last March Followed Testimony About Alleged Price-Fixing on PWA Job.

Louis Tackser, 55-year-old plastering contractor who was an important Government witness against five fellow contractors and four union representatives charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States on public works contracts, was found shot to death at 7:30 a. m. today in his second-floor office at 617 North Ninth street under circumstances which police said indicated suicide.

For more than a year he had lived in fear of his life as a result of his business associations and recently had told a friend he had been threatened many times in connection with the Federal indictment returned last March after he had been one of the witnesses before the grand jury.

He was in straitened financial circumstances and had attempted recently, with no success, to borrow money. Yesterday, visiting the city hall, he told A. R. Ross, associate to the president of the Board of Public Service, that he was $9,000 behind on a plastering contract being done by his firm at the new city hospital for Negroes and that he expected to lose $5,000 more on the job on which he had labor trouble with members of the plasterers' union. "They're going to break me," he told Ross.

Two Attempts to End Life Four years ago Tackser attempted to end his life with poison, and more recently he had made a second attempt to kill himself by gas. His body was found by William Lee, an estimator employed by the L. Tackser Plastering Co., of which Tackser was president and treasurer and his wife, Anna, vice-president and secretary. He was seated in a swivel chair at his desk, the head against the wall. He had been shot in the right side of the chest, and a revolver of cheap make lay on the desk. From it one bullet had been fired and the weapon, which was on the glass top of the desk, had broken it.

Police surmised from stains on the floor that after shooting himself the contractor went to an adjoining room, in which the telephone receiver had been taken off the hook, then had returned to the chair to die. Why the receiver had been removed was not apparent.

Wife Reported Him Missing.

The attendant who received the body at the morgue expressed the opinion the contractor had been dead several hours when found. Tackser's wife, with whom he lived at 6006 Enright avenue, University City, told the police he got home from work at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, and went out again about 4:30, saying he had a dinner engagement. He telephoned her at 6 o'clock and she was at the Mayfair Hotel, she continued, and called her again an hour later, to say he was going to a theater, which he did not name. She did not hear from him again. At 1:30 a. m. she reported to the police that he was missing.

In his pockets, when the body was found, was $25 in cash. His diamond stickpin and ring had not been disturbed.

In May, 1935, Tackser had expressed fear of his life to a Post-Dispatch reporter who had asked him if it was true that a representative of the lathers' union had threatened him with a revolver and had told him to "make the right bid" on the Municipal Auditorium plastering job. This was 10 months before return of the Federal indictment in which the five contractors and four representatives of the plasterers' and lathers' unions were charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government by collusion in fixing excessive prices on public works financed in part with PWA funds.

"I'd Like to Tell But Can't." "I'd like to tell you about it, but I can't," he told the reporter and tried to walk away from him. Later.

8 POLICEMEN INDICTED IN CLEVELAND INQUIRY

Accused of Soliciting and Accepting Bribes During Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29.—The grand jury indicted eight police officers today for soliciting and accepting bribes.

Safety Director Elliot Ness, former Federal agent, submitted evidence to the jury Oct. 3 after an investigation of what he said was collusion between the underworld and law-enforcement officers during prohibition.

The indictments named Capt. Michael J. Harwood, who has been suspended; Deputy Inspector Edward C. Burns, Lieutenants John H. Nebe and Thomas J. Brady; Sergeant James Price and Patrolmen Clarence H. Alberts, John W. Shoemaker and Gaylord Stott.

The true bills alleged the officers solicited and accepted bribes from bootleggers for protection against arrest.

The jury heard the testimony of more than 70 witnesses. County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullinan described evidence submitted as "sensational."

Among the witnesses were former bootleggers, who said they paid for protection and operated openly in some districts of the city.

Ness figured in the arrest and conviction on bribery charges of Captain Louis J. Cadek, who, evidence showed, accepted a $100,000 bribe from a precinct captain's yearly salary of $3500. Later Ness suspended Harwood, a veteran of the department, after obtaining evidence the officer's son had collected rent on a building occupied by a race-betting establishment.

COUZENS LEFT NO WILL ADMINISTRATORS NAMED

Under Michigan Law Senator's Widow Will Get Third of Estate, Children Two-Thirds.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—Three special administrators were appointed today for the estate of United States Senator James Couzens, after Mrs. Couzens filed a petition in Probate Court, saying her husband, who made a fortune in the automobile industry, did not leave a will.

Mrs. Couzens' petition estimated the value of the estate as follows: "Real estate, $100,000 and upwards, or thereabouts; personal estate, $1,000,000 and upwards, or thereabouts, as I am informed and verily believe."

TOTAL OF 6354 STRUCK OFF BY ELECTION BOARD

Results of More Than Month's Work to Purge Registration of Phantom Voters Announced.

VOTING LISTS IN CITY NOW TOTAL 425,902

37,425 Increase, Largest Since 1920, Due to Intensive Organization Work by Major Parties.

The Board of Election Commissioners, after working strenuously more than a month to purge the list of registered voters to insure an election next week in which phantom voters would be denied ballots, today tabulated the results of its efforts and found that 6354 names had been removed from the books.

The tentative total registration for St. Louis, subject to adjustment by the addition of names on orders of the Circuit Court, is 425,902, an increase of 37,425 over the registration for the presidential election four years ago. This is the largest proportionate increase recorded since 1920, when suffrage was granted to women. The increase is attributed largely, if not wholly, to intensive organization effort by both major parties.

Many Names Removed. The original total, after the September registration, was 429,847. From this was deducted the 6354 names removed in the canvass and re-canvass and 2409 names were added in the registration of absentees and those who were too ill to register on the regular days.

Of the total registrations scratched, 1787 were removed as a result of the original canvass of the September registration. The special re-canvass, which the board made with deputies hired for that particular purpose and not referred to the board from any political source, resulted in removal of 4567 additional names.

As might be expected the re-canvass disclosed the heaviest padding in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards, those downtown strongholds of machine politicians. Together they contributed 1149 of the ghost registrations, or 27 per cent of the total found in the re-canvass.

Tabulation by Wards. The number of erasures by wards, which resulted from the re-canvass, follow:

First	—	38
Second	—	80
Third	—	113
Fourth	—	351
Fifth	—	467
Sixth	—	431
Seventh	—	262
Eighth	—	146
Ninth	—	70
Tenth	—	64
Eleventh	—	61
Twelfth	—	81
Thirteenth	—	81
Fourteenth	—	73
Fifteenth	—	125
Sixteenth	—	180
Seventeenth	—	192
Eighteenth	—	192
Nineteenth	—	305
Twentieth	—	151
Twenty-first	—	115
Twenty-second	—	119
Twenty-third	—	304
Twenty-fourth	—	159
Twenty-fifth	—	148
Twenty-sixth	—	130
Twenty-seventh	—	115
Twenty-eighth	—	142
Total	—	4567

Only 121 Defenses Made. In only 121 instances was any effort made to defend the registration of the 4567 names which were scratched. All those challenged in the registration had an opportunity to appear before the board and submit proof that they were properly registered, but 4446 of the 4567 scratched did not even appear before the board. Notices of challenged registration were left by the re-canvassing deputies in the course of the canvass and notices were mailed also to the addresses at which registrations were challenged.

In all, the re-canvassing deputies challenged 9544 registrations. Of these, 941 voters who had moved after registering in September appeared at the board's offices and transferred their registrations before the board began hearings on challenges. This left 8603 challenges for consideration of the board.

An additional 2457 transfers were accepted by the board after it began hearings. In 1519 instances voters whose registration had been challenged succeeded in convincing the board that they were properly registered. Another 49 challenges were dismissed because of errors in mailing notices; eight were dismissed by court orders, and three persons who responded to challenges established that they were not registered at the addresses where their registrations had been challenged.

ROOSEVELT HITS 'PROPAGANDA IN PAY ENVELOPES'

At Wilkes-Barre He Defends Social Security Act, Praises "Patriotic Resentment" of Labor.

CAREFULLY AVOIDS TALK OF FUTURE

Marking Time in Campaign Talks, Apparently With Idea Result Is Foregone Conclusion.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WITH ROOSEVELT IN PENNSYLVANIA, OCT. 29.—Attacking the "propaganda" which he charged employers are putting in the pay envelopes of their workers at the same time that he defended his social security program, President Roosevelt today appealed for the votes of Pennsylvania's mine workers.

In two brief addresses, the first at Wilkes-Barre in the heart of the anthracite region this morning, and the second at Harrisburg, the state capital, the President pointed to the gains he said labor had made during his administration.

While his talks today were in general a defense of the administration's program, he gave no hint of future policies. The fact is that the President's aim is to say as little as possible until the close of the campaign. He has hinted, however, that in his closing talk at Madison Square Garden in New York on Saturday he may say more than he has said at any time during the past month and a half.

Patriotic Resentment of Labor. "How far we have come is shown by the patriotic sentiment with which labor and the public alike are meeting the latest attempts of a handful of employers to mislead and coerce labor with regard to the social security act," the President said at Wilkes-Barre after he had given generous praise to John Mitchell, one of the early leaders of the United Mine Workers of America.

"No employer," the President continued, "has a right to put his political preferences in the pay envelopes. That is coercion, even if he tells the whole truth."

"But this propaganda misrepresents by telling only half the truth. Labor and a fair-minded public must place such tactics in a class with the coercion of the strong-arm squad and the whispering of the planted labor spy."

"Propaganda in the pay envelope is an attempt to lead the American worker to believe he is paying for his social insurance," the President said. Actually, he declared, the employer is paying three dollars and the worker one dollar for every four dollars of insurance covering old age and unemployment.

Three for One "The Rub." "Three for one!" the President said. "There's the rub. That is what these propaganda-spreading employers object to. The record extending back several years shows that their purpose has always been to compel the worker alone to put up all the premiums both for their unemployment insurance and their old age insurance. They are now trying to frighten the worker about the worker's one dollar premium so that they won't have to pay their three dollar premium."

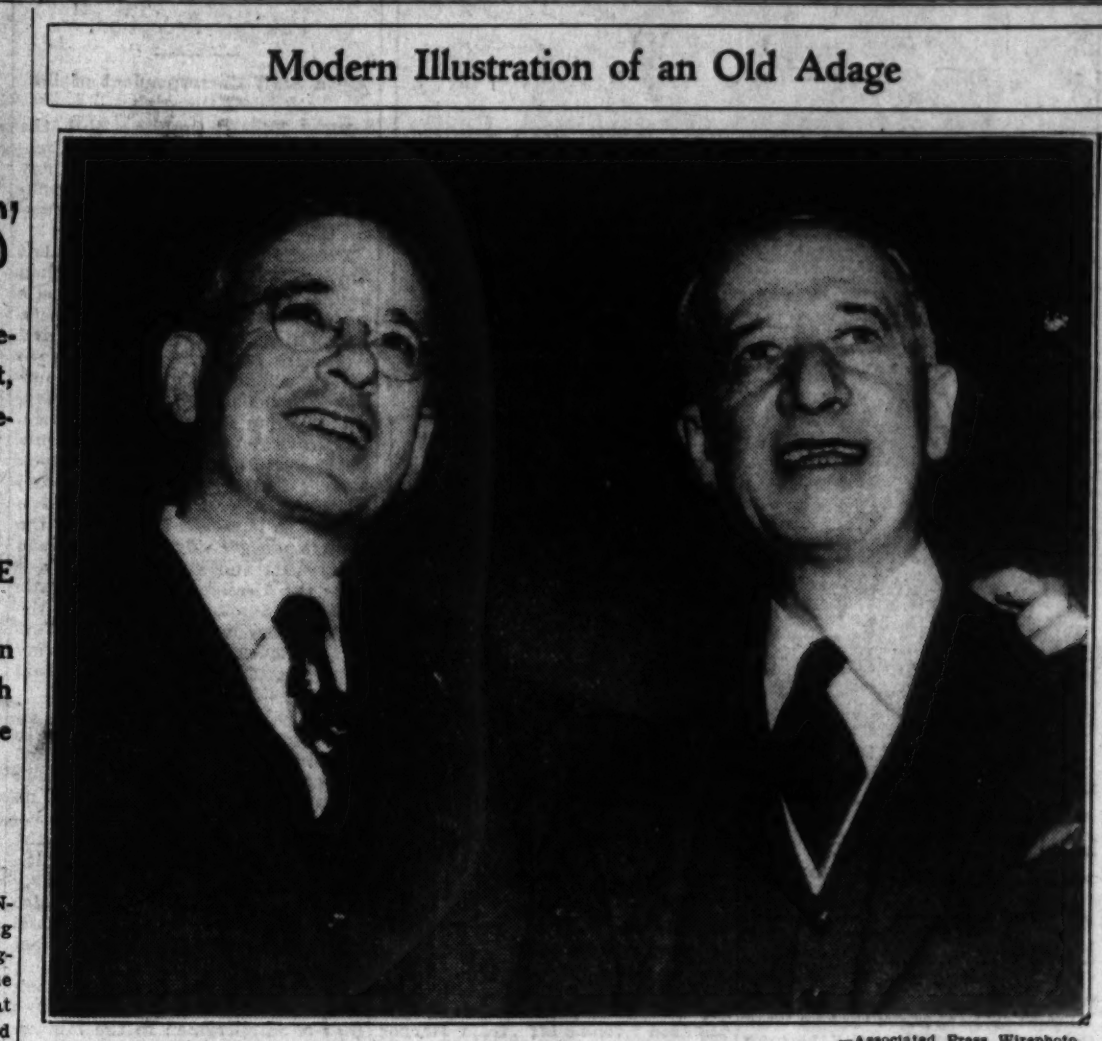

A crowd of huge proportions, estimated by local authorities as high as 70,000, had gathered in Miners' Park to greet the President as he stepped from his rear platform to a specially constructed speaker's stand.

Proceeding the President on the platform as John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, who gave the administration credit for averting a strike in the anthracite region, Lewis introduced the President, who was cheered by the big crowd. He had hardly begun with his familiar salutation, "My friends of Pennsylvania," when he was interrupted by another burst of cheering.

Two Points Applauded. It was Roosevelt campaign weather, clear and crisply cold. While the President spoke the crowd was augmented by streams of people who poured on to the field. The President's reference to what the New Deal had done to insure collective bargaining brought applause as did the reference to employers who put their political preference into the pay envelope.

Gov. Earle was on the platform with the President as was Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, head of the Mine Workers in Pennsylvania, who introduced Lewis.

ARRESTED IN IOWA FOR WAGE ENVELOPE NOTICE

Des Moines Employer Accused Under State Law Against Unsigned Political Matter.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 29.—Alfred Penn, president of the Penn Electric Switch Co., was arrested yesterday for putting on his employees' pay envelopes unsigned notices of Federal Social Security Act wage deductions "tending to create sentiment against President Roosevelt."

Arraigned immediately in Municipal Court, Penn pleaded not guilty.

Judge Charles Cooter set a hearing for Nov. 12.

The charge, based on the Iowa election law which requires that all political advertisements or circulars must bear the name of the person or organization distributing them, was sworn to by J. C. Lewis, president of the Iowa State Federation of Labor.

Attached to the information was a photostatic copy of one of the pay envelopes, which bore this statement:

"Pay reduction—effective January 1, 1937. We are compelling a Roosevelt (New Deal) law to make a 1 per cent reduction from your wages and turn it over to the Government. Finally this may go as high as 3 per cent. You might get this money back in future years—but only if Congress decides to make the appropriations for that purpose. There is no guarantee. Decide before Nov. 3—election day, whether or not you wish to take these chances."

GOES TO JAIL FOR INCITING TO 'POLITICAL MURDER'

Aged Director of French Newspaper Urged Killing of Deputies Who Favored Italian Sanctions.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—A court of appeals rejected today the final appeal of Charles Maurras, aged director of the Royalist newspaper Action Francaise, against a lower court's decision he was guilty of provocation to political murder.

Detectors arrested Maurras as he dined in a restaurant with friends. Without resistance he went to jail, where he must serve two sentences totaling one year. He had been at liberty pending the decision on the appeal. He was specifically accused of urging the killing of 140 deputies who favored application of sanctions against Italy during the Ethiopian war. His newspaper also printed attacks last spring on Premier Leon Blum, advising the Socialist leader to "guard his own skin."

HITLER EATS NO BUTTER, MEAT

Air Minister Opposing Tells of Sacrifices for 4-Year Plan.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—Air Minister Hermann Wilhelm Goering disclosed yesterday that he lost 20 pounds and 8 ounces by eating less butter, and said that Chancellor Hitler ate no butter.

THREE MOVIE MEN OF RUSSIA SENT TO PRISON FOR WASTE

Manager of Trust, Director and Bookkeeper Sentenced to Labor Camps.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Oct. 29.—Two former executives of the Eastern Film Trust were convicted yesterday and sentenced to labor camps for frittering away State money for the production of movies. The ex-manager was sentenced to serve four years as an ex-director two years and a bookkeeper one year.

The accused men were charged with purchasing a bad scenario, countenancing excessive production expense and with wasting money searching for talent.

Testimony at the trial showed that of 40 employees of the movie company, two were Trotskyites, six were thieves, one was a murderer and two were embezzlers.

WPA COERCION INDICTMENT REPORTED AT HARTVILLE, MO.

"Prominent Wright County Democrat" Named, Says Prosecuting Attorney.

HARTVILLE, Mo., Oct. 29.—A "prominent Wright County Democrat" is under indictment on charges of attempting to coerce "four or five WPA workers" to vote Democratic in the November election, Prosecutor M. J. Huffman of Hartsville yesterday said.

Huffman returned after a brief session of the grand jury, and that the jury would reconvene Nov. 30 to consider "five or six more similar cases" which his office has been investigating.

PARTIAL VOTING LIST RECHECK IS CALLED OFF IN KANSAS CITY

Election Board Bases Its Action on Ruling Obtained From Attorney-General.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—Fred Bellemere, chairman of the Election Board, announced today a vote census being taken in three of the city's major wards had been called off as a result of a ruling by the Attorney-General that the procedure was without authority.

Bellemere said 108 enumerators employed last week had been directed to turn in their records. Complete reports have not been received from any precincts, he said.

The census was begun Monday by 83 teams, each consisting of a Democrat and a Republican. Bellemere said the reason for the census was "numerous charges of fraud" in registration.

The Attorney-General held the board was without authority to order a census.

Mussolini Wins In Sword Bouts. ROME, Oct. 29.—Premier Mussolini wound up a busy day celebrating the beginning of the fifteenth year of Fascism by taking on several students of swordsmanship at their center here yesterday afternoon. He retired one after another in short bouts.

LONDON TO MAKE BID FOR NEW YORK VOTES TONIGHT

Principal Address of His Eastern Campaign to Be Delivered in Madison Square Garden.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Gov. Alf. M. Landon motored to Oyster Bay today and put a wreath on the grave of Theodore Roosevelt in tribute to the twenty-sixth President of the United States. This followed a brief visit with the widow of the former President at her Oyster Bay home.

Landon later attended a luncheon of Brooklyn Republican leaders and then went to his hotel to rest before going to Madison Square Garden for his half-hour address tonight which will be broadcast at 8:30 St. Louis time.

Speaking at the luncheon under a large illuminated picture of himself labeled "the next President of the United States," Gov. Landon said: "There is just one issue in the campaign, laying aside such issues as relief, social security and others. That issue is between a strange new group determined to alter the American form of government with economic planning, and a small group of independents fighting to maintain the American form of government."

Refers to Smith. Referring to Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate in 1928, now supporting Landon, the Republican nominee said:

"It's no easy thing for distinguished Democrats to break with their party even in one campaign. It would require an issue they would consider dangerous to their country to cause them to take such a step. They have put loyalty to country above party loyalty."

Forgoing a subway ride he had planned, Landon drove to Bellevue Hospital to see Motorcycle Policeman Edward Malarkey, who suffered a fractured skull in an accident during the Landon parade yesterday.

"I'm awfully sorry this happened," Gov. Landon said to the policeman, who had just recovered consciousness. "I only heard about it a few minutes ago. How do you feel?"

"Okay," mumbled the policeman. J. M. (Bill) Nye, aid of the Governor, promised to send a box of toys to each of the policeman's sons. Gov. Landon also spoke briefly to the nurses and doctors at the hospital.

Before going to Madison Square Garden, the candidate arranged to speak at 4:45 p. m. under the auspices of a foreign language group. The speech will be broadcast locally.

With Smith Yesterday. Landon conferred yesterday with Alfred E. Smith, who was Democratic presidential nominee in 1928. After their half-hour conference, Landon told photographers who urged them to "get closer together," that "we are as close together as we can get and we're going to stick together for a long time."

Smith, declining to predict the outcome of the election, told reporters in response to questions

AIR-BOMBERS FROM MADRID DESTROY 17 REBEL PLANES

Spanish Government Says Its Flyers Made Raids on Airports at Talavera de la Reina, Seville, Granada and Caceres.

LOYALIST PREMIER EXHORTS FIGHTERS

Largo Caballero Declares His Forces Have "Everything Necessary for Victory," Meaning Tanks and Aviation Supplies.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Oct. 29.—The Government announced today that loyalist bombing planes had destroyed 17 Fascist planes in raids on rebel airports.

The official bulletin said the air successes were "the most marked triumph" since the civil war began more than 14 weeks ago. For the moment, at least, the fact that Moorish legionnaires and Fascist troops had reduced the capital to a virtual stage of siege was forgotten by the populace in the rejoicing over the news.

Twelve insurgent planes were destroyed at Talavera de la Reina, the Government reported, and five others were blown to pieces in a raid on Seville. Other Government planes, the report said, "spread panic and wreckage with juggernaut efficiency" at Fascist airports in Granada and Caceres.

The Government planes, it was asserted, dropped 250-pound bombs on Fascist hangars "where planes were being repaired and where those recently delivered from foreign countries were being assembled."

More Madrid Supplies. The Government announced it had "everything necessary for victory," a phrase interpreted to mean the defenders of Madrid had obtained sufficient tanks, airplanes and other war materials to meet insurgents on even terms.

The Government radio also informed the populace not to be alarmed if many planes appeared over the capital today. The planes, the broadcast said, would be loyal aircraft in review formation.

Later, Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, in a proclamation to the militia, said: "The Government now has tanks and aviation."

Loyalist Drive Indicated. Advances from the battlefield south of the capital indicated a government offensive had begun at 6 a. m. at Sesena, that Torrejon de la Calzada had been recaptured and the important highway point of Illescas was being approached.

Advances by government troops in the extreme northern and eastern sectors also were reported by the Madrid authorities. These included: Capture of the towns of Caldas, Vega, Obareca and Somiedo, with 300 insurgents killed, 56 prisoners taken and 15 machine guns and 200 rifles seized; counterattacks in the San Claudio sector, where government troops were reported to have killed 1000 insurgents, and gains at Oviedo.

There also were reports from government defenders at Bilbao that insurgent planes had attacked the Marquina hospital, and from Belchite that 200 government sympathizers, men, women and children, had been lined up and executed.

Appeals to Fighters. In Madrid, women ran alongside the newly mobilized column of 35,000 civilians as it marched through the streets to the defense of the capital, exhorting the men: "Fight to the death! Victory is yours!"

In an appeal both to citizens of Madrid and combatants on the front, the Premier declared: "Enemy attacks will be overwhelmed by our will to conquer! Now is the moment not only to face to face with the enemy but to hurl him back once and for all from the positions he is now holding—and free Madrid from the Fascist claws which have reached impotently toward the heart of our capital."

"The Government is closely united with the fighting forces and beseeches them to continue their heroic fight, not ceasing an inch and throwing themselves into attacks with a violence which will insure victory."

"The Government assures the combatants it has everything at hand to assure triumph."

"Discipline and respect for prisoners who may fall into your hands"

NEUTRALS ACQUIT ITALY, PORTUGAL OF AIDING REBELS

Non-Intervention Committee Rejects Russia's Charge of Military Activity in Spain.

SOVIET DELEGATE WON'T WITHDRAW

Gives Assurance Despite Setback — Note Clarifying Moscow's Stand Is Made Public.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The neutrality committee acquitted Italy and Portugal last night of Russia's charges that they gave the Spanish insurgents military support. Russia's charges against Germany were held in abeyance until Germany makes a full reply. Portugal remained adamant against a suggestion from Moscow that naval vessels of one or more non-intervention nations control Portuguese ports to prevent violations of the non-intervention pact. Russia agreed to the proposal of Lord Plymouth, British chairman of the neutrality committee, that control be established over Spanish ports and frontiers to assure enforcement of the agreement. Russia promised to refrain in the committee despite the dismissal of its charges against Italy and Portugal.

Ivan Maisky, Soviet Ambassador to Great Britain and member of the committee, dismissed the Russian charge with a statement that Russia might withdraw after its setback, declaring: "The sub-committee meets Monday and the full committee Wednesday. I shall be there."

Moscow Note Amplified. The Soviet note in London also made public a copy of the "clarification" of Moscow's warning note last week. "The proceedings of the committee have convinced the Soviet Government," it said, "that at present there are no guarantees against further supply to rebels (Fascists) generals of war material."

"In these circumstances, the Soviet Government is of the opinion that, until such guarantees are created and effective control over the strict fulfillment of the obligations regarding non-intervention is established, those Governments who consider supplying the legitimate Spanish Government are morally entitled not to consider themselves more bound by the agreement than those Governments who supply the rebels (Fascists) in contravention of the agreement."

Discussed in Parliament. Today's meeting of the British Parliament concludes the session which opened after the general election last November. Another is to be convened Nov. 3.

Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, defended the United Kingdom's stand on Spanish neutrality in Parliament late today with the declaration any other policy might have inflamed the European situation.

At the same time, he asserted: "Supplies sent from this country would not have had an important bearing on the result in Spain."

Eden pointed out the non-intervention committee still was functioning and that its chief complainant, Russia, still was a member.

He said: "The chief complainant against the workings of the non-intervention agreement is Soviet Russia, which charged Portugal with infringement. We have no information whatsoever to support the Soviet charges."

Replies to Labor Demands. Dealing with Labor demands that aid be permitted the Spanish Government, Eden told the Commons: "What they (the Government's critics) were asking was that the French and our own Government, who had worked all through the weeks of August and September to try to get the committee going, should destroy what had been done, and, when they had destroyed it, Soviet Russia would be left master of the field."

"The Government has no intention of lending itself to anything of this kind. The mere fact that all nations still are members of the committee only shows that Europe believes this (non-intervention) policy is the right policy to pursue."

"It is easy enough for anybody to say now 'this arrangement is helping one side more than another.' But our purposes in non-intervention were not to help one side or the other but to prevent the civil war—save in itself—from passing the bounds 'les of Spain and involving the whole of Europe."

Assuming there had been no agreement, Eden contended, Italy and Germany would have been in a better position to supply the insurgents than either Britain or France would have been to supply the Madrid Government.

Arthur Greenwood, Laborite, leading the opposition attack, declared: "Spain now has become a pawn in a game of power and politics. The Spanish revolt is not a spontaneous rising of an oppressed people. It is a carefully-engineered conspiracy, originated outside Spain and aided and abetted by powers outside of Spain."

"I'm sure I was right" in supporting London. Smith told reporters that he liked the Kansas "very much," because "he is very clear-headed, very much to the point and very sensible."

Smith said they did not discuss "issues or policies."

Many of the paper slips which Landon arrived in New York at the Pennsylvania Station yesterday afternoon. His automobile parade from the Pennsylvania Station to the Murray Hill Hotel became a melee of marchers and cars with police apparently unable to keep crowds from the procession. His hair blown away, a waving hat in his hand, Landon seemed to enjoy the ride in his open car which was showered by paper and tape and spotlighted by Klieg lights.

After his meeting with Smith, Landon dined with Theresa Cahill, who once was nurse to his daughter, Peggy Anne.

He then held a short conference with Republican candidates for Congress and the State Legislature and stood in a reception line to meet about 300 "rank-and-file workers."

Y. M. C. A. RAISES $137,729, 94 PCT. OF AMOUNT SOUGHT

Public Campaign Ended but Solicitation Continues, Owing to Conditional Gifts.

The drive for funds for the Y. M. C. A. closed last night at a dinner at the Downtown Y with canvassers reporting a total of $137,729 collected, or 94 per cent of the $146,400 sought in the campaign.

Included in the $137,729 is $4000 contributed, according to Joseph S. Calfee, treasurer of the Y. M. C. A., on the condition that the full amount be collected. Calfee said that workers would continue to solicit funds in an effort to reach the goal.

Three thousand new contributors were obtained in the year, an increase of 50 per cent in the number of persons giving to the fund. Frank M. See, general chairman of the drive, presided at the dinner.

Killed in Crash on Honeymoon. CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—An automobile collision caused fatal injuries yesterday to Arlo J. Republicans From Missouri and Illinois Coming to City for Speech Saturday Night.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—With the end of the campaign in sight, President Roosevelt spent a busy day yesterday, against a patriotic background of flag, infantrymen, cruisers and 21-gun salutes.

From 9:30 a. m., when he left Bayonne, N. J., to 4:30 p. m., when he reached his house, enthusiastic crowds roared along miles of streets, waved flags, threw torn paper and streamers from windows and gave the President one of the most sustained welcomes of the campaign.

Detaining at 9:30 a. m., Roosevelt drove across Staten Island, preceded by 40 motorcycle police, took a ferry to Bayridge, Brooklyn, and continued after a stop at Brooklyn College to Manhattan by way of the Williamsburg Bridge. Crowds lined the streets and all but Wall street gave the President an enthusiastic greeting. Bankers peered from the second-story windows of the Central Hanover Bank and the Irving Trust Co. On the street, occasional boos were heard.

To Governor's Island. Roosevelt proceeded by ferry to Governor's Island, where he lunched with Army officers, and again took a ferry to Bedloe's Island at 2 p. m. to participate in ceremonies marking the fiftieth anniversary of the Statue of Liberty. The ferry which carried the President and his party was the Murray Hill, which is also the name of the New York hotel where Gov. Alf Landon stayed last night.

After the ceremonies on Bedloe's Island, the President passed through files of infantrymen to the Murray Hill, which he left at 2 p. m. to pass the reviewing stand near the Auditorium. There the presidential nominee and Jesse W. Barrett, candidate for Governor, are to review the line before going into the Auditorium for the rally. Richard E. Gruener, former chairman of the Republican City Committee, will be grand marshal of the parade.

The parade, assembling along Olive street, most of the way from Grand boulevard to Twelfth boulevard, will start at 7 p. m. to move on to the reviewing stand near the Auditorium. There the presidential nominee and Jesse W. Barrett, candidate for Governor, are to review the line before going into the Auditorium for the rally. Richard E. Gruener, former chairman of the Republican City Committee, will be grand marshal of the parade.

7 Divisions in Parade. The parade schedule, as made out at local Republican headquarters, provides for two motorized and five foot divisions. The first consists of passenger automobiles, both out-of-town and local. Jack Groesse is division marshal. The cars will line up facing north on Channing avenue (3400 west), south of Olive, and on Market street, to the east of Olive. Elephants, trucks and floats will compose the second division, of which Arthur Brunk is marshal. This will assemble on Seventeenth street, north of Market street, facing north.

The first foot division, assembling on Seventeenth street north of Market, will comprise in its first section Wards 10, 11 and 12, and in its second section Wards 8, 9, 13 and 14. F. A. DeVos is marshal.

The others are: Second foot division, Wards 15, 16, 17, 24, 25 and 26; assemble on Twentieth street south of Olive; R. C. Hart, marshal. Third, Wards 19, 20, 23 and 24, assemble on Seventeenth street north of Olive; A. Yampolsky, marshal. Fourth, first section, Wards 3, 18 and 21; second section, Wards 1, 2, 22 and 27; assemble at Twelfth and Delmar boulevards; Tom Kearney, marshal. Fifth, Wards 4, 5, 6 and 7; assemble on Tenth street north of Market; H. Finkelstein, marshal.

While tickets to the rally have been issued, the party management announced that no one would be denied admission to the Auditorium for want of a ticket, so long as a seat is vacant in either the Convention Hall or the Opera House, both sections being used for the rally. James E. Darr, manager of the Auditorium, has stated the limit of the seating capacity of the two halls, and the connecting stage, as 15,500, with possible standing room for 2000 more, or not more than 15,500 in all.

As has been told, preliminary speeches will be made by Barrett and Charles Nagel, Nestor of St. Louis Republicanism, who was Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's Cabinet. Gov. Landon's half-hour speech will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

Gov. Landon, who will come here from New York after his speech at Madison Square Garden tonight, will arrive in St. Louis at 8:30 a. m. Saturday. He will be joined at the Hotel Statler by Mrs. Landon and 19-year-old Peggy Anne Landon, who will come here from Topeka, Kan., to hear the final speech of his touring campaign, and will return to Kansas with him on a train leaving after the meeting.

ENGLISH MAGAZINE DENIES KING WILL WED MRS. SIMPSON

Mimeographed Publication, Not Sold to Public, Calls Rumors "Extreme Slander."

LONDON, Oct. 29.—"The Week," mimeographed publication circulated to a select clientele, said in an article today that my report an article today that my report King Edward intends to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson was "extreme slander."

The magazine, which is not sold on news stands, said "certain disgruntled former palace interests" who are annoyed because the king will not take their advice, circulated the continued stream of tidbits to swell the rumors.

Roosevelt Hits Payroll Propaganda

The President added politicians and newspapers to the "handful" of employers he said were misleading labor on the Social Security Act. Speaks at Train.

The President, halting for 10 minutes on his trip from Wilkes-Barre, spoke briefly to thousands gathered around his special train at Sunbury.

"I understand Sunbury was the original home of the incandescent lamp," the President said. "I congratulate you for having seen the light."

"I am told this very spot was covered by four feet of water in the spring floods," Mr. Roosevelt said. He added a promise of Federal flood control measures by spring of next year.

The President received flowers from the crowd as he came to the platform. "I notice that there is not a sunflower among them," he said.

In Harrisburg, the presidential party was driven through downtown streets, lined by thousands of persons, to Capitol Park.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Station was jammed. Secret Service men and State troopers, guarding the doors, barred the public's way toward the siding. Maj. Lyran G. Adams, superintendent of the State police, estimated there were 50,000 persons in Capitol Park.

John L. Lewis on Platform. For several blocks about the Pennsylvania gray stone capitol, the throng had gathered. The President spoke from a gayly decorated stand after a brief introduction by Gov. Earle, who described the President as the greatest American of our time.

Again Lewis appeared on the platform, sitting in the front row at Earle's left, his shaggy mane of graying hair blown by the wind. In his Harrisburg speech, the President declared he knew the American people would not return to power those Republican leaders who he said "emptied the national market basket."

"I know that the American people will go forward with those who are succeeding in filling it once more," he added, saying the New Deal had filled the "housewives' pocketbook faster than food prices had risen. Before his Harrisburg audience surrounding the capitol steps, Mr. Roosevelt asserted the Republican leadership today was still the same as it was before 1932, preaching "the same heresy—class against class and region against region."

Assaults G. O. F. Promises. "In the cities they make promises which they are careful to hide from the farmers," he said. "In the rural districts they make promises which they are careful to hide from the city dwellers. In the cities they promise to reduce food prices for the woman who carries the market basket. In the country they promise to raise food prices for the man who grows the contents of that market basket on the farm."

Termining this "fairly story" and saying the American people were "through with that kind of emptiness," Mr. Roosevelt said the average advance in food costs since 1932 was 24 per cent, but this compared with an average rise in factory payrolls of 70 per cent, which meant that the incomes of all city dwellers had "gone up faster and farther than food prices have gone up."

Asserting there is often too wide a spread between what the farmer gets and what the consumer pays, he said the administration was "engaged in solving" that difficulty through vigilance against "monopolies which are contrary to sound public policy even though they are not actually illegal" and by eliminating waste and unnecessary duplication in distribution.

He spoke with an intimate warmth, a smile on his face when he had made a point that drew the crowd's response. Although it was a chilly day, the President was halcyon and cool.

President Roosevelt left his train at Philadelphia this afternoon and drove to Camden, N. J., where he told a crowd at the City Plaza that business of all kinds "has begun to get in the clear."

"It has been our aim first of all to restore values to a normal and proper level," he said. "It is our aim to maintain them at a normal and proper level. In that way we believe there will be a greater security for the average American family than ever what may be the occupation of the members of that family....

"Business of all kinds has begun to get in the clear. You know that your jobs are safer—than there are more jobs to go around and better pay for jobs. The threat to your savings, your investments, your insurance policies and your homes is being removed."

Actually Marking Time. Actually, the President is marking time until the end of a campaign the outcome of which he appears to regard as a foregone conclusion. He is being extremely careful not to commit himself definitely to any course which may prove embarrassing after Nov. 3.

As in his talks in and around New York yesterday, he speaks in generalizations with which no one can reasonably disagree. At the end of a strenuous day in which he showed himself to hundreds of thousands of persons in three of the most populous boroughs of greater New York, the President retired to the seclusion of his town house in the fashionable East Sixties for rest and conference with political leaders, until time to go on board his special train.

Accompanied by Guffey. He will return to Washington tonight, but will spend only a brief time there tomorrow, returning tomorrow afternoon to concentrate on the remainder of his campaign in his native State.

The President was accompanied on his tour of Pennsylvania today by Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, leading New Deal Senator, who has built up a political machine rivaling that created by the late Boss Penrose and the one-time Republican boss, William C. Vare. Late in the day the President planned to stop for a back platform appearance at Wilmington, Del., the State in which the du Ponts, founders of the American Liberty League, have long exercised political domination. Because of a split in the Republican ranks this year, the Democrats are very hopeful of carrying the State.

JUDGE GETS
HIS DISMISSAL

Judge Joynt Rules Board Has Power to Fire John Mullarkey Only on Day of Service—Appeal to Be Taken.

DISCHARGE ORDERED FOR INEFFICIENCY

Poor Writings and Unsatisfactory Records Cited—186 Others Ousted for Similar Reasons.

A writ of prohibition was issued by Circuit Judge John W. Joynt today, preventing the Election Board from carrying out the discharge of John Mullarkey as a Democratic precinct judge of the Eighteenth Precinct of the Twenty-third Ward on the ground that his handwriting was poor and his registration records inefficient.

The court held that the board, under the election law as amended in 1921, could discharge precinct officials only on a day of actual service. The ruling applied only to the case of Mullarkey. The board previously has ordered discharge of 186 other judges and clerks appointed by the old Waechter board, because of dissatisfaction with their work.

The board on once appealed to the St. Louis Court of Appeals for a writ of prohibition to prevent Judge Joynt from entering his order for a writ, on the allegation that he exceeded his jurisdiction, inasmuch as the action he sought to prohibit had already been carried out. The board also declared that the right to dismiss officials would have to be additional writs in court to take advantage of the ruling, if upheld in the appeal.

Appointees Commissioned. Newly appointed precinct officials began calling at the Election Board office in numbers today to receive commissions to serve in Tuesday's presidential election.

The board expected to complete by Saturday issuance of commissions to possibly as many as 2382 men and women who will act as deputy commissioners, judges and clerks.

Unlike the practice followed by the old Waechter board, the present board has not consulted members of the Democratic and Republican committees for recommendations for the appointments, and the committee members have not volunteered any appointments.

Assignment to precincts has been completed for all of the 4308 judges and clerks but the board has not finished passing on appointment of the 1436 deputy commissioners.

Ballot Boxes Closed at 7. Chairman Williams announced today that the board would adhere strictly to the rule that the polls must close at 7 p. m. Tuesday, and would interpret this to mean that voted ballots must be deposited in the boxes by that hour. Persons waiting in line or marking ballots will not be allowed to vote after 7 o'clock.

This will constitute one of the complications of handling what was expected to be a record volume of ballots. Some of the 718 polling places will have nearly 800 voters registered. The average registration will be 593 or slightly larger.

The voting day, starting at 6 a. m., will be 780 minutes long. If the vote cast should be in the same proportion to the registration as in the 1932 and 1928 presidential elections it will average 550 ballots more per precinct. That would mean that a ballot would have to be dropped in the box at each polling place every 1.4 minutes on the average.

Two typical voters, familiar with the candidates, timed marking and handing of ballots as they would not them, today. One, who intended to cast a virtually straight ballot, required 30 seconds while the other, whose ballot will be liberally scratched, took one minute and 30 seconds. This timing included marking of the separate constitutional ballot. Of course, a number of voters may mark ballots simultaneously, but some time will be required for each to identify himself and obtain ballots.

Staffs at the Polls. Most polling places will have at least 13 to 15 persons officially on duty, either for the Election Board or for parties—four judges, two deputy commissioners, one policeman, and one challenger for the Democrats, Republicans, Socialists and Citizens' Non-partisan Committee, the latter group being admitted because of its opposition to the first three constitutional amendments. The Socialists did not, however, hope to have challengers at more than 400 polling places. The Election Board ruled today that the Communist party could not have watchers and challengers on duty because it did not have an elective party committee. Watchers will replace challengers for the count of the ballots. The Democrats and Republicans will have two watchers each, but the other groups did not count on more than one watcher.

Outside the polling places will be several thousand Democratic and Republican precinct workers, soliciting votes. The Election Board decided yesterday to allow challengers and watchers to the Socialists and the Citizens' Non-partisan Committee, following application of the Socialists to the St. Louis Court of Appeals for such an order in their behalf. A conference of the plaintiffs, Chairman Williams and others in chambers with Judge William Dee Becker of this court was held. Attorney-General Roy McKittick yesterday rescinded an opinion that only the Democrats and Republicans were entitled to challengers and watchers.

The form of instructions to the deputy commissioners has not been completed. The instructions already prepared for judges and clerks varied little from those regularly given in the past.

The board may not accede to a request of the Bar Association for a ruling as to how ballots should be counted where marked by voters with a circle in the cross at the top of the Non-partisan ticket, which listed the association's judicial slate and also the independent candidacy of Otto C. Botz for Governor. The association preferred to have voters mark those on its slate with crosses opposite their individual names. A member of the board told a Post-Dispatch reporter the board was inclined to feel it should not tell people how to vote for specific candidates.

A communication to the board from the Attorney-General's office yesterday pointed out that a voter casting a Democratic or Republican ballot by marking a cross in the circle at the top of the party ticket could also indicate specific preference for the non-partisan judicial slate by placing crosses in the squares opposite the names of candidates on that ticket.

Registration was completed yesterday of persons who were out of the city or ill at the time of the general registration in September. There were 440 in the former class and 60 in the latter enrolled yesterday, bringing the total to 2193 who were out of the city and 216 who were ill, or 2409 in all. Applications had been received for registration of 2373, and the remaining 164, who failed to complete the process, will be notified that their names were not placed on the books.

Circuit Judge J. Wesley McAfee issued court orders yesterday for registration of 75 persons, on appeals from the board, bringing the number thus enrolled to 426. Judge McAfee will hold court tonight to hear appeals. He hoped to complete the work by tomorrow, but may be compelled under an old Supreme Court decision to accept appeals as long as it may be physically possible to have entries made on the registration books.

NO TRUE BILL VOTED
IN PCT. 22, WARD 24

First Precinct Investigated in Which No Evidence of Fraud Is Found.

A no true bill was voted by the grand jury in its investigation of the vote in the August primary in the twenty-second precinct of the Twenty-fourth Ward, Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller announced today. This meant that the grand jury found no indication of fraud on which to base indictments.

This was the first precinct gone into by the grand jury inquiry in which the entire staff of judges and clerks serving in the primary has not been indicted. The 48 judges and clerks of eight other precincts were placed under charges, as were two other persons.

The precinct is in "The Hill" district and had its polling place in the primary at 5204 Shaw avenue. Officials of the precinct in the primary, according to Election Board records, were: Louis A. Visconti, 1811 Cooper street, and Joe Matreoli, 4936 Shaw, Democratic judges; Serena Rancilio, 5029 Shaw, Democratic clerk; Joseph B. Catanzaro, 2525 South Kingshighway, John J. Radacelli, 5338 Lindenwood avenue, Republican judges, and Charles Merlo, 5201 Wilson avenue, Republican clerk.

The grand jury obtained a subpoena today for the primary ballot box and other records of the nineteenth precinct of the Eleventh Ward, which had its polling place at 3317 Meramec street.

This precinct, differing from the other nine so far investigated, did not have any outstanding loquacious returns, but it is understood the grand jury wished to investigate information received concerning the election of party committee members there.

The precinct is in the home ward of Fred W. Pape, chairman of the Republican City Committee. The first precinct investigated by the present grand jury, the Twentieth in the Twenty-first Ward, was in the home ward of Robert E. Hanegan, chairman of the Democratic City Committee. Indictments were voted against the six officials in charge of that precinct.

Pape was re-elected Republican Committeeman for the ward, with 1785 votes to 1684 for his opponent, Harry Thuner. The Republican Committeewoman, Mrs. Mary Brante, was re-elected with 1739 votes to 1666 for her opponent, Mrs. Mary Lammlein.

There were four candidates for Democratic Committeeman, and four for Committeewoman. Walter Kelly and Mrs. Mae Cuba, followers of Mayor Dickmann, were elected with 1946 and 1910 votes, respectively.

Ernest Steinhart, one of the six election officials in the Fourth Precinct of the Eighteenth Ward who was indicted Monday on election fraud charges, surrendered last night at Police Headquarters and gave bond of $5000.

Steinhart, who lives at 3538 North Twenty-third street, was Republican clerk in the precinct. He and the other officials were charged with making a false canvass and return of votes cast in the August primary and in the election of party committee members, conducted at the same time. Both offenses are felonies, punishable by prison terms of two to five years.

Gustave Lehmann, who was Republican judge in the precinct, is the only one of the six officials who served there who has not yet been arrested. At his home, 2818A Parnell street, police were told that he was out of the city.

Quadruplets in Lithuania. KAUNAS, Lithuania, Oct. 29.—Quadruplets, two boys and two girls, were born yesterday to the wife of a laborer in Marijampole, Southern Lithuania. The same woman in 1934 bore triplets, all of whom died almost immediately after birth.

GREEN'S WIDOW SAYS
SHE HAD 10 AUTOS

Ends Her Case in Will Contest With Testimony on Need for Big Income.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Continuing her fight for a share of the millions left by Col. Edward H. R. Green, his widow, Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green, asserted today that as his wife she had "anything anybody could ask for."

She said the Green estate at Round Hills, Mass., employed 30 servants and asserted there were 10 automobiles at her command there.

She also told how she and her husband lived in a $20,000-a-year apartment in a fashionable New York hotel on frequent visits here.

She testified in support of her claim she is entitled to a part of Col. Green's estate because—she said—she was tricked into signing an ante-nuptial agreement in 1917, under which she waived all rights to his estate.

Under Col. Green's will, dated 1908, the estate goes to his sister, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks.

$18,000 Annuity for Life. The agreement signed by Mrs. Green gave her an $18,000 annuity for the rest of her life, and she contends this is not sufficient for her to live in the manner in which she is accustomed.

She testified that out of the $1500 a month she received under the agreement, she bought all her own clothes and paid the wages of her personal maid. Everything else was paid for by her husband, she said.

Mrs. Green's testimony ended her case before Surrogate Harry E. Owen of Essex County, N. Y., who has transferred the hearings from Port Henry.

On cross-examination yesterday, Mrs. Green repeatedly denied that she knew the provisions of the agreement she signed or that she had been told anything about it by her husband or his lawyers. She said she had not read it at the time she signed it or had even looked at it until after her husband's death.

It was "a complete surprise" to her when she learned she had waived her rights to the estate in exchange for an $18,000 annuity, she testified.

Asked why she had never read the paper, Mrs. Green replied that she trusted her husband and signed it simply because he asked her to. She said she thought the agreement was meant to provide her with "pin money."

Timothy Pfeiffer, counsel for Mrs. Wilks, asked Mrs. Green whether she had not answered a series of questions put to her by her husband's former lawyer, Charles W. Pierson, at the time she signed the ante-nuptial agreement.

DROPS COAL ON FOOT; DIES

Theodore A. Jacobsmeyer, 45-year-old coal dealer, died yesterday at his home, 2169 East College avenue, of embolism resulting from an injury suffered Oct. 20 when a chunk of coal fell on his left foot, smashing a toe.

The accident occurred while Jacobsmeyer was loading his truck. He was treated by a physician, who reported the case to the Coroner.

FATHER-IN-LAW OF STARK FOR BARRETT

Col. Albert T. Perkins Says He Will Vote for Landon Also.

Col. Albert T. Perkins, father-in-law of Lloyd C. Stark, the Democratic nominee for Governor, and former operating head of the street car and bus companies, has informed many of his former employees in those concerns, in a letter, that he would vote for Jesse W. Barrett, the Republican nominee for Governor.

He also said that he would vote for Gov. Landon for President and for the Republican candidate for Congressman. The latter, in the district where Col. Perkins resides, is Harry P. Rosecan.

Honest conduct of elections in Missouri and the future of the American form of government and its financial honesty were at stake, the letter declared. Perkins explained that he sent it because of occasional requests for his political views from old employees.

Associates did not know how many copies of the letter were issued, but understood that they went to the majority of employees of the Public Service Co. and the People's Motor Bus Co., a subsidiary. Perkins is recovering at St. Luke's Hospital from an operation performed last Saturday.

Text of Letter. The text of the letter follows: "Some of my own associates in the United Railways Co. and People's Motorbus Co. used to ask, and some whom I occasionally run across still ask, my views on political situations—believing that I give them careful study and consideration."

"I have at times voted for Democratic and Republican candidates for President and other elective offices as I felt might be best for our country. This year's campaign, I feel, is the most critical one during my 50 years as a voter."

"The future of our American form of government and its financial honesty are at stake in the nation; and the honest conduct of elections in our state is at stake. But above all, with the steadily increasing and crushing burden of taxes, increasing the cost of everything you and I buy, and with the steadily increasing restrictions on our individual freedom, the future safety and welfare of our and my children and grandchildren are at stake."

"This year, therefore, with all my heart I am backing and shall vote for Alfred Landon for President, and the Republican candidates for Governor and Congressmen."

Perkins was general manager for the receiver of the United Railways Co. until it was reorganized as the Public Service Co. and later was president of the People's Motor Bus Co. until it was acquired by the car company. He is a director of several corporations. His home is at 5365 Ellenwood avenue, Clayton. His daughter, Miss Katherine LeMoine Perkins, married Stark Nov. 23, 1931.

Taxicab Driver Fined $100. Careful Cab Co. Employee Accused of Speeding 40 Miles an Hour. Minis Simms, Negro driver for the Careful Cab Co., was fined $100 by Police Judge James Nangle today for speeding 40 miles an hour on Enright avenue, east of Vandeventer avenue, last Oct. 18.

Police Court records showed Simms had been convicted twice before on speeding charges this year and also for operating without a taxicab license.

Tax Official's Mother Dies. By the Associated Press. LOUISIANA, Mo., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Mary K. Murphy, 84 years old, mother of A. J. Murphy, member of the State Tax Commission, died at the home of her son this morning. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning from St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

CONTRACTOR SHOT TO DEATH IN OFFICE

LOUIS TACKSER

WITNESS IN U. S.
PLASTER INQUIRY

urged to tell what had happened, he rejoined, "Yes, and I'll be killed, too," but later he said he would talk if he had the protection of the Government. Subsequently he was interviewed by PWA agents and became a Government witness.

Harry Frank, who lives across the hall from the Tackser apartment in University City, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that Mrs. Tackser had said a week ago that her husband was trying to borrow $1300 or $1400. He quoted her as saying that he and a business associate had borrowed money from a third man, had been unable to pay him and that the lender thought Tackser and his associate "had double-crossed him."

Told of His Worries. Frank added that Tackser often visited him and usually spoke of being worried, especially since return of the Federal indictment. "I've been threatened many times, if I talk," he quoted the contractor as saying.

An investigation of the death of Tackser was begun this afternoon by agents of PWA. In the meantime, United States District Attorney Harry C. Blanton asked for an investigation by Department of Justice agents. His request was forwarded to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation at Washington, for his ruling.

Indicted in the plastering contract case were Peter Anderson, Harry Niehaus, Frank B. Rowan, George F. Robertson Jr., and John Carroll, contractors; Vincent Lee, member of the plasterers' union; Harry Egan, business agent of the lathers' union; William Anderson, business agent of the plasterers' union, and Irving Lee, member of the plasterers' union and brother of Vincent Lee. Vincent Lee was said also to be business agent of the Contracting Plasterers' Association.

It was not shown what became of the alleged plan to throw the job to Tackser, but the indictment said the work had been allotted by agreement to Niehaus and Rowan.

WILFRED JONES ASKS FOR SEPARATE MAIL FRAUD TRIAL

Defense on Federal Charge Will Be Distinct From That of Muench, Lacy Says.

Wilfred Jones, attorney and baby broker in the Muench baby hoax, sought a separate trial of the mail fraud charge against him in which Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, his wife, Nellie Tipton Muench and Mrs. Helen Berroyer are also defendants, when his counsel, Verna Lacy, filed with the Federal Court today a motion requesting the severance on the ground that Jones' defense would be "separate and distinct" from that of the other defendants. Lacy filed notice with the United States Attorney's office that he would be prepared to argue the motion next Monday before Federal Judge George H. Moore.

The motion set out that only one of the witnesses would give evidence relating to Jones; that Dr. Marshall Pitzman, alleged victim of the fraud, had already testified that he had no dealings with Jones; that the other defendants had received unfavorable publicity on matters with which Jones was not concerned; and that counsel for Jones and the others were at variance as to the defense of their respective clients.

Jones asked also for a bill of particulars setting out the evidence the Government intends to offer. The case is set for trial Nov. 16 before Judge Moore.

Plastering Contractors' Association, on Dec. 18, 1934, in the Saddle and Spur Book Shop on Washington avenue and promised him that in consideration of disbanding the association and dropping a complaint he had made to NRA authorities he would be made a member of Tackser's firm.

Previously, it was charged, Rowan, Robertson, Niehaus and Peter Anderson, representing the Contracting Plasterers' Association, had met Hardy and other members of the old association and had urged them to join the new organization in order that agreements could be made with the plasterers' and lathers' unions.

Democrat, Candidate for Re-election, Says Political Dopesters Twist the Facts.

By the Associated Press.

ABILENE, Kan., Oct. 29.—W. T. Markham, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is a Democrat, running for re-election, said in a radio address last night that he had been made an "innocent victim of a vicious political attack" by "dopesters" who would "submerge the real issues."

Referring to quotation of records of his office in recent campaign discussion of Kansas schools, Markham said, "We cannot prevent the political dopesters from acquiring official reports 'and twisting their meaning for political advantage.'"

"He declared data being quoted were compiled in 1933 and 1934 for use in advocating a legislative program to obtain 'equalization of educational opportunity for each boy and girl in Kansas' and in 'our appeals to the Federal Government for temporary aid' for financially distressed rural schools."

"Both Republicans and Democrats alike assisted in the program," he said. "There was no intent to smear Kansas schools or charge a Governor with balancing a budget."

Markham said there were 51 rural schools now in operation without funds at their disposal. He said there were 107 other rural schools with insufficient funds to complete the present school year and 26 town and city school districts in a similar situation. He said 473 other districts "are doing the right thing" by closing and sending their pupils to other schools in accordance with consolidation laws.

"The fact that our schools are supported almost wholly from a local district property tax," he said, "makes it impossible in a large number of districts to maintain an adequate program of education. In each of 126 rural districts the valuation is below $100,000."

"He said it was his hope Kansans 'may realize that the same facts used by the Governor of our State and myself in 1933 and 1935 in our endeavor to secure Federal aid for distressed schools are the same facts that you now hear so much about.'"

WASHINGTON, U. HOMECOMING INCLUDES PARADE DOWNTOWN

Procession Before the Game Saturday; Celebration to Start Tomorrow Night.

The annual homecoming program at Washington University will begin at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow with a rally and dinner in the Lee Hall Commons. Following this there will be the second football game of the year between the freshmen teams of Washington and St. Louis University at 8:15 o'clock and afterward the annual bonfire and rally on the parking lot north of the Field House.

The main event, the football game between Washington and Oklahoma A. & M., will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Before the game there will be a parade of decorated automobiles and floats through the downtown streets.

After the game the Women's Building and the fraternity houses, which will be decorated for the occasion, will be open to visitors. A homecoming dance Saturday night will conclude the program.

LENIENCY PLEA DENIED; YEAR AND $100 FINE IN LIQUOR CASE

"If I Am Indulgent There Will Be Still in Many Homes," Says Judge Davis.

Federal Judge Charles E. Davis today denied a plea for leniency for a liquor violator with the comment, "If I am indulgent in this case there will be still in many homes."

He sentenced the defendant, Charles Barth, to a year and a day in the Federal Reformatory at El Reno, Ok., and fined him $100 fine on his plea of guilty of operating a still in violation of the internal revenue laws.

Barth was arrested last July at 416A Dorcas street by police, who investigated the complaint of another tenant that gas was escaping in the house. The officers reported finding a "jumper" on the gas meter for the second floor, where Barth was tending a still.

Counsel for the defendant said he was a paperhanger, who accepted employment as an alcohol cooker because he was unable to find work at his trade last summer. In passing sentence Judge Davis said: "The internal revenue laws have been in effect many years. Why men of apparent intelligence turn to making liquor illegally is beyond the understanding of this Court."

Others sentenced on pleas of guilty: William J. Imboden, 63 years old, Bismarck, Mo., a year and a day in El Reno Reformatory for possession of untaxed liquor; Rocco Vitale, arrested at 1403 Sarafield place, a year and a day in El Reno, possession of 61 gallons of untaxed liquor; C. S. Blankenship, Belgrade, Mo., possession of one gallon of untaxed liquor, six months in the St. Charles County jail and a $100 fine.

OKLAHOMA U. CLAIMS FIRST ADULTS' VOCATIONAL CLINIC

Director Says It Opened Last March, Whereas Washington U.'s Started Oct. 19.

Oklahoma University has challenged Washington University's claim to the first vocational guidance clinic designed for adults who have all types of vocational problems. In a letter to the Post-Dispatch, Clayton Gerken, director of the Oklahoma clinic, said his was opened last March, whereas the St. Louis institution opened Oct. 19.

The clinic at Oklahoma University has met with such success that it has been expanded to include mental hygiene guidance. Anyone in the State may apply for examination at a fixed charge of $1, which covers the cost of equipment.

LEAGUE BACKS G. O. P. TICKET

German-Hungarian Organization Against Pendergastism.

The German-Hungarian-American Independent Voters' League has endorsed the entire Republican ticket, its president, Peter Blasie, informed the Republican City Committee today.

"The reason for our stand is that we do not believe in Pendergastism," Blasie wrote the committee. "We are asking every member of our league to vote the straight Republican ticket."

SUIT SAYS TREASURY AND WPA GAVE OUT FALSE INFORMATION

New Jersey Republicans File Reply
In Action to Make Records Public.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The Treasury and Works Progress Administration are charged with giving out false information about the operation and expenditures of the WPA in a statement filed in Federal District Court today by New Jersey Republicans.

In a "traverse" filed in reply to statements by Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, the Republicans, who are seeking access to WPA records, said that regardless of whether the reports "are incorrect and misleading or not, petitioners are entitled to access to such information as will permit them to check such reports and statements."

The New Jersey group, led by former Ambassador Walter Edge, is seeking a court order to compel Hopkins to make public the records, including the payroll, on which administrative statements have been based.

In their plea they said "the real issue in this case is whether the public has the right to access to the sources upon which reports and statements of a division of the Government are based," or whether the public must "rest content with whatever statements and reports are made by those who have control of the sources of information."

The Republicans called "frivolous and sham" a statement by Hopkins that the payroll and other information might be used for political solicitation or coercion if he made it public.

BANK UPHELD IN CLAIM FOR PARAMOUNT SECURITIES

Court Bars Use of Stock and Debentures to Retire Missouri Theater Bonds.

Preferred stock and debentures of Paramount Pictures, Inc., which voting trustees of the reorganized Missouri Theater Building Corporation received in settlement of a claim against the Paramount-Public Corporation for back rent, may not be used to retire Missouri Theater bonds under the plan proposed by the voting trustees, Federal Judge Charles B. Davis ruled yesterday.

The voting trustees had offered to exchange one share of the stock and one debenture for each $300, par value, of the income mortgage bonds which the church in his dioc-es' original bonds received in the reorganization.

Judge Davis upheld the contention of Boatmen's National Bank, trustee under the $2,000,000 income mortgage bond issue, that the Paramount stock and debentures represented part of the assets mortgaged under the old bond issue and should be turned over to the bank as trustee for the holders of the new bonds.
The Paramount preferred stock given in settlement of the rent claim has a par value of $110,000, and the debentures, also, have a par value of $110,000.

CONTINENTAL POLICYHOLDERS' SUIT THROWN OUT BY COURT

U. S. District Judge Davis Holds
He Has No Jurisdiction In Action.

A motion to quash the suit of 64 policyholders of the Continental Life Insurance Co. against the Kansas City Life Insurance Co. and State Superintendent of Insurance, R. Emmet O'Malley, was sustained yesterday by United States District Judge Charles B. Davis on the ground that the Federal Court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Judge Davis held that the Continental Life Insurance Co., whose business has been re-insured by the Kansas City Life Insurance Co., no longer had any existence and that O'Malley, as a State official acting under orders of the Circuit Court, was not subject to the juisdiction of the Federal Court.

The policyholders had asked for an injunction restraining the Kansas City Life Insurance Co. from taking over the Continental Life business, and for reorganization of the Continental Life Insurance Co.
under orders of the Federal Court.

OF CHRIST CHURCH

Services at Cathedral Sunday
—First Episcopal Edifice
West of Mississippi.

The 117th anniversary of the founding of Christ Church, the first Episcopal church west of the Mississippi River, will be observed Sunday at services at Christ Church Cathedral.

Dean Sweet's sermon at the 11 o'clock morning service will deal partly with the significance of the occasion. Women of the cathedral will present their united thanks offering. The 8 a. m. communion service will include a corporate communion for the National Council of the Girls' Friendly Society. Bishop Scarlett will be the celebrant.

Christ Church parish, centered
now about the cathedral and Bishop Tuttle Memorial at Thirteenth and Locust streets, was organized in 1819 when St. Louis was a fur trading town. The first service of the Protestant Episcopal church ever held west of the river was conducted on Oct. 24, 1819, by the Rev. John Ward of Lexington, Ky., at the invitation of Thomas Fivesash Riddick, a merchant who came here from Virginia. The parish subsequently was organized on All Saints day—which is Sunday—of that year in Riddick's store on Main street between Walnut and Elm streets.

Some of the Founders.
The Rev. Mr. Ward was chosen as rector and signatures to the initial documents incident to the formation of the parish and preserved today in the cathedral include those of William Clark, Governor of Missouri Territory; Alexander McNair, who became the first Governor of Missouri; Thomas H. Benton, the first Senator from this State, and William Carr Lane, the first Mayor of St. Louis.

For several years the Episcopals worshiped in a Methodist meeting house, but in 1827 built their own church, on the northwest corner of Third and Chestnut streets, on a site occupied by the Merchants' Exchange. Although it seated but 250 persons, it was ample for the needs of the congregation, since the city's population at that time was less than 5000. A young Michigan lawyer who visited St. Louis in 1936 mentioned the church in his diary.
In less than 20 years he entered the ministry and became rector of the church. He was the Rev. Montgomery Schuyler, rector of Christ Church for 42 years.

During the time of the Rt. Rev.
Jackson Kemper, first missionary bishop to the Northwest, the church grew to such an extent that a larger building was erected in 1839 on the southwest corner of Broadway and Chestnut street.

First Bishop.
Bishop Kemper, who had traveled by horseback establishing churches throughout three states, declined the post of first Bishop of the diocese he organized and it was assumed by the Rev. Cleo S. Hawks.

The Rev. Mr. Schuyler became rector in 1854 and five years later the site of the present structure was purchased. It fronted what was then Missouri Park, now the Public Library, and one of the wardens resigned as a protest against moving "so far west."
Work on the edifice was interrupted by the Civil War, but it was completed two years afterward. Under the next Bishop, the Rt. Rev.
Charles Franklin Robertson, the parish building debt was paid and after his death, when he was succeeded by Bishop Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, who had been Missionary Bishop of Montana, the church was made the cathedral church of the diocese of Missouri.

Socialist-Labor Speech Sunday.

William W. Cox, Socialist-Labor party candidate for Governor, will make the closing speech of his campaign at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Sokol Hall, 1439 Chouteau avenue. His speech will be on "The Ballot Box, Social and Civilized Method of Settling Governmental Affairs."

SOMETHING ABOUT CANDIDATES OF MINOR PARTIES

Six Party Captions on Ballot in Addition to Those of Democrats and Republicans.

LEMKE BACKERS FAVOR BARRETT

Union, Socialist, Socialist-Labor, Prohibition, Communist and Non-Partisan Nominees.

THE Post-Dispatch today presents information about the State tickets of the parties, other than the Democratic and Republican, which will appear on the Missouri ballot in the election next Tuesday. Facts regarding the Democratic and Republican tickets have been presented previously.

EIGHT party captions will appear at the heads of as many columns on the Missouri ballot. These are, in order from left to right, Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Socialist-Labor, Prohibition, Communist, Union and Non-Partisan. All except the last named have presidential and vice-presidential nominees. Six have nominees for the office of Governor, these being all except the Prohibition and Union parties.

Straw votes have indicated that the national ticket of the Union party, headed by William Lemke for President, will run ahead of the other minor parties in Missouri. The Union party, however, has no State, congressional or local ticket, and no names but those of Lemke and Thomas C. O'Brien, vice-presidential candidate, will appear on its ticket. The Missouri leaders of the Union party have endorsed Jesse W. Barrett, Republican candidate for Governor, but his name will not appear on the Union ticket.

The Prohibition party also has no State, congressional or local ticket. The Communist party's State ticket of five candidates is headed by Frank A. Williams of 3782 Evans avenue, St. Louis, for Governor. He is an unemployed painter and paper hanger, 38 years old. He joined the Communist party last year, having been in the Socialist party previously.

The objective of the Communist party's campaign in this State, Williams said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, is to instruct the public toward formation of a Farmer-Labor party, while retaining the Communist aim of revolutionary change in the social order. Other candidates on the State ticket are: For Lieutenant-Governor, Vanderbilt Belmont of St. Louis; Secretary of State, John Day, Joplin; Auditor, Jesse Alsop, Kansas City; and State Treasurer, Mary Lewis, St. Louis.

Non-Partisan List. Otto C. Botz of Jefferson City is candidate for Governor on the Non-Partisan ticket. His candidacy was personally promoted, and does not represent any party or political organization. He formerly conducted a newspaper and printing establishment in Sedalia, and for 12 years had a contract for State printing. His platform is business administration and elimination of waste; tax reduction, and removal of the tax on 3.5 per cent beer.

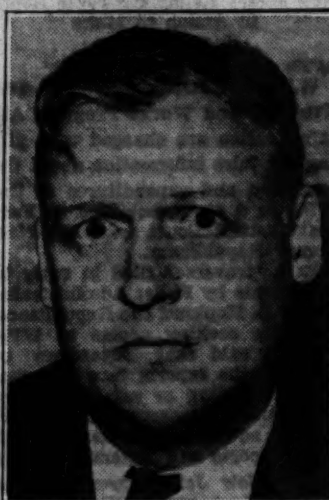

The names of the six candidates for circuit judgeships, one candidate for Circuit Attorney and one for the judgeship of the Court of Criminal Correction, endorsed by the St. Louis Bar Association, appear in the column headed "Non-Partisan Ticket," but their candidacies have no relation to that of Botz. The Bar Association's eight candidates appear also on the major party tickets, five on the Republican ticket and three on the Democratic ticket. Facts regarding this ticket have been published.

George Kovacs, a structural engineer, of 5014 Winona avenue, its candidates for Congress are: Eleventh District, Paul W. Priebe; Thirteenth District, Samuel Hill; Thirteenth District, David P. Holden.

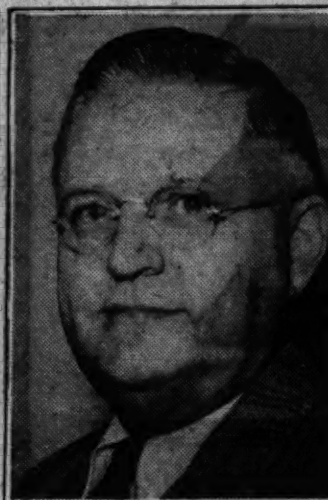

The Socialist Labor party, which nominated John W. Aiken of Boston for President, has as its candidate for Governor William W. Cox, a decorator, of 4178 Flad avenue, St. Louis. He is 72 years old, and in 1920 was candidate of the Socialist-Labor party for President. With him on the ticket are these candidates: Lieutenant-Governor, Karl Oberheuser, Secretary of State, Peter Tendler, State Auditor, James Wagoner, State Treasurer, Theodore Bauff, Attorney-General, Theodore Vassily, Congress, Eleventh District, James Anastasio; Twelfth District, Henry W. Gönck; and Thirteenth District, Norman Kochendorfer.

The Communist party's State ticket of five candidates is headed by Frank A. Williams of 3782 Evans avenue, St. Louis, for Governor. He is an unemployed painter and paper hanger, 38 years old. He joined the Communist party last year, having been in the Socialist party previously.

'PENDERGASTISM' JUST A MYTH, SAYS STARK

Boss-Indorsed Nominee Speaks at Luncheon of Democratic Women's Clubs.

Maj. Lloyd C. Stark, Democratic nominee for Governor, referred to "the hobgoblin of Pendergastism" as "merely a Republican Hallucinosis myth," in discussing his indorsement by the Kansas City boss at a luncheon of Democratic women's clubs at Hotel Jefferson today, where he and Mrs. Stark were guests.

"I want to emphasize to you friends here, as I have to other audiences throughout the State," he said, "that if elected Governor Tuesday—and it is practically a foregone conclusion that I will be—I shall go into office without having made a promise to any individual, group or organization, other than to give each and every one a fair deal. I have not even told my personal secretary whether she is to have a job at Jefferson City and she is as much in the dark about it as anybody."

"Republican Propaganda." "What brought about my nomination for Governor? The opposition has claimed the Kansas City organization did it and their chief stock in trade has been the charge that I am the 'Pendergast' candidate. That is just Republican propaganda and no sensible person will pay any attention to it. It is true that I have the support of the Kansas City organization of which Mr. Pendergast is the head. So has the Democratic State ticket."

"The fact of the matter is, my nomination was brought about by a movement which started in the rural districts."

Stark quoted from newspaper editorials, one of which referred to Boss Pendergast's "acumen" in declaring for Stark "against whom charges of Pendergast control are least likely to be made and can be most successfully denied." It described Boss Pendergast as "climbing on the bandwagon rather than leading it."

"Fair Deal" for St. Louis. Concluding the reading of editorial comment, referring to his graduation from Annapolis with honors, his record as a soldier and his business experience as head of the Stark Nursery at Louisiana, established by his great-grandfather 120 years ago, the speaker continued:

"I do not quote these words in a self-laudatory spirit, but only to remind you what the newspapers all over the State were saying in Oct. 1935. I am the same Lloyd C. Stark I was at that time and I say to you again that, if elected, I shall be your Governor in fact as well as in name."

St. Louis will get a fair deal from me and you will get a fair deal from me, Stark asserted, "because we are to have a Democratic President, the interests of Missouri demand that we have a Democratic Governor."

Stark said modern problems required co-operation between the national and State governments which would not be possible if Missouri got "out-of-step with Washington" by electing a Republican Governor.

"In this whole campaign, no one has raised a question as to the character, capacity or fitness of Maj. Lloyd C. Stark," Hay asserted. He mentioned Stark's Republican opponent, Jesse W. Barrett, by first name only when he continued with this statement:

"His opponent has never attacked Maj. Stark. The most he has been able to do is to attack some of his supporters. He complains that the Pendergast machine is supporting him. Well, the Koeln-Foristel machine supported Jesse for Attorney-General, but that didn't keep him from making a good one. Neither will the Pendergast support keep Maj. Stark from making a good Governor."

Court Dinner by King Edward. LONDON, Oct. 28.—Only men have been invited to the first formal dinner to be given tomorrow night by King Edward since the end of court mourning for George V. The dinner will honor Carlos Saavedra Lamas, the Argentine Foreign Minister. The function will be held in the white and gold state dining-room of Buckingham Palace and the palace's gold plate will be used for the first time in King Edward's reign.

ADVERTISING. Freed in Wife-Killing Charge. By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Judge Otto R. Helligman directed a jury to return a verdict of acquittal yesterday in the trial of William Bambrick, charged with the killing of his wife last July. A physician testified Mrs. Bambrick told him before she died that her husband had thrown turpentine on her after a quarrel, and that a cigarette she was smoking ignited her dress. Assistant District Attorney Earl Gratz, after calling several witnesses, told the jury the death was accidental.

Killed in Mexican Labor Fight. By the Associated Press. ATLIXCO, Mexico, Oct. 28.—Murdered by machetes, the body of another victim in the feud between labor factions was found near Nealtican today. He was the second worker killed in this industrial zone in two days. Jose Ines Huerta, leader of the opposite faction, was killed in gunner-like fashion yesterday, when a band of armed men cut him down with sub-machine gun slugs.

CHARLES M. HAY SPEAKS FOR STARK AT MEXICO, MO. Says Pendergast Support Won't Keep Him From Being Good Governor. By the Associated Press. MEXICO, Mo., Oct. 28.—Declaring the election of President Roosevelt seems assured, Special Assistant United States Attorney General Charles M. Hay of St. Louis said last night, "since we are to have a Democratic President, the interests of Missouri demand that we have a Democratic Governor."

CARDINAL PACELLI TO REACH CITY TONIGHT

Will Arrive by Plane and Spend Night at Home of Archbishop.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state and highest Vatican officer ever to visit the United States, will arrive in St. Louis tonight for a short stay on his five-day tour of the country by chartered airplane.

His plane is scheduled to arrive at Lambert-St. Louis field at about 7 p. m. He will be met by Archbishop Glennon and will be taken directly to the archbishop's residence at 4510 Lindell boulevard and spend the night there.

Will Celebrate Mass. His only public appearance will be made at 8 a. m. tomorrow when he will celebrate low mass at the St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue, and then will talk briefly. Plans are for the Knights of Columbus to have a short service at 10:30 a. m. for the Cardinals will pass, with cardinals from Christian Brothers College continuing the lane within the cathedral from the entrance to the altar.

At 10:30 a. m. he will visit Kenrick Seminary at Webster Groves and meet the faculty and students and bishops and priests of the archdiocese. It is then probable that he will visit St. Mary's Hospital, Richmond Heights. After luncheon at the archbishop's residence, he and his party will leave in the airplane at 1:30 p. m. for Cincinnati, where he will stop overnight. He will return to New York Saturday.

Visited Los Angeles. The Cardinal is flying from Los Angeles, where he stopped off after visiting San Francisco. Other cities included in the tour have been South Bend, Ind., home of Notre Dame University, Chicago and St. Paul. It has been announced that the papal official is taking a vacation. On his arrival in New York from Rome he declined to be interviewed by reporters who wanted to know if he had been sent to curb the political activities of the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest.

Members of Cardinal Pacelli's party are Count Enrico Galeazzo, his gentleman in waiting; East Harris, vice president of the United Air Lines; the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman of Boston, Archbishop John G. Murray of St. Paul, Carroll Cavanaugh, nephew of Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady of New York, papal counsellor who was the Cardinal's hostess in New York, and John C. Kelly, attorney for Mrs. Brady.

Col. R. I. McKenney Dies. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The War Department announces the death yesterday of Col. Richard I. McKenney of the Coast Artillery Corps, at Walter Reed General Hospital here.

CLARK SPEAKS IN SUPPORT OF WILD LIFE PROPOSAL

Senator Says There Is Urgent Need for Progressive System for Conservation.

United States Senator Bennett C. Clark spoke at Clayton High School last night in support of the proposal for a State Conservation Commission.

As senior member of the Senate Committee on Conservation of Wild Life, Clark said he had had occasion to observe the conservation situation and had concluded there was urgent necessity for general adoption of "progressive and scientific" systems for preservation of wild life resources, already in effect in several states.

In those states, he said, game and fish had multiplied, increasing development of recreational facilities had taken place and, in general, residents of the states had benefited financially. It was no reflection on any particular administration of the Missouri Game and Fish Department, he added, to say that under the present Missouri system natural resources of wild life had been dissipated.

He suffered a skull injury and a broken jaw. The accident occurred in the 3900 block of Clayton avenue as Tullock was on his way to Hadley Vocational School, where he is a student, from his home, 4565 Chouteau avenue. He was taken to City Hospital.

WOMAN KILLED IN PLUNGE FROM 18TH FLOOR OF HOTEL. Thought to Be Estranged Wife of Milwaukee Druggist, Had Suffered Nervous Breakdown, Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—A woman, 27 years old, estranged wife of a Milwaukee druggist, was killed in a plunge from the eighteenth floor of the La Salle Hotel today. Her body was found in an alley of the hotel about 2 a. m. Her coat, hat and purse were found on a fire escape landing at the eighteenth floor.

Milwaukee relatives said she suffered a nervous breakdown following an estrangement from her husband, Edgar, and had twice been in a sanitarium in Milwaukee. Friends had searched for her following her disappearance yesterday from the home of relatives in Allegan, Mich.

Roosevelt's Wilkes-Barre Speech On Social Security Act and Pay Envelope Campaign of 'Sabotage'

"No Employer Has Right to Put Political Preference in Pay Envelope—That Is Coercion Even if He Tells Truth."

By the Associated Press.
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 29.—

Following is the text of President Roosevelt's address here today:

When I found that I was to speak in Harrisburg today, and realized that it is John Mitchell day, I determined to come by way of Wilkes-Barre. I wanted to pay my tribute to him.

In 1913 I was Assistant Secretary of the Navy. I was asked to examine charges of collusion in coal bids for the Navy. I needed help from someone whose integrity and knowledge I could trust. I recalled then how impressed Theodore Roosevelt had been with John Mitchell's handling of the great coal strike of 1902. I asked John Mitchell to help me. In three days he taught me a great deal about coal and mining. What he taught me saved the United States Navy many hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in its coal bill.

You in this anthracite region and miners in every other coal field in the United States, have a fuller picture of this man who was one of the most significant figures in American labor history. For years he went about the unspectacular but necessary job of clearing the ground for the progress of a great labor movement. He taught a dispersed industry how to organize. He taught both management and labor that the only basis for stability is to be found in contracts that can and will be lived up to by both management and labor.

"Gains of Labor Gains of All." By victory in the first great battle of the mine workers he broke the tradition of defeat which had always hung over the aspirations of those he led. He convinced the public that the gains of labor were the gains of all—that the labor movement was something to be welcomed rather than feared. He made public opinion a judge to which labor could more confidently appeal. His work was necessary before other men could do theirs.

We now build upon the work of John Mitchell. He pioneered in his day for collective bargaining. Today we have put upon the Federal statute books the legal mechanism to make collective bargaining a reality. He pioneered in his day for the education of the public. Today we aim to make the public conscious that the welfare of labor is the welfare of all.

Carrying forward his work and that of others like him, we have begun to build a system of old-age pensions and unemployment insurance to substitute for uncertainty a new security in the life of the wage-earner and his family.

"Misrepresentation, Coercion." How far we have come is shown by which labor and the public alike are meeting the latest attempts of a handful of employers to mislead and coerce labor with regard to the Social Security Act. Here is repetition of the arrogance and the ruthlessness which the operators utilized to try to break the solid ranks of labor when the miners fought at Armageddon in 1902.

No employer has a right to put his political preferences in the pay envelope. That is coercion even if he tells the whole truth.

But this propaganda misrepresents by telling only half the truth. Labor and a fair-minded public must place such tactics in a class with the coercion of the strong-arm squad and the whispering of the planted labor spy.

This pay-envelope propaganda has one clear objective—to sabotage the Social Security Act. To sabotage that act is to sabotage labor. For that act, as you know, was worked out with labor and enacted with the active support of labor—all kinds of labor.

Why do these employers seek to repeal the Social Security Act? Because under the act they have to pay far more than half of the insurance given to the workers.

What the Act Provides. Get the facts straight. The act provides for two kinds of insurance for the worker. For that insurance both the employer and the worker pay premiums—just as you pay premiums on any other insurance policy. Those premiums are collected in the form of the taxes you hear so much about.

The first kind of insurance covers old age. Here the employer contributes one dollar of premium for every dollar of premium contributed by the worker; but both dollars are held by the Government solely for the benefit of the worker in his old age.

In effect, we have set up a savings account for the old age of the worker. Because the employer is called upon to contribute on a 50-50 basis, that savings account gives exactly two dollars of security for every dollar put up by the worker. Unemployment Insurance.

The second kind of insurance is unemployment insurance—to help the worker and his family over the difficult days when he loses his job. For the unemployment security of the worker, the employer under the Federal law puts up ten cents of premium—two dollars. The benefits of this insurance go 100 per cent to the worker—none to the employer. But the premiums for this unemployment insurance, so far as the Federal Government is concerned, are paid 100 per cent by the employer.

Now let's add it all up. Beginning Jan. 1, for every one dollar which the worker is asked to put into an old age account for himself, employers are required under the Federal act to contribute three dollars to protect the worker from both unemployment and old age. That is, the worker contributes only one dollar to his old age security; he contributes nothing to his security against losing his job. But at the same time the employer has to put up two dollars for unemployment and one dollar for old age.

Three for one! There's the rub. That is what these propaganda-spreading employers object to. The record extending back several years shows that their purpose has always been to compel the worker alone to put up all the premiums both for their unemployment insurance and their old age insurance. They are now trying to frighten the worker about the worker's one dollar premium, so that they won't have to pay their three dollar premium.

"Contemptible Propaganda." These propagandaists are driven in their desperation to the contemptible, unpatriotic suggestion that some future Congress will steal these insurance funds for other purposes. If they really believe they have no confidence in our form of Government or its permanence, it might be well for them to move to some other nation in which they have greater faith.

I know that American workers made wise as well as strong by the achievements of John Mitchell and his successors will not be fooled by this campaign any more than they were frightened by the strong-arm squad of the past.

John Mitchell taught labor that to win and to preserve the fruits of its victories, it must have a cool head as well as a warm heart. I know labor will refuse to be robbed of its gains—that the progress begun by its friends will be safeguarded and carried forward, until the fuller security that is its right is won.

PRESIDENT'S TEXT AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.—The text of President Roosevelt's speech here today follows:

Pennsylvania is at once a great industrial state, a great commercial state, a great mining state, and a great agricultural state.

The Pennsylvania farmer—unlike the farmer in the West—can see his own city market within a few hours' drive. And the Pennsylvania industrial worker and merchant know how important to their prosperity is the prosperity of their neighbors, the farmers.

Pennsylvania rightly calls itself the Keystone State. Great tides of immigration have swept over it. Great routes of commerce have crossed it from the very beginning—famous wagon-roads and railroads and water routes from the East to the West and the North to the South and back again.

Pennsylvania knows that American commerce transcends state lines and becomes interstate and international. Men and Machines.

But because Pennsylvania has these great problems of commerce and of industry it has, also, great human problems. The machine age has served well the men and women who use its excellent products. The new problem is to see to it that the machine age serves equally well the men and women who run its machines.

This is a problem not for Pennsylvania alone—not even for industry alone. It is a problem for the nation—and for all kinds of enterprise within the nation. If modern government is to justify itself, it must see to it that human values are not menaced and destroyed.

You and I know that that is sound morality and good religion. You and I know that it is also good business. The simple fact of our dependence upon each other was either unknown or entirely ignored by the Republican leaders of the post-war period. Their doctrine was to give definite help to the top and to utter pious hopes for the bottom. Twelve years of that brought the inevitable crash.

Republican 'Hereay.' When in 1933 we came to Washington it was our belief that faith without works is dead. We acted—not for a few of us but for all of us. That program worked.

But the Republican leadership is still the same. It still preaches the same herey—class against class and region against region. You do not need me to tell you this. They say it themselves, loudly, in their market-basket campaign. In the cities they make promises which they are careful to hide from the farmers. In the rural districts they make promises which they are careful to hide from the city dwellers. In the cities they promise to reduce food prices for the woman who carries the market-basket. In the country they promise to raise food prices for the man who grows the contents of that market-basket on the farm.

That is a nice fairy story. But you and I know that you can't eat your cake in the city and have your cake on the farm. You and I know that after 12 years of that policy there wasn't any cake and there wasn't any bread. The American people are through with that kind of emptiness.

Higher Farm Prices. The prices of farm products have risen since 1932. It's a good thing for all of us that they have risen. We set out deliberately to raise them. It was their rise that helped to start all of us on the road to recovery again. Every home in America has benefited by that.

The prices the farmer was receiving in 1932 were so low that he had no cash income to buy industrial goods made in the cities. That threw people out of work in the cities. Today the farm's products bring more to the farmer. Here in Pennsylvania cash income from farm production was 47 per cent higher in 1935 than in 1932. That is typical of what has happened to farmers throughout the East and throughout the nation.

The farmer is able to buy more from the city. That means more people are at work in the cities, have cash to turn around, that the city dwellers buy more farm produce.

That is why the consumer's pocketbook has filled up faster than the price of food has gone up. The housewife pays more money for what she buys, but she has more money left over after she has bought. Nation-wide facts and figures prove this. Let us take a look at these figures.

Payrolls and Food. From 1929 to 1932 food prices dropped 35 per cent, but understand this: Factory payrolls in the same period went down 68 per cent. That made a large hole in the workers' market basket.

The average city family paid less for what it bought. But that family had still less with which to buy. Some retail food prices have risen higher than others. Other food prices have advanced very little. To be fair you have to strike an average. The average advance of food costs since 1932 is 24 per cent—a quarter more than they were four years ago.

But compare that—again using average figures for the country—with the factory payrolls. These have gone up only 24 per cent but 77 per cent. And if you take the average of all city dwellers, their incomes have gone up faster and farther than food prices have gone up. To sum up—the Republican market basket of 1932 cost less but the American consumer did not have the cash to fill it. Our market basket in 1936 has much in it because people have money in their pockets to fill it with.

Unsound Monopolies. It is true that there is often too wide a spread between what the farmer gets and what the consumer pays. For that neither the farmer nor the consumer is responsible, and both the farmer and the consumer suffer.

We are engaged in solving that difficulty. First, we are vigilant and on guard against monopolies which are contrary to sound public policy even though they are not actually illegal. Second, we are seeking new means to eliminate waste and unnecessary duplication in distribution for the benefit of both producer and consumer.

Through 12 years the Republicans proved that sectionalism will not work. We have proved in three and a half years that interdependence does work.

Giving the farmer of Dauphin or Lancaster County a good break has given a good break to the steel worker of Pittsburgh, the coal miner of Scranton, the white collar or factory worker of Philadelphia. And giving California, Minnesota and Texas a good break gives a good break to Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey.

Our has been a program of one for all and all for one. That doctrine has given us recovery. Continuing that practice will continue recovery.

From Fall to Basket. You all remember that good old Republican slogan that was trotted out and polished up for every political campaign—the slogan of "The Full Dinner Pail." And we know that the Republican leaders themselves were responsible for its sad end. The full dinner pail turned out to be the empty market basket.

I know that the American people will not return to power those leaders who emptied the national market basket. I know that the American people will go forward with those who are succeeding in filling it once more.

VIVIANOS' TAX EVASION TRIAL PUT OFF TILL JAN. 18

Judge Acts on Information Federal Revenue Commissioner Is Considering Compromise.

Trial of Federal income tax evasion charges against Vito, Gaetano and Salvatore Viviano, wealthy brothers engaged in the macaroni business, and Serafino d'Allesandro, formerly an officer of their company, was continued by Federal Judge Charles E. Davis today until Jan. 18, after he had been informed that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington is considering offers to compromise the tax claims submitted by the defendants.

The Government charged that the three brothers, the V. Viviano & Bros. Manufacturing Co., Inc., and the estate of a deceased brother, Pietro, should have paid income taxes totaling $24,096 in 1929 but paid only $170. The charge against d'Allesandro was based on assistance he was alleged to have given in preparing the returns of Gaetano Viviano, the macaroni company, and the Pietro Viviano estate.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has the power to compromise both civil and criminal liability in income tax evasion cases.

CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST WHITE HOUSE DEMONSTRATOR

Cases Against Two Other Leaders of Workers' Alliance Are Continued.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—After three hours of testimony in District of Columbia Traffic Court yesterday, Judge P. McMahon dismissed charges against one of three leaders arrested Saturday during a Workers' Alliance demonstration near the White House and continued the cases of the other two. The cases of David Lasser, president of the Workers' Alliance of America, and Herbert Benjamin, organization secretary, charged with parading without a permit, were continued until Nov. 7. A disorderly conduct charge against John J. Kelly, organizer for the Alliance in Lackawanna County Pa., was dismissed.

Defense Counsel Frederick A. Ballard contended the procession of 40 delegates of the Alliance, an organization of unemployed and WPA workers, was not a parade.

"It was," he said, "a peaceable assemblage, under rights guaranteed by the first amendment to the United States Constitution to present a petition for the redress of grievances."

SHIPPING STRIKE CALL PUT OFF TILL TONIGHT

Negotiations Between Pacific Coast Unions and Ship Companies Progressing.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 29.—Negotiations unexpectedly resumed between seagoing unions and one of three groups of steamship companies extended through the night and resulted in such success that the walkout set for last midnight was postponed until midnight tonight by a joint negotiating committee of the maritime federation of the Pacific.

"Negotiations are progressing favorably," the committee said in informing all district councils of the extension. "Unless by 9 p. m. no satisfactory arrangement is reached the strike will take effect at midnight."

Federal Conciliator E. H. Fitzgerald predicted: "Probably there will not be any strike at all."

After the coast committee's announcement the Shipowners Association, representing 32 companies operating coastwise freighters, reached tentative agreement with the Sailors' Union of the Pacific and the Marine Firemen. Indications were an agreement was reached early today with the Marine Cooks and Stewards. Agreements remained to be reached with the Marine Engineers, American Radio Telegraphists' Association and the Masters, Mates and Pilots. All unions, including 37,000 workers, insist agreements be reached with other member unions of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific before they will sign. Leftwing seamen at New York also postponed for 24 hours a strike called in support of the western group.

OHIO COURT ASKED TO CITE

FR. COUGHLIN FOR CONTEMPT

Attorney for Plaintiff in Accounting Suit Says Police Seized Subpoena Server.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29.—Benjamin F. Sacharow, counsel for J. H. O'Donnell of Pittsburgh, Pa., filed a motion in Common Pleas Court today asking for a contempt citation against the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, head of the National Union for Social Justice. Sacharow maintained Father Coughlin was in contempt through failure to appear at his office earlier in the day for a deposition hearing in connection with an ouster and accounting suit filed against the priest and the Ohio National Union for Social Justice by O'Donnell here Monday.

The lawyer's motion said a deputy sheriff made personal service of a subpoena relating to the hearing on Father Coughlin on his arrival Monday to address a Cleveland rally. The deputy, Walter Kiewell, was seized by police assigned to the priest after attempting to run between Father Coughlin and his guard. "Here are some papers for you, Father," Kiewell called, thrusting the subpoena at the priest. The officers thrust Kiewell against a wall and subsequently took him into custody. He was later released.

ST. LOUIS CAR CO. BOND SUIT TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Holders Who Refused to Agree to Extend Maturity Seek Interest Payments.

Suit of holders of $8000 in bonds of the St. Louis Car Co., to enforce payment of interest, which they alleged was denied them because they had not agreed to a 10-year extension of maturity, was taken under advisement today by Circuit Judge Granville Hogan.

The petitioners, O. H. William and Henry Stroh, and O. H. Stroh as trustee for Walter Graham Jr., also had asked for a temporary receiver to take charge of property subject to the mortgage securing the entire bond issue of $1,185,600. They sought a restraining order to prevent interest payment to the bondholders who had agreed to the extension.

Edwin B. Meissner, president of the car company, testified the petitioners were not entitled to interest since they did not have interest coupons under the extension agreement. Since the agreement was reached in 1933, he said, the company had increased its profits and the number of employees. The bonds originally were due last year. Property subject to the mortgage includes the company's plant at 8000 North Broadway.

CHARLES A. KALBFELL FUNERAL

Funeral services for Charles A. Kalbfell, who died Monday at Barnes Hospital of arthritis of the spine, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Math Hermann Mortuary, 2161 East Fair avenue, with burial in the Friedens Evangelical Cemetery.

Mr. Kalbfell, 68 years old, for the last 20 years had owned and operated the Pauline Theater and prior to that had been a building contractor. He resided at 4415 Clarence avenue. A brother and three sons survive.

Blum Vindicated in Tax Suit.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 29.—The courts dismissed yesterday a suit by the Taxpayers' Federation against Premier Leon Blum, charging he defrauded the public by pressing sale of Government bonds knowing that secret devaluation negotiations were being conducted. The courts declared the Premier acted in his official rather than personal capacity and that Parliament ratified his actions.

IT'S TRUE, SAYS MRS. JOHNSON UNDER OATH

Mrs. Johnson is sworn by Notary Public Doyle New Fine-Fabric Suds Makes Garments "Younger"

Mrs. B. E. Johnson is just one of dozens of women who have recently testified to the seemingly magic properties of a new suds called Dreet.

Dreet makes fine things look "younger." Soap-dipped silk prints get brighter, woollen fluffier, silk stockings lose their "cottony" look and get shades richer, when washed in this new suds.

Here's part of Mrs. Johnson's testimony: "I had an old silk print dress that I'd washed time and time again in soap flakes and that looked old and faded. I washed it in this new kind of suds and to my amazement, it got shades brighter, looked all good and new again."

Ask your dealer for Dreet. He has it.

E. K. LOVE IN PLEA FOR AMENDMENT ON CONSERVATION

Missouri Restoration Federation Officer Says New Plan Would Mean No Tax Increase.

'THE MORE GAME THE MORE REVENUE'

He Asserts No New Park Appropriation Would Be Needed, as Contended by Opponents.

In urging passage at the polls next Tuesday of Proposition No. 4 for a bi-partisan Conservation Commission to serve without salary, Edward K. Love, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Missouri Restoration and Conservation Federation, took issue with opponents of the proposal, who have suggested its adoption would increase taxes.

The proposal would create a commission of four members, with knowledge of wild life resources and interest in them, who would be appointed by the Governor to serve without salary in the regulation and conservation of forests, game, birds and fish. Eventually their term of office would be six years and not more than two could be members of the Governor's political party. The commissioners would appoint a director, who in turn would appoint assistants and employees approved by the commission.

Love declared the opposition was incorrect in asserting that if the amendment were adopted about $300,000 would have to be appropriated biennially out of general revenue of the State for the State park fund. The law requiring that 25 per cent of the revenue from game and fish licenses be placed in the park fund would not be changed by the amendment, he said, adding that the 25 per cent last year totaled $66,116.

Error in Game News, He Says. Love pointed out that E. Sydney Stephens, president of the federation, reported recently that records of the State Game and Fish Department showed the amount was $66,000 for a year and not $150,000 as asserted in the department's Game and Fish News.

Of the $236,331 received during the year from hunting and fishing licenses, $150,804 went for administrative purposes under the present system and only $150 for purchase and propagation of game, Love said. Of the remainder, he said, $66,000 went to the park fund and $31,000 for placing 2,000,000 fish fingerlings in Missouri streams.

Adoption of the amendment would enable substantial savings in administration, which would increase the amount available for restoration of wild life resources, Love continued, adding, "The more game, the more revenue from licenses."

Declaring adoption of the proposal would take the administration of wild life resources out of politics, Love said it would not only prove a great boon to sportsmen but to the general public as well—to campers, hikers, picnickers and all nature lovers.

Moreover, he said, the return in abundance of game, songbirds and wild flowers to forests and of fish to streams would result inevitably in distinct economic gain to merchants and others catering to the needs of vacationists and sportsmen.

With broader powers than those now possessed by the State Game and Fish Department, the proposed commission, Love said, could administer wild life resources of the entire State more efficiently and take emergency measures whenever necessary.

In this connection, he recalled that during extreme cold weather last winter thousands of quail and other game birds starved to death, while the hands of Missouri Game Commissioner Wilbur C. Buford were tied by red tape. A group of sportsmen, he pointed out, raised funds privately and scattered grain from airplanes over a large area adjacent to St. Louis, thus saving many of the birds.

"Wild life resources of Missouri are a deplorable condition as any old-timer will say," Love declared. "It's simply a question of whether the people of Missouri are going to let the present system continue—and it's the system, not the present administrators, who oppose—until our streams are emptied of fish and our fields and forest denuded of game. And it's a question of now or never."

FRANCIS M. CURLEE BOLTS ROOSEVELT

Lifelong Democrat Tells Why He Will Vote for Landon.

Col. Francis M. Curlee, lawyer, lifelong Democrat and candidate of that party in past years for two important offices, announced in a letter to the Post-Dispatch today that he intended to vote for Gov. Landon, Republican candidate for President. His announcement follows similar statements made by 26 prominent St. Louis Democrats, men and women, and statements of some others that they would not vote for President Roosevelt, but were not ready to say they would vote for Landon.

Curlee was Democratic nominee for Congress in the old Tenth District in 1914 and for President of the Board of Aldermen in 1918. He served in war time as an officer of the Twenty-sixth Field Artillery, rising to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He was president of the Missouri Bar Association in 1920-21. Text of Letter.

In his letter to the Post-Dispatch, Col. Curlee says:

"I have voted for every Democratic candidate for President from Bryan to Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932. I cheered while my elders were shooting the anvil in the courthouse yard when Grover Cleveland was first elected. I have done my bit in every campaign.

"If there were now a Democratic candidate for President, he would receive my vote. I must choose between a Republican and a New Dealer. I choose the Republican.

"I have had many grounds of quarrel with the Republican party, but these quarrels were all within the confines of the American way of life and within the limits of the Constitution.

"I believe with Jefferson that that country is governed best which is governed least. I believe in a maximum of individual liberty and of local self-government; that the Federal Government should exercise only those powers enumerated in and delegated to it by the Constitution; and that those enumerated powers should be sparingly exercised.

For Government of Laws.
"I believe in a government of laws and not of men. I believe in a clear separation of the powers of government into three co-ordinate branches. I believe with Montesquieu and Madison, that there is no liberty if the power of judging be not separated from the legislative and executive powers. This is not a mere theory. Our ancestors learned the value of this principle from bitter experience. Our own memories have been refreshed under the New Deal.

"I believe issues between citizens, and above all, issues between the Government and its citizens, should be determined in the courts and under the sanctions of the judicial process.

"I abhor an arbitrary government by executive decree, administered by executive bureaucrats. Selected groups and individuals may bask in the royal favor for an uncertain time, but the heavy hand of despotism always falls on the weak and defenseless in the end.

"I believe the taxing power exists for the sole purpose of providing necessary revenues for a government economically administered, and not for the purpose of testing fantastic experiments or effecting so-called social and economic reforms.

Belief in Constitution.
"I believe in the Constitution of the United States.

"Because I believe in those principles, I have been and am a Democrat. I have opposed the Republicans because they have shown opposite tendencies. But it should be emphasized that while the Republicans have demanded a degree of centralized control that Democrats could not approve, they never demanded more than the Constitution granted.

"We have lived to see the New Dealers, disguised as Democrats, demand and exercise a degree of centralized and autocratic power never dreamt of in the philosophy of Alexander Hamilton.

"We have seen a load of taxation imposed upon a helpless people that would have shocked the conscience of a Roman proconsul. We have seen this tax money and an equal amount in reckless borrowing used to debauch and subjugate the states and their citizens and bend them to the will of the central government.

"We have seen the anti-trust laws suspended, and monopoly not only tolerated, but fostered, demanded and required by the Federal Government.

"We have seen honest, law-abiding citizens haled across the continent to be tried for supposed violations of bureaucratic decrees, to be convicted, stigmatized and deprived of their cherished rights by irresponsible bureaucrats from whose arbitrary decrees there was no effective appeal; and this on the hearsay evidence of undisclosed accusers or on no evidence at all.

"We have seen the middle-class and oppressive hand of government laid upon its citizens, directing in true royal and medieval style what they could produce and consume and how they should live their daily lives.

"We have seen created 'new instruments of public power,' which may 'shackle the liberties of the American people.'

"All this and more we have seen done in contemptuous disregard and defiance of the Constitution.

"To the best of my ability I have fought the New Deal herds at close range for three years. I have seen the whites of their eyes, and I know their aims and methods. The only way I know to vote for the Constitution and the courts is to vote for Landon. 'God helping me, I can do no other.'

Curlee's statement as to fighting the New Deal at close range appears to refer to his activity, as counsel for the Industrial Recovery Association of Clothing Manufacturers, in protesting against NRA policies and methods. In the course of this controversy, he appeared before the Senate Finance Committee, to which he said the Blue Eagle label was "the most effective boycott weapon ever devised."

JUDGE ORDERS DOG KILLED

Condemned for Attacks on Other Animals.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Jackie, a six-year-old police dog convicted in court of killing a fox terrier and attacking a pomeranian, was ordered killed today.
City Court Judge Joseph J. Kelly heard the evidence yesterday. Jack Thomas complained that Jackie attacked and mangled his pet pomeranian so badly that it required hospital treatment, and Mrs. Laura Browksi told the judge the defendant chewed her pet for terrier to death. The owner, George Plewniak, said he had built a seven-foot fence about his yard and that other dogs in the neighborhood were safe now, but police from a nearby station said Jackie could leap the fence. So Judge Kelly ordered Jackie killed.

TERMS OF A. F. L. PLAN TO END GUILD STRIKE

They Call for Wage Negotiations and Re-instatement of Men by Seattle Paper.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Reinstatement of all striking editorial employees of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer is called for in the settlement proposed by the American Federation of Labor's Executive Council, it is announced by President Green of the Federation.
Other points submitted to the Seattle Central Labor Council, the Seattle local of the American Newspaper Guild and the management of the paper, included:
Removal of the paper from the labor "unfair list," immediate resumption of publication (halted two months ago when the strike began and negotiations between the management and a committee from the Seattle Labor Council on the Guild's wage and working condition demands.
The proposal said "no action is required" in the cases of Frank Lynch and Philip E. Armstrong, employees whose dismissal precipitated the strike, because their cases had been referred to the Labor Relations Board.
Seattle Labor Council considers Proposal; Paper Accepts It.
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Oct. 29.—The proposal of the American Federation of Labor to reopen the Seattle Post-Intelligencer was considered today by committees of the Seattle Central Labor Council and the American Newspaper Guild.
The committees, to whom the question was referred last night by the Central Labor Council, probably will report next Wednesday night on whether they favor the proposal.
Charles B. Londeman, associate publisher of the newspaper, telegraphed William Green, A. F. of L. president, the Post-Intelligencer accepted the plan.
H. Richard Sells, president of the Guild's Seattle chapter, said "The executive council of the Federation has been misled by false and fraudulent statements of the Hearst management," and that under the proposal, strikers "would return to work with no gains, no recognition, no reinstatement of Armstrong and Lynch, and only indeterminate negotiations, which might continue unaltered for years, to decide issues of hours, wages, and working conditions now in dispute."
A Post-Intelligencer statement said the strike committee's statement was a "deliberate falsification."

KILLING OF FARMER HOMICIDE

Inquest Held in Ambush Shooting Near Mascoutah, Ill.

A verdict of homicide was returned yesterday in the death of Leopold Seibert, 72 years old, a retired farmer, who was fatally shot from ambush last Tuesday on his farm, three miles south of Mascoutah, Ill. An inquest disclosed that a shotgun pellet which entered his left eye caused a brain clot to form. Seibert was shot when he went to investigate the presence of an automobile parked next to his corn field, from which corn had been stolen recently. He did not see his assailant. He walked back to his home and was removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, the following day.

Preaching Mission at Kirksville.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 29.—A two-day preaching mission attended by pastors from eight counties closed here today. Speakers included the Rev. Dr. George N. Tolley, St. Louis; the Rev. Dr. George M. Gibson, Webster Groves; and Mrs. Frank L. Wright, St. Louis.

AMOSKEAG BONDHOLDERS GET PAYMENT IN FULL

40 Pct. to Be Turned Over to Them Tomorrow; Later Allotment to Cover Interest.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Three million dollars, a 40 per cent liquidation payment, will go tomorrow to stock and bond holders of the defunct Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. of Manchester, N. H., Arthur Black, Federal referee in bankruptcy, announced today.

The payment, Black said, would bring to $11,000,000 the amount returned to Amoskeag's security holders and mean a 100 per cent return on par value of the stocks and bonds.
The manufacturing company, started 110 years ago, formally went out of existence yesterday when three stockholders, holding proxies for 68.79 per cent of the shares, met at Manchester, N. H., and voted for dissolution. The company's physical assets have been transferred to Amoskeag Industries, Inc.
Black said another dividend, for interest due the security holders, would be paid later.

MAN KILLS ESTRANGED WIFE THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Shooting in Family Welfare Office in Peoria, Where Pair Tried to Arrange Reconciliation.

By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 29.—Mrs. William Roe, 27 years old, was shot to death in the Family Welfare office today by her husband, David, 31, who then killed himself.
The Roes, estranged for the last month, had sought the aid of Mrs. Winnifred Smith, district visitor for the association, in efforts to arrange a reconciliation. Mrs. Smith said. The Roes have three children, Donna, 6 years old; Sheila, 5, and Jeanette, 2. One of the children, Donna, witnessed the shooting. The other children were at Lewiston, Ill., with Mrs. Roe's parents.

THOMAS ON LONDON, SMITH

Socialist Says They are Close Together "in Common Grave."

By the Associated Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, in Syracuse declared today that Gov. Alf M. Landon "is indeed justified in remarking in New York City that he and Al Smith are as close together as they can be—they're in a common grave together."
Thomas in an interview predicted a good sized victory for President Roosevelt next Tuesday, asserting that "after election day Mr. Landon is going to be just another forgotten candidate."

Two In Truck Killed by Train.

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 29.—Two men, identified as Amos Mast and James Albertson, both of Weir, Kan., were killed about 9:30 o'clock yesterday when a light truck in which they were riding was struck by a North-bound Santa Fe freight train at Burgess crossing, 10 miles northwest of Joplin. The men apparently were en route to Joplin stockyards. Three calves and a dog also in the truck were killed.

The $500 cash award was for checking the gasoline consumption of his car.

BUSTER KEATON A 'POOR MAN' HE PROTESTS IN ALIMONY SUIT

Movie Comedian Tells Court Former Wife, Who Is Seeking $4500, Is Wealthy.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Buster Keaton, movie comedian, pleaded in Supreme Court yesterday that he was a "poor man," and said he was being "persecuted" over alimony arrears.
He filed a motion to vacate a warrant of attachment for $4500 filed by his divorced wife, Natalia Tamadge Keaton. Mrs. Keaton based her warrant on a divorce decree she said required Keaton to pay her $300 a month for the support of their two sons, Robert, 12 years old, and Joseph, 14.
In his motion, Keaton said that when they were divorced in 1932 he gave his wife 80 per cent of their property and that subsequent losses had made him a poor man, dependent on his salary, while she is a wealthy woman.

MAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION OF BURIED GASOLINE TANK

Burning Rubbish Ignites Fumes at Abandoned Oil Station at Market and Vandeventer.

Charles L. McCarty, 4033 McPherson avenue, was burned out of the face and hands and cut on the shoulders in an explosion of fumes from an underground gasoline tank in the rear of an abandoned filling station on the west side of Vandeventer avenue at Market street this afternoon.
McCarty, who was employed by the owners of the property, was removing some iron beams, when burning rubbish ignited the fumes. The front window of the filling station was broken, the interior was wrecked and the roof loosened. Rubbish was blown into the street and over cars parked in the lot. He said he did not know who set fire to the rubbish. After treatment at City Hospital he was sent home.

INJURED DEER HUNTER RESCUED FROM

Youth With Broken Leg by Use of Rope Utah Mountain

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 29.—Lloyd Rawson, 21-year-old hunter with a broken leg, was rescued today from a narrow canyon, where he had lain for three days. Rawson, a radio repairman, was rescued yesterday when a rolling rock fell from the edge of a cliff. Rawson was 15 miles east of Salt Lake City. Rescuers, led by Rawson's hunting companion, reached the marooned hunter at 7 o'clock last night but were unable to get him to safety.

Rawson fell over a 30-foot ledge, breaking his left leg, breaking his right arm and rolling down another 200 feet. He was pinned between two rocks and two on a two-foot ledge. He dragged himself, a rocky wedge that saved him, and built a fire with wood. "I whistled (a prearranged signal) for my brother Joe about a mile away," he said. "He came distance away, but the signal was nearly noon when Lloyd Rawson was rescued. Making his journey as possible, he ran and walked seven miles."

The younger Rawson, who returned with himself together as the rescue party, was rescued. The descent was a perilous one. A stretcher was useless. Rawson tied his legs together, his heavy coat and slid down the mountain. Rescuers guided him between the timber and boy slide required four hours. There were cheers from waiting in the canyon. Rawson's bride of a month.

OHIO LAW AGAINST S

OF ELECTORAL VOTE

Supreme Court Also Rules Need Not Be Printed

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—A unanimous decision of the Ohio Supreme Court upheld a provision of the election code which provides that the State's 26 electoral votes participating in the case, filed by George S. Hays, Cincinnati, Prohibition party, for Attorney-General, courts in other states had election codes never had their constitutionality. Ruling on presidential election candidates needed filed with the Secretary and need not be printed on lot, making a vote for the electoral college a vote for the candidates.

The United States Supreme Court held, gave State courts unrestricted authority to rule on presidential election candidates. In the absence of State constitutional provision, the court held that the State constitution was without effect, and validity of it could not be questioned.

RESCUED FROM LEDGE

Youth With Broken Leg Saved by Use of Ropes in Utah Mountains.

By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 29.—Lloyd Rawson, 21-year-old deer hunter with a broken leg, was rescued today from a narrow ledge 1000 feet from the bottom of a canyon, where he had lain 10 hours. Rawson, a radio repair man, fell from the ledge yesterday morning when a rolling rock knocked him over the edge of a cliff in the Wasatch Mountains 15 miles south-east of Salt Lake City.

Rescuers, led by Rawson's brother and hunting companion, Joe, 18, reached the marooned youth about 1 o'clock last night but it was 3 o'clock this morning before they were able to get him to a hospital here.

Rawson fell over a 30-foot ledge on a steep slope. The boulder hit his left leg, breaking it in two places. He said he rolled down the slope another 200 feet, lodging between two rocks and two pine trees on a two-foot ledge.

He dragged himself from the rocky wedge that saved his life and built a fire with wood within reach. "I whistled (a prearranged signal) for my brother Joe about 9:30 a. m. yesterday," he said. "Joe was some distance away, but returned to signal."

It was nearly noon yesterday when Lloyd Rawson was found by his brother. Making him as comfortable as possible, Joe Rawson ran and walked seven miles for help.

The younger Rawson and four men who returned with him roped themselves together as they pushed through the heavy underbrush. The descent was a problem. A stretcher was useless. Lloyd Rawson tied his legs together, sat on his heavy coat and slid down the mountain. Rescuers guided him between the timber and boulders. The slide required four hours.

There were cheers from a group waiting in the canyon including Rawson's bride of a month.

OHIO LAW AGAINST SPLITTING

OF ELECTORAL VOTES UPHOLD

Supreme Court Also Rules Names Need Not Be Printed on Ballot.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—A unanimous decision of six judges of the Ohio Supreme Court yesterday upheld a provision of the State election code which prevents splitting of the State's 26 electoral votes.

Attorneys participating in the case, filed by George S. Hawke of Cincinnati, Prohibition party candidate for Attorney-General, said courts in other states with similar election codes never had passed on their constitutionality.

Ruling on presidential electors, the court held that the names of elector candidates need only be filed with the Secretary of State and need not be printed on the ballot, making a vote for the presidential and vice-presidential candidates count as a vote for their elector-candidates.

The United States Constitution, the court held, gave State Legislatures unrestricted authority to provide for appointment of electors as they chose. In the absence of any State constitutional provision, the Legislature was without restriction, it added, and validity of the law could not be questioned.

By the Associated Press.
HARBIN, Manchoukuo, Oct. 29.—Twenty-four passengers who abandoned the ice-bound Manchoukuan steamer Hailan last Saturday were reported today to have reached Heilho safely.

With 100 passengers still aboard, the ship is locked in the ice in the Upper Amur River, which flows between Manchoukuan and Soviet territory. Soviet Consul-General Slavutsky said his Government, in accordance with Manchoukuan request, would co-operate in rescue work.

Spanish Seamen Held in Cuba.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, Oct. 29.—Ten members of the crew of the Spanish steamer Angel Arnu were arrested today and ordered to appear on charges of committing insubordination aboard the vessel in Havana Harbor. The men included eight alleged members of the Red Supermarine Committee which, the steamer's officers charged, was set up by the Communist crew and issued commands during the voyage from Spain. Port police said the skipper filed the complaints. Nineteen officers quit the Marine Larnus when it reached here, asking a local court for guarantees of safety.

Campaigns of 1924 and 1928; Coolidge and Then Hoover; Dawes Predicted the Depression

'Al Smith and His Brown Derby—Religious Issue—Prohibition Growing Bone of Contention.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—"That's good! Go on, read some more." But even as the man on the bed spoke, he trembled. The woman who had been reading threw down her magazine and ran into the corridor, crying: "Call Dr. Boone; call Dr. Boone."

Warren G. Harding was dead at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. In Vermont, reporters took one glance at the incoming news and went streaking through the mountains toward the farm home of John Coolidge. For the fifth time in history, a Vice-President was going to take over as President.

While the reporters waited in the little farmhouse, watching curiously under the yellow glow of a kerosene lamp, Calvin Coolidge received the news. They heard the click of a typewriter as he dictated a message in the next room.

"It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he has begun for the service of the American people," it said.

Coolidge Takes Oath.

John Coolidge shaved and put on a black suit. He administered the oath of office to his son at 2:30 a. m., Aug. 3, 1923. Then Calvin Coolidge went back to bed. That same day he started back to Washington.

A few weeks later the oath was administered again, this time by Justice A. A. Hoehling of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. It had been found that only judges of a certain rank could administer the oath to the President.

Already a scramble was starting for the 1924 Democratic nomination.

Out of various investigations came evidence on which Albert B. Fall, Harding's Secretary of Interior, was convicted of accepting a bribe; sent Charles R. Forbes, head of the Veterans' Bureau to jail for defrauding the Government, and put Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, in jail for accepting money to influence an official act. Harding's close friend, Harry M. Daugherty, was accused, but not convicted, of being faithless in his duties as Attorney General. Jess Smith, a friend of Daugherty, committed suicide.

Doheny Enters Picture.

As the investigators went ahead, however, the name of a Democrat, one of the party's contenders for the presidential nomination, emerged. Edward L. Doheny, the California oil magnate of the Fall affair, testified that he had employed William Gibbs McAdoo as his attorney after the latter left the Wilson Cabinet, paying him a yearly retainer fee of $50,000.

McAdoo demanded an immediate hearing before the Senate committee. He testified that he had in no way served Doheny in connection with the questionable leases and that as soon as suspicion turned toward them, he had returned his fee for the year and quit as Doheny's attorney.

That was in January, 1924. Already McAdoo was far out in front in the race to round up convention delegates. He was running as a dry, a foe of "reaction" and "special privilege." In some states he was drawing Ku Klux Klan support.

After the Doheny testimony, McAdoo called his forces together to decide what he should do. They urged him to continue in the race, and he did.

On the other side of the fence, the country was learning about Coolidge. Before he went into the White House, Washington hostesses knew him as a quiet man who dined out frequently. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth heard at her doctor's office that he looked "as if he had been weaned on a pickle."

In the Senate, there had been some discussion of whether he should succeed himself. Many of the politicians were doubtful.

But his first message to Congress ended that. He made it a statement of the issues, outlining the position of the party in such a way that he stamped his renomination as a certainty.

Coolidge Nominated.

When the Republicans met at Cleveland the only uncertainty was who would be the vice-presidential candidate. Coolidge was named for the top position on the first ballot.

Senator Borah of Idaho was offered the vice-presidential place and refused flatly. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois was nominated and declined. Some talked of Senator Curtis of Kansas. But on the third ballot the convention named Charles Gates Dawes of Illinois, who a few years ago had received notice because of his "Hell and Maria" defense of the way the war had been run.

The nominations and the Republican platform failed to satisfy all. The Progressives met in Cleveland and named Senator Robert M. La Follette Sr. for President, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, a Democrat, for Vice-President. Their platform called for a constitutional amendment to give Congress power to overrule, by a two-thirds vote, decisions of the Supreme Court which might call the law unconstitutional. The Socialists endorsed the La Follette-Wheeler ticket.

On April 5, two persons had been killed and 13 hurt in a battle between the residents of Lilly, Pa., and a mob of 500 in Ku Klux Klan regalia.

representation from Tammany. On both sides, men were fighting mad. Extra police were brought in. A close guard was put around Bryan when he went to the platform to speak against the Klan denunciation.

McAdoo swung into the lead at the outset of the balloting. Smith was next. High up among the other 17 candidates on the first ballot were Senator Underwood of Alabama, Samuel T. Ralston of Indiana, Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, James M. Cox of Ohio, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, John W. Davis of West Virginia got 31 votes.

59 Ballots and a Deadlock.

After 59 ballots, some conservatives hinted at a deadlock. Eighty ballots brought representatives of all candidates together to see if they could agree on someone. The Smith men said they would retire if McAdoo would. The suggestion was refused.

Finally, the delegates were released from the instructions given by their states. The lines began to shift. McAdoo withdrew after 100 ballots. John W. Davis was named on the 103d.

Davis sought to get Senator Walsh of Montana, Newton D. Baker of Ohio or Edward T. Meredith

the Democratic convention. But it provides a definite clue to the feelings that pulsed through the meeting.

McAdoo and Smith Forces at Odds.

The forces that were rallying around Alfred E. Smith, the Governor of New York, wanted to denounce the Klan by name. The McAdoo supporters did not. The Platform Committee worried over the problem for three days. After an all night session the committee put William Jennings Bryan on his knees to pray for guidance. One observer, however, remarked that the convention was past praying for.

The issue was taken to the convention floor. A resolution denouncing the Klan by name was balloting straight into a tie vote when Miss Marian Collie of Washington, Ga., got up in the shouting, and changed her half vote from "aye" to "no." The decision was 542 3-20 to 541 3-20 against speaking out against the Klan.

November brought: Coolidge, 15,726,016; Davis, 5,335,586; La Follette, 4,822,565; Faris, 57,551; Nations, 22,387; Johns, 33,954; Foster, 33,361. The electoral vote gave Coolidge 382, Davis 136, La Follette 13.

Coolidge Dictates 12 Words.

Four years to the day from the August morning on which his father had administered to him the oath of office, Calvin Coolidge dictated 12 words to his secretary in the summer executive offices that had been set up in a school house in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

He took shears out of his desk and trimmed the typed pages into slips. At noon the reporters filed past him, each receiving a slip. He stood in silence.

"Isn't there something else to be said about this, Mr. President?" asked one. "No. That's all the news in this office this morning," said the President. And he let it stand at: "I do not choose to run for President in 1928."

Senator Capper of Kansas, riding with the President over a muddy road late in the afternoon of the same day, heard him say: "It's exactly four years today since I took office. That means that if I ran again I would be in the White House 10 years. That's too long for one man."

Several years later, Coolidge wrote about the same thing in his autobiography. His decision threw the field open. Into it came talk of Lowden, Dawes and Senators Goff of West Virginia, Curtis of Kansas, Watson of Indiana and Willis of Ohio. Willis died before convention time.

Hoover Gets Good Start.

Herbert Hoover, whose name had now been before the country day in and day out for 11 years, got away to a good start. He had been talked of by the Democrats in 1920. They had given him up when he told them he was a Republican. He had gone into Harding's Cabinet and stayed with Coolidge. By January of 1928, his men were claiming 300 delegates and he had not

TREASURY'S CONSCIENCE FUND REACHES TOTAL OF $624,000

Started 145 Years Ago With $3 From Man Who Wanted to Make Restitution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A man whose conscience bothered him sent $5 to the United States Treasury 145 years ago. Since then many millions have followed his example, until today the Treasury ledgers show $624,113 in the conscience fund.

A man sent in a 1-cent postage stamp in payment for an acorn he picked up from the Gettysburg battlefield. Another mailed in $50,000 in installments. "Four times the amount," he explained, "which I stole years ago." In the Government's exhibit is this letter received by President Cleveland: "To His Majesty the President: I am in a dreadful state of mind. I used two postage stamps which had been used before on letters. Now, dear President, will you please forgive me and I promise never to do it again." President Hoover got one from a soldier who said he took several pairs of gloves, shirts and shoes at Camp Pike, Ark.

Since 1811 the leanest year in conscience receipts was 1827 when only $5 came in. In 1929 the fund was enriched $20,999. It was best in 1916 when the Government got $84,923.

Dozens of women have recently testified under oath to seeming miracles performed by a new suds discovery—Dreft.

Dreft actually seems to make garments younger. When washed with it, soap-silky prints get brighter, woollens look like new, stockings richer looking. Here is Miss Florence Jakes' amazing testimony before Notary Public Sherr: "I could scarcely believe my eyes the first time I used Dreft. I washed a silk dress that looked quite old and faded. When it came out of the Dreft it was as bright as new. . . . almost as new again."

Ask your dealer for Dreft. Try it for your stockings, silks and woollens.

ICKES CALLS LONDON POLITICAL JEKYLL-HYDE

Says G. O. P. Candidate Talks One Way in East, Another in West.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in a speech here last night, characterized Gov. Alf M. Landon as a "political Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" because of the country toward Communism or Fascism. He said the Republican presidential nominee had been represented as "facing both ways" and sought to show that "east-bound Landon" stood for policies different from those which "west-bound Landon" advocated.

"The trouble with Gov. Landon is that he hasn't been able to keep from getting his wires crossed," Ickes declared. "He finds it impossible to remember what he stood for, when or where. But since he has finished his speaking tour in the West and is beating the bushes in the East for stray votes, Gov. Landon may be expected to stick to his reactionary lines until election day."

"We know that Candidate Landon's proposed reactionary retreatment can lead but to Communism or Fascism."

"Jack the Monopoly Killer."

Ickes said New York especially would welcome an elaboration of Landon's stand against monopolies and special privilege. He added: "I know of no more fitting place for Jack the Monopoly Killer to do his stuff."

Ickes said Landon was "a State Socialist in Kansas while posing in the East as the champion of unregulated private initiative." This was in reference to Ickes' recent charge that Landon secretly had tried to "put over a State-owned natural gas pipe lines" to operate in competition with private utilities.

Continuing, Ickes said: "Candidate Landon professes to be devoted to the principle of civil service, but during the four years that he has been in Topeka, he has furnished as shocking an example of unblushing spoilsmanship as can be seen anywhere in the country."

When President Roosevelt took office in 1932, Ickes went on, the people were "ripe for rebellion." "One thing, and one thing only, saved our traditional American system," he declared. "That was the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The middle road was mapped by the founders of the Republic. It is being followed by the New Deal. The road to which Gov. Landon beckons us is the one to Communism with a detour via Fascism."

Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, speaking on the same program, said he refused to concede that the New Deal has been extravagant, for, he said, "it has already paid for itself over and over again."

"To be sure, we have increased our net debt by $4,500,000,000," he said, "but by doing this, we have already increased our national income by 20 billion dollars a year; which, from a business standpoint was a most wise investment."

"Which administration was extravagant," he asked, "the one which spent money so that the American people might return to work and produce and distribute wealth, or the one which spent the American people in trying to save the money?"

Filene declared he did not blame former President Hoover for "not seeing in 1928 certain things which Al Smith can't see yet," but said the Hoover administration was "the most extravagant administration within my memory."

"It let our men, money and machinery lay idle," he said, "with the result that we as a nation failed to produce more than $300,000,000 worth of wealth which had there been a New Deal, would have been produced and distributed among the American people."

Admitting that it "hurt a bit" to pay "half of my income every year" to the tax collectors, Filene declared himself in favor of still higher income taxes in the upper brackets. "Why shouldn't the American people take half my money from me?" he asked. "I took it from them."

ORGANIZER SAYS DISMISSAL OF STEEL MEN IS LOCKOUT

Advices Employees of Otis Company Not to Accept Final Pay Checks.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29.—B. J. Damich, organizer for John L. Lewis' Committee on Industrial Organization, declared today that dismissal of 450 employees of the Otis Steel Co. constituted a lockout.

The men, members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, were informed late yesterday that they need no longer report for work, Damich said. The workers were notified, he said, that they would be paid in full by mail Saturday. He added that he had ordered union members who attended a meeting last night not to accept their checks.

"Once they have received their final checks, they are no longer employees of the company," he said. "The lockout is simply an attempt to eliminate some union men, but we do not want to have any trouble."

Damich said the notification was the result of a failure of negotiations between the union and the company on a wage scale in the blanking and blanking-pickle departments.

COOLIDGE, THEN HOOVER; DAWES ON DEPRESSION

yet announced his candidacy. In the Senate and House, his opponents were lambasting him. The Ohio primaries were approaching. A Hoover man sought to plumb the depths of the Coolidge silence. Would the President consider it an unfriendly act if Hoover went after the Ohio delegates? He got the unsmiling reply: "Well, I did."

But the crafty Coolidge talk was still going when the Republicans got to Kansas City. Coolidge later wrote in his autobiography:

"I therefore, sent the secretary to the President, Everett Sanders, a man of great ability and discretion, to Kansas City with instructions to notify several of the leaders of state delegations not to vote for me. Had I not done so, I am told, I should have been nominated."

The other candidates sought to consolidate against Hoover. Then William S. Ware, the Philadelphia boss, declared for Hoover. Answering the riddle of what the Key State delegates would do. The nomination of Hoover went over on the first ballot. Curtis became the vice-presidential nominee, also on the first ballot.

The nomination of Smith was being conceded right and left by the time the Democrats got to Houston. Nor was there any hesitancy about the choice of Senator Robinson of Arkansas for second place on the ticket. A series of fist fights on the floor, when Smith adherents sought to draw the standards of North Carolina and some of the other Southern states into parade, gave an indication, however, of what was to come.

The farm laborites, after some difficulty with other selections, wound up with a ticket of Frank E. Webb of California and Henry Quinley Alexander of North Carolina. The prohibition party named William F. Varney of New York and James A. Edgerton of Virginia. The Socialists chose Norman Thomas of New York and James H. Maurer of Pennsylvania. The Communists tried again with Foster and Glavin.

Hoover Plans Farm Board.

Hoover was notified in California and set up campaign headquarters in Washington from which he traveled to speaking engagements in the East. He went back to California in November to vote, stopping at St. Louis to outline plans for a farm board.

Smith's brown derby to the first ballot. Curtis became the Oklahoma, a Ku Klux stronghold, he sailed into religious intolerance. In Louisville, where the late summer was hot, someone turned on the heat in the hall in which he spoke.

Both parties had pledged themselves to enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Smith, however, in a telegram to the convention said that he favored a change in the amendment to put prohibition enforcement in the hands of the states. He said later he wanted to give the convention a chance to change candidates if it would not accept his views.

Religion played a large part in the campaign. Smith was a Catholic. Just a few days after the election, Dawes wrote: "In the country at large the overwhelming influence of the religious issue is clearly manifest both in the North and the South."

In the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, two of the bishops joined in urging its ministers: "Know your high calling. Preach Christ and Him crucified. Do not preach politics."

Four others, however, opposing Smith, issued a joint statement: "We notify the defenders and the advocates of the liquor traffic that the moral forces of the country will not be driven from the field by the cry that they are bringing the church into politics."

One of the bishops called ministers and laymen to a meeting at Asheville, N. C., at which an anti-Smith Democratic organization was formed.

"Orders From Vatican."

The Atlanta Journal in October carried a report of a speech by a minister opposing Smith in which he made broad references to taking "orders from the Vatican" and said Tammany was after "the Harlem vote by appointing Negroes to high positions."

The November voting showed: Hoover 21,322,190; Smith 15,016,453; Thomas 267,450; Foster 48,700; Varney 20,108; Webb 6,990. The electoral vote gave Hoover 444, Smith 87.

For the first time since the Tilden-Hayes dispute, the Republicans had cracked the solid South, taking North Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Texas.

But, even as early as July of 1923, Dawes had been saying: "The business situation in the country points to a coming business change. Will the American people, as they sometimes do during the closing of a period of prosperity, wake up some morning changed from an optimistic to a pessimistic view of the future, as occurred in 1892, culminating in the panic of 1893?"

LOST FIVE DAYS IN MOUNTAINS

Boy, 9, in Hospital After Being Found Lying Beside Creek.

By the Associated Press.

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 29.—Pitch-stained, hungry and tired, 9-year-old Murray Walkup Miller was rescued yesterday after five days of wandering in Western Montana's rugged Sapphire Mountains. The child was found by H. J. Daigle and Charles Lear, Forest Service employees. He was brought here to a hospital, suffering from exposure to sub-freezing temperatures and hunger. Daigle said the boy was so weak he could scarcely talk when the foresters came upon him lying beside a creek not far from the Bitter Root Forest lookout cabin. "I couldn't wade the creek," the boy said. "It was too deep, and I was awfully tired." Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller of Stevensville, Mont., had wandered 15 miles from where he left his stepfather last Saturday.

The lad said he became lost when he went for water at a creek near where his stepfather was cutting wood.

WEATHER CHANGES....WHY SHOULDN'T GASOLINE?

SKELLY Adds VIRGIN GASOLINE to REFINERY GASOLINE

VIRGIN GASOLINE PRESSED FROM GAS-WELL GAS

It's a volatile, yet stable, high octane product that is far faster-starting than refinery gasoline. Virgin gasoline is not "casing-head" gasoline. It is the cleanest gasoline known. By adding virgin gasoline in varying amounts (up to 38%) to refinery gasoline, Skelly "tailors" Aromax to fit your weather—to start faster, to pick up faster, to boost mileage the year around. Drive in today, where you see "The Skelly Tailor" pictured above.

FREE—New interesting booklet, "The Skelly Tailor Tells How He Tailors". Get it free from your Skelly Man.

Tailor-Made to Fit Your Weather For FASTER START

REFINERY gasoline is pretty much alike—yet you and I know it acts differently in different weather. Slow starting in winter. Vapor-lock trouble in summer. Varying mileage results, depending on the weather.

Skelly upset that time-worn precedent of making gasoline "the same everywhere"...

1. By announcing that Aromax is NOT the same everywhere.
2. By "tailoring" gasoline to fit changing weather in each community, for faster start and uniformly highest mileage.

MAN KILLS WIFE, TWO CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Callers Find the Bodies in Home at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

AKRON, O., Oct. 28.—A man, his wife and their two children were found shot to death in their home in suburban Cuyahoga Falls last night by relatives who had arrived to make a call. Coroner E. E. Amos said the man apparently had killed his wife and children and then himself. All were killed by rifle fire.

The dead: William Harrison Slabaugh, 46 years old, a rubber company draftsman and World War veteran; his wife, Josephine, 42, and William J. 12, and Marilyn, 10. Dr. William Pittenger said Slabaugh was a patient of his and had complained of a severe headache for several days. Cuyahoga Falls police supposed the killings took place Tuesday night. A reading lamp near which Mrs. Slabaugh was last seen by neighbors on that night was still burning when the relatives arrived. Mrs. George Bartley of Homeworth, O., a sister of Mrs. Slabaugh, with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Freedy, also of Homeworth, found the lights burning in the Slabaugh home when they arrived. A neighbor gave them a key, and they entered the house. Mrs. Slabaugh lay in the kitchen, shot through the head. The girl had been shot, apparently as she slept, in her bed upstairs, and in a back bedroom. The boy was found dead. Slabaugh lay in the same room with his son, at the foot of the bed with a rifle in his feet. He had been shot in the mouth.

If You Have "Acid Indigestion"

ALKALIZE STOMACH ALMOST INSTANTLY THIS AMAZING "PHILLIPS" WAY

DR. SMITH TOLD US TO USE GENUINE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA. IT ALKALIZES AN ACID CONDITION ALMOST IMMEDIATELY. WE'VE FOUND IT WONDERFUL.

ACID INDIGESTION HAS SPOILED MANY A GOOD TIME FOR ME. I'M GLAD TO KNOW HOW YOU RELIEVED DISCOMFORT AFTER MEALS.

On every side today people are being urged to alkalize their stomach. And thus to ease the symptoms of "acid-indigestion," nausea and stomach upsets. For perhaps the vast majority of stomach upsets come from an excess of acidity.

To gain quick alkalization, just do this: Take two teaspoons of PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA 30 minutes after eating. OR—take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia tablets, which have the same antacid effect.

Relief comes almost at once—usually in a few minutes. Nausea, "gas"—fullness after eating and "acid indigestion" pains leave. You feel like a new person.

Try this way. You'll be surprised at results. And try it particularly if you've been using some less natural and less effective way of overcoming acids. Get either the liquid "Phillips" or the remarkable, new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Each one equals a teaspoon of the liquid, and they're delightful to take and easy to carry with you. Only 25¢ for a large box at all drug stores.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoon of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

CENSUS ESTIMATES FOR 1936 BY STATES

Nearly 1,000,000 Increase in Year, Due to Excess of Births Over Deaths.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A national population increase of nearly 1,000,000 during the last year was attributed today by the Commerce Department to an excess of births over deaths.

The net immigration gain for the year, the department said, accounted for only 800,000 of the 908,000 estimated increase for the year.

The total population on July 1, this year, was estimated at 128,429,000, a gain of 5,338,000 since the last census was taken in 1930.

LIQUOR DEFENDANT WAIVES JURY TRIAL, GETS A YEAR

Negro Sentenced by Federal Judge Davis for Possessing Illegal Alcohol.

George Brooks, Negro, 5121 Benedict avenue, was found guilty yesterday of possession of alcohol, on which no tax had been paid, and was sentenced to a year and a day in the Federal Reformatory at El Reno, Ok., by Federal Judge Charles B. Davis, who served as both judge and jury. It was the first criminal case in which Judge Davis permitted a defendant to waive trial by a jury.

Brooks, charged also with selling liquor without a license, pleaded not guilty and presented a technical defense, contending that the search warrant under which Government agents seized three gallons of liquor in his home was illegal. Judge Davis dismissed the selling charge, but found the defendant guilty of possession of untaxed alcohol, and passed sentence immediately. The Court denied Brooks' motion for an appeal bond. Three other Negroes, who pleaded guilty of violations of the liquor tax laws, were each sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Davis. Joseph Florio, 310 South Third street, was fined $500 for possession of untaxed liquor. He is seriously ill, and his attorney pointed out that a jail term might endanger his life.

SOIL ACT COMPLIANCE TIME EXTENDED IN JERSEY COUNTY

Farmers Have Until Oct. 31 to File Requests; Wet Weather Delayed Plowing and Liming.

Final date for filing requests for inspections or reinspections in Jersey County, Illinois, under the Federal soil conservation program is Oct. 31, farmers in the county co-operating in the program having been granted an extension from Sept. 30 in order to allow time to plow under soy beans, apply limestone and adopt other practices for earning payments, the county committee points out.

For Jersey County farmers, the most important practices affected by the new ruling are the plowing under of soy beans and green fertilizing crops and the spreading of limestone. Early in the summer it was too dry to plow under soy beans and lately it has been too wet. Similar conditions have prevented many farmers from applying limestone. Farmers whose land already has been inspected by farm reporters before soy beans were plowed under or limestone applied may perform these practices and ask the county committee for another inspection.

Farmers are being advised to make certain that they have performed the cropping and soil building practices to meet the requirements as no vouchers will be issued until all requirements are met. It was explained that many farmers have spread limestone, but have failed to provide the county committee with statements from neighbors showing that the practice has been performed. On some farms, grasses and legumes, seeded last spring were killed by dry weather. In such cases, a written statement signed by neighbors attesting that the grasses and legumes were seeded in line with good farming practice is required.

AMERICAN WORKING MEN WILL SOON PAY THEIR FIRST INCOME TAX

1% will be deducted from their pay beginning January 1, 1937. More will be deducted thereafter until the total will amount to 3%. These are requirements of the Social Security Act.

A tax of $36.00 a year will then be levied on each man and woman who earns $23.08 a week.

Employers will be limited in their ability to raise wages because they must match this sum and, in addition, match it again for so-called unemployment insurance. This will make a total of 9% of labor payroll grabbed by the New Deal.

By 1980 the Government expects to collect $47,000,000,000 more from this tax than it expects to pay out in benefits which do not begin until 1942.

This huge excess tax collection will exceed $1800 for each of the 25,804,000 men and women who begin to be taxed next January.

Landon stated that this will be a "cruel disappointment for those of our people least able to bear the shock of disappointment."

And these excess collections will not be retained in cash. The Social Security Act provides that the tax on working men and employers be paid into the general revenue fund of the Government. Excess collections may be spent for W. P. A., cash benefits to farmers, farm resettlement, or any other government purpose. The U. S. Treasury will issue I. O. U.'s in return to the fund. These I. O. U.'s can be redeemed only by the levying of still further taxes.

Money already collected from unemployment funds has been spent this way and Treasury I. O. U.'s issued therefor.

Mr. Roger Sherman Hoar, who was Vice-Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Massachusetts, and a member of President Roosevelt's own Social Security Conference of 1934, states that, when President Roosevelt took over the Social Security Bill in 1934, and made it a part of his "must" program, he altered its financial provisions. He did this not for the purpose of relieving human distress, but rather for the purpose of raising funds with which to meet the rapidly rising New Deal deficit.

Society has an obligation to promote the security of the people by affording some measure of protection against involuntary unemployment and dependency in old age. The New Deal policies, while purporting to provide social security, have, in fact, endangered it.

We approve a pay-as-you-go policy, which requires of each generation the support of the aged and the determination of what is just and adequate.

We propose to encourage adoption by the states and territories of honest and practical measures for meeting the problems of unemployment insurance.

WILL CHALLENGED

Filed by Two Who Say They Are C. V. Millar's Next of Kin.

By the Associated Press. TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 28.—The will of Charles Vance Millar, who died in 1928, was attacked in court late yesterday by persons representing themselves to be next of kin and claiming the $500,000 fortune.

A writ filed on behalf of Alexander Butcher and Arabella West of Burwell, Ontario, says the "will" is "scandalous" and "void" and asks the court to declare it null and void. The unexpected attack on the will of the eccentric lawyer came late yesterday afternoon, after the court had called on all claimants to appear in court with their proofs. The executors particularly asked for proof from the mothers claiming the prize having borne the child of the late Charles Vance Millar.

The executors, two trust companies and Roy Sproul, a barrister, ask the court to decide three questions:

1. Is Clause 9 of Millar's "uncommon and capricious" will—the one bequeathing approximately $500,000 to the bearer of the most children in a specified 10-year period—valid?

2. If it is, what mother, or mothers, is entitled to the money?

3. If it isn't, what relatives of Millar shall be declared the beneficiaries?

Millar's will stated that he had no dependents or near relations, and that "no duty rests upon me to leave any property at my death."

The executors expressed the hope that the hearing would make unnecessary any other actions by interested claimants.

The leading childbearers have agreed, with one exception, to have the money divided among them equally, as provided by the will in demand.

TRIES PRISON LIFE

JUDGE HARRY D. LANDIS
Of Seward, Neb., who spent 10 days in the Iowa prison at Fort Madison as an experiment to observe criminal behavior for use by himself on the bench.

His son, a law student, accompanied him in the "social experiment."

case of a tie. In agreeing to such settlement, some of the mothers are abandoning claims to more babies than the others, preferring prompt settlement to a long court contest.

The dissenter is Mrs. Lily Kenny. She insists she has had 12 children in 10 years but proof of only nine has been found at the Bureau of Vital Statistics. Mrs. Kenny has indicated she will press her claim as sole winner.

Other contestants: Mrs. Pauline Clarke, Mrs. John Nagle, Mrs. Arthur Timleck and Mrs. Annie Smith, all believed to have satisfactory proof of nine child births; Mrs. Grace Bagnato, claiming nine, but with only seven registered; Mrs. Gus Grazziano, claiming nine, but with only eight recorded; several families with eight eligible children.

BARRETT ACCUSES STARK OF TWISTING TAX STATEMENTS

Says St. Louis County Is Falsely Represented on Benefits From Sales Levy.

By the Associated Press. INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Oct. 28.—Jesse W. Barrett, Republican candidate for Governor, accused his Democratic opponent, Maj. Lloyd C. Stark, of false statements regarding taxation and other issues in a speech here last night continuing his campaign in Jackson County.

Barrett also charged Stark's press agents were distorting the amount of sales tax benefits in many counties. Referring to an advertisement for St. Louis County, he said: "I find that a trick has been worked by eliminating that part of the sales tax which came from public utilities and consolidated returns. That in itself represents over the State 24 per cent of the total payments. So the figures are compiled on 76 per cent of what has been paid instead of on the full amount."

"That would be bad enough as an effort to deceive the public. When we come to the rest of the figures, however, we discover that the taxes paid are given only for the year 1936. In the calculations of benefits, however, they are shown for both 1935 and 1936; in other words, the statement that this county has received as much in benefits as it paid in sales tax is wholly untrue. What should have been said was that St. Louis County paid as much in one year on sales tax as it got back in two years of benefits."

ROOSEVELT THANKS MAN FOR USE OF AUTOMOBILE

Sends Wreath for Grave of Boy Who Had Great Attachment for Machine.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 28.—A personal letter from President Roosevelt thanking him for the use of his automobile was received yesterday by John Frank.

Frank called it Joseph's car because of the attachment his 8-year-old son formed for it before his death more than two years ago. The father consented to its use for the first time a few weeks ago when he was informed a car of that type was desired for the President's ride through Kansas City.

The letter said in part: "And I appreciate your act of kindness all the more because I have heard of the tender associations which link this car to the memory of your greatly beloved son."

"My heart goes out to you in your loneliness and I offer a message of sincere sympathy. I am sending a wreath for young Joseph's grave and will ask you to accept it as a token of my sympathy for you in your bereavement and my appreciation of your kind service in my behalf."

Woman With Baby Sinks in Lake.

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Katharine Arnold, wife of a factory worker, waded 400 feet into Case Lake at a Keego Harbor beach yesterday with her 10-month-old daughter in her arms and sank. The bodies of both were recovered.

Henry Arnold, husband of the woman, said he could not account for her act.

FARM EXPORTS FOR FISCAL YEAR TOTAL $766,304,000

Report Says This Represents Gain of 15 Per Cent Over Preceding Year.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—United States agricultural exports during the year ended June 30 were valued at $766,304,000 in a report issued yesterday by the Agriculture Department, which said this represented a gain of 15 per cent over the preceding year.

The department said a similar increase in the volume of exports, the first for a fiscal year since 1931-32, was due to increased exports of cotton, fruit and tobacco. Exports of meats, wheat and several other grains, which the department commented were "most seriously affected by the drought of 1934," dropped to low levels.

Lint cotton exports totaled 6,397,000 bales, compared with 5,066,000 bales the previous year, the department said. Leaf tobacco exports were 417,539,000 pounds, compared to 383,347,000 the preceding year. Wheat exports, including flour, amounted to only 15,930,000 bushels.

Students for Roosevelt in Poll.
Students of Belleville Township High School in a recent vote on the presidential candidates favored Roosevelt over Landon, 608 to 379. William Lemke received 19 votes and Norman Thomas 3.

TWO MICHIGAN ROAD BOSSES ACCUSED OF COERCING VOTERS

They Stand Mute on Arraignment After Discharge of Three Workmen Under Them.

By the Associated Press. HARRISON, Mich., Oct. 28.—Two State Highway Department bosses accused of discharging three workmen for refusal to support Democratic candidates, stood mute at their arraignment yesterday on charges of violating the Michigan election laws.

The warrants which named Fred Bingham, superintendent of the Clare District, and Victor Finch, his foreman, charge them with intimidating voters. Although the prosecutor requested that the examination be set for today, the Justice who issued the warrants scheduled it for Nov. 4, the day after the general election. In so doing, he acceded to the request of the attorney for the State Highway Department, who appeared for the defendants. Pleas of not guilty were entered for Bingham and Finch.

Truck Driver Burned to Death.

CAMERON, Mo., Oct. 28.—Melvin E. Moore, 22 years old, of St. Joseph, a truck driver, was burned to death this morning seven miles east of Cameron. It is believed the gasoline tank of his truck exploded. The body was found 40 feet from the machine, which had gone into a ditch.

HEADS CHILDREN'S GUARDIANS

Mrs. Michael J. Cullinane Elected at Annual Meeting.

Mrs. Michael J. Cullinane, 5333 University street, was elected chairman of the Board of Children's Guardians, August Brockland, 3835 Westminster place, was chosen vice-chairman, and Mrs. Albert Welsert Jr., 3415 Halliday avenue, was re-elected secretary at the board's annual election yesterday.

A report was made that during the first nine months of 1936, 1770 children were provided with foster care, a decrease of 186 from the same period in 1935.

Exports of Foodstuffs Up.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Commerce Department reported today that September exports of foodstuffs were valued at $23,315,000, an increase of 4 per cent over the same month a year ago. The increase, the department said, was largely in edible animals and animal products. Imports of wheat from Canada for consumption during the week ended Oct. 24 were listed at 702,000 bushels, compared with 1,107,000 bushels in the previous week and 1,426,000 bushels a year ago.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 FAVORED BY EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

National Organization Indorses Proposal for Teachers' Retirement Funds.

An endorsement of amendment No. 3 on next Tuesday's election ballot, which would enable the Legislature to consider teachers' retirement funds, has been obtained from the National Education Association by the Citizens' Committee for an Improved School System, local sponsors of the proposition.

The association, in a statement, said that both Government and industry regarded retirement systems for employees as sound business safeguarding efficiency and resulting in economy of operation. It was pointed out that about 60 per cent of 354,000 teachers in public elementary and secondary schools in the country had the benefit of retirement pensions.

OHIO BANK HEAD PLEADS GUILTY OF $400,000 DEFICIT

Uhrichville Man Admits Taking Money Over Period of Three Years but Says He Is Broke Now.

By the Associated Press.
UHRICHVILLE, O., Oct. 29.—Charles Wheland, president of the Union Bank of Uhrichville, pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace court late yesterday to charges of making false reports and false entries amounting to about $400,000. Justice of the Peace John Law ordered him held to the grand jury under $25,000 bond. The hearing was held at New Philadelphia, Tuscarawas County seat.

Samuel H. Squire, State Banking Superintendent, who filed the charges against Wheland, said the bank would be liquidated, with payment to depositors in full up to $5000 each under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, but he said the $400,000 loss would wipe out capital stock and surplus.

Squire said Wheland told him the false entries were made over a period of three years and had been concealed by withdrawal of ledger sheets while examiners were busy checking cash on hand. The discrepancies were discovered Monday when Examiners Claude Hummel and L. H. Ackerman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation happened to check the ledgers first without allowing Wheland any time to remove them.

What Wheland did with the money was not ascertained. He told officials he was willing to give information, but that he was broke. Wheland also is president of the Robinson & Son Pipe Co., of the Gadsdenhutte Building and Loan Co., of the Twin Cities Theater Co., which operates four theaters, and of the Tuscarawas County Aviation Co. of New Philadelphia.

He is about 45 years old and is divorced.

WIRE CUT, BROOKLYN CROWD UNABLE TO HEAR ROOSEVELT

Knife Used on Cable Line Leading to Public Address System.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—James A. Bergner, engineer in charge of a public address system at the corner of the Brooklyn College yesterday, said the President's address was lost to the crowd because a cable was cut just before Roosevelt was introduced.

Bergner said the cable line showed a clean knife cut. It was found underneath the speaker's stand soon after the system went dead after working for an hour without interruption.

Bergner said restlessness among the crowd was caused by inability to hear the President speak.

BALSAMO'S VICTORY STRING OF 20 STOPPED BY RISK

FORMER HOLDER OF TITLE BEATS HARLEM FIGHTER IN EVERY ROUND

Syracuse Veteran Makes Opponent Appear Amateurish in Forcing Him to Miss Punches.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. — Ed "Babe" Risko of Syracuse, former world's middleweight champion, virtually ended Harry Balsamo's career as a fight sensation in the New York Hippodrome ring last night.

Risko gained the unanimous decision over the Harlem Italian in 10 fast rounds—completely marring the night for those who had tagged Balsamo, the "Belting Brakeman," a second Stanley Ketchel, etc.

Balsamo, according to his record of 20 straight professional victories, with 16 knockouts included, figured to take the former sailor, supposedly on the downgrade since he lost his 160-pound title to Freddie Steele.

But Risko, fighting cautiously, toppled the "dope." He did a masterful job of cutting Balsamo's face, pounded the New York Italian's body relentlessly throughout, and won every one of the 10 rounds.

Balsamo Looks Amateurish. Balsamo may yet go on to become the middleweight champion of the world, but he was just a wild swinging, frantic and at times rankly amateurish fighter.

The Syracuse veteran gave Balsamo a boxing lesson the New Yorker will not forget for a long time. Risko's left jab—peculiar, chopping, and on occasion, glancing blows—started the claret from Balsamo's nose early in the fight and opened a gash alongside Balsamo's left eye.

The going was fast and furious from the start but from the sixth on it was a rout for Balsamo. Obviously worn out and bleeding from cuts on the mouth and one eye, Balsamo was virtually out on his feet in the last three heats. He winced repeatedly as Risko poured long rights to his chin and heart.

Risko Scores Knockdown. The only knockdown came in the fourth. After taking all the Italian had to offer for three rounds, Risko landed a terrific right under the heart. Balsamo went down for a count of one.

In the semi-windup bout Norment Quarles, New York, and light-weight, punched out a 10-round decision over Chino Alvarez of Tampa. Quarles weighed 134 and Alvarez 131½.

Alvarez, claimant of the Southern 135-pound crown, who came to New York to fight for a title bout with Champion Lou Ambers, was given one of the worst drubbings of his career.

TOP ROW, DOG, WINNER IN FUTURITY RACE AT FOX HUNTERS' CHASE.

By the Associated Press. FADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 28.—Top Row—magical name on the light—today headed the nation's list of the best young fox hounds for 1936.

Owned by O. De Gray Vanderbilt, Cincinnati, Top Row came up from third place to cop the National Fox Hunters Association's futurity, and win $300 and trophies for his master.

Two Kentucky dogs, among the first three leaders as the pack started the final cast yesterday, were swept out of the money by another Ohio and two "darkhorses" Tennessee-owned hounds.

Despite the fact she roamed loose all night and started behind the field, Lulu Belle Shanklin, owned by D. C. Stockman, Friendship, O., was second, followed by Polly Crowe, owned by R. L. Taylor, Memphis, Tenn., and Baby Ruth, owned by W. L. Brown, Lexington, Tenn., in order.

The grand national chase for all-age hounds, got under way today. It will be concluded Saturday.

Hist! Wrestling Is to Be "Cleaned Up" Again.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The first step in a brand-new campaign to "clean up wrestling" was taken by the New York State Athletic Commission yesterday.

Calling in every matchmaker in the city, the commission laid down the law respecting loose methods, then showed it means business by clapping a $1000 fine on one club for rule infractions.

Some Substitution. This club, the Coliseum, admitted it advertised a card featuring Ed (Strangler) Lewis recently, then substituted a wrestler for Lewis without notifying the public.

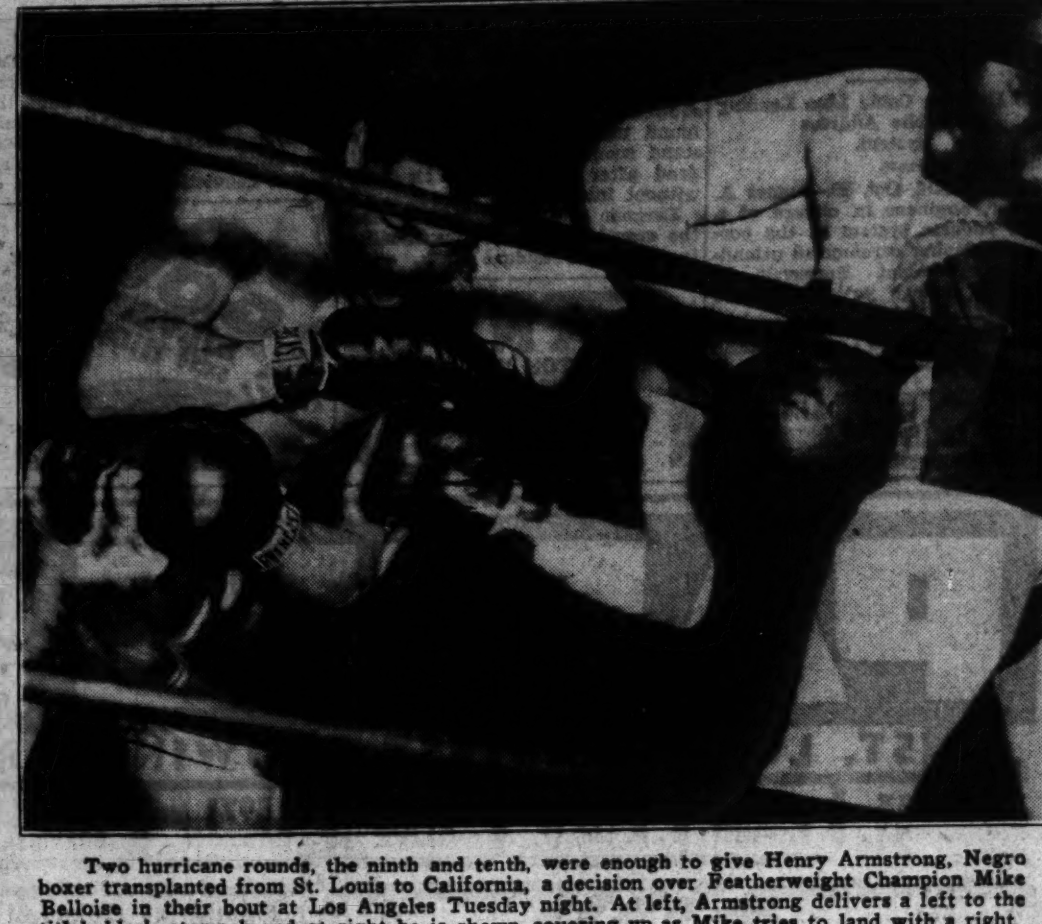

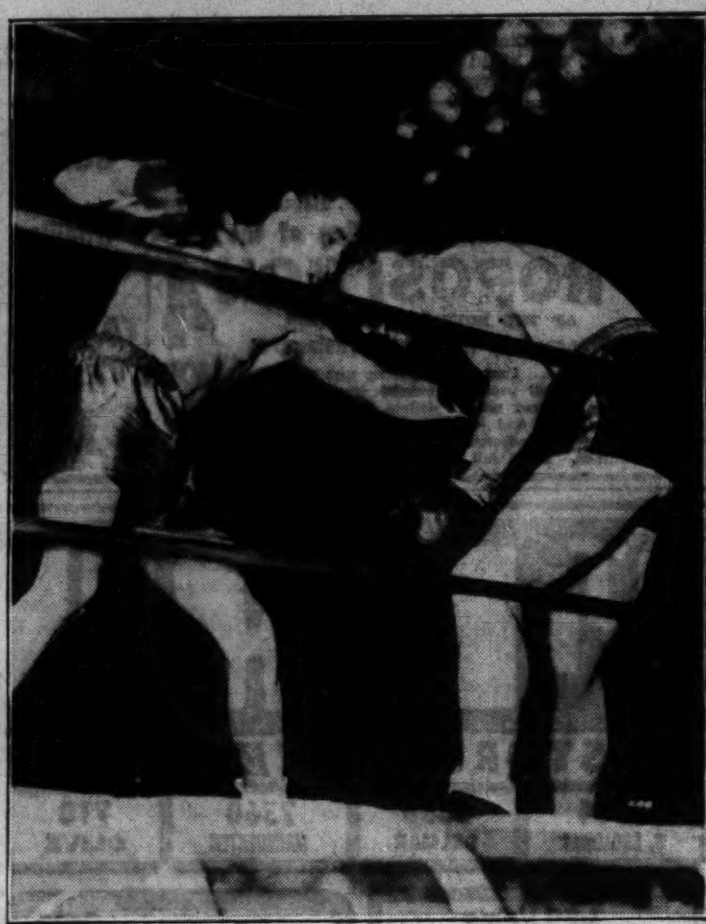

Bill Harkin, Coliseum matchmaker, said he guessed his press agent forgot to inform the newspapers of the change.

This was too much for Bill Brown. Banging his fist on the table, he shouted: "We'll either clean up this mess or get off the job. I'll not be a party to any such going on."

"Neither will I," agreed Chairman John J. Phelan. "We'll get to the bottom of it."

St. Louis Boxer Defeats Another Feather Champion

Brill, Wichita Eleven's Star Halfback, to Return To Duty Against Billikens

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 29.—Cheered by the return to form of their ace halfback, Harold Brill, the University of Wichita Shockers went through a light scrimmage session yesterday in preparation for the game with the Billikens of St. Louis U. here Saturday afternoon.

It was the last scrimmage of the week for Coach Al Gebert's squad and the team appeared in excellent condition as it raced through Billiken formations as used by the Frosh. Brill was particularly effective, getting away for several long runs and punting in excellent fashion.

The Shockers' speedster, who was out of the Oklahoma City game because of a chest injury, is rated as one of the finest ball carriers in the Southwestern.

Not only is he an excellent runner, but he is by far the leading kicker and is also rated as a top-notch passer. Against the powerful Texas Tech eleven, his punts averaged 52 yards and one was measured at 88 yards.

The season record shows the Shockers with two victories and one defeat. In their last meeting with St. Louis the Billikens won in a snow battle, 7 to 0.

Billikens Depart After Workout This Afternoon. After a workout this afternoon, Coach Muellerleile of the St. Louis U. Billikens will lead a squad of 28 men to Wichita, Kan., where, Saturday, they will meet the "Golden Shockers" of Wichita U. in the Billikens' sixth game of the 1936 season—a season in the course of which they have earned one victory and gained one tie.

In the departing party will be three centers—Gorman, Hartman and Christman—with five guards—Yates, Putnam, Kelsman, Volmer and Clark—and six tackles—Rosini, Cagle, Diffey, Best, Cianciolo and Padgen. Of the tackles, Rosini, Cagle, Best and Padgen are suffering from injuries. Cagle, however, had been named to start with Cianciolo.

Only four ends will be taken along—Captain Fitzgerald, Mitchell, Gayer and Ruhl, and the three quarterbacks to be taken are Drone, Veith and Walker, with Hemp, Nunn, Roemer, Totch and Shea as halfbacks, and Kloppeper and Herrmann for the fullback assignment. This is the smallest squad Coach Muellerleile has taken thus far on any of the Billiken trips.

Will Start New Backfield. St. Louis will start a new backfield—that is, new as a starting combination—when Johnny Veith goes in at quarter to call signals for Hemp and Shea at the halves and Kloppeper at fullback. As only one extra fullback is being taken—Herrmann—and three extra halfbacks, with two spare quarters, the chances are that all of the reserves will get into the action. And, that goes also for the extra lineemen, for, in a close game and a close one is expected, it doesn't seem likely to find use for 23 players.

The Billikens have been hampered all season by poor kicking. Drone, Nunn, Kloppeper, Shea and Hemp have been tried and the latter has shown best. It will be up to this clever little redhead to do what punting is required though he may be relieved at times by Ruhl and Veith. It is possible that, if the circumstances permit, Veith may be given an opportunity to kick a field goal. He always has been rather adept and a field-goal in time may save a game these days.

A ray of sunshine has broken through the clouds of gloom around Walsh Stadium. Mel McGonnigle, a sophomore who was a sensation last year as a freshman halfback, has put aside his crutches and, doctors assert, will be ready for service in time for the two last games on the Billiken schedule—those with Grinnell and the Washington U. Bears.

COOL DEFEATS LOU AMBERS IN NON-TITLE BOUT

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—Making his first appearance since winning the world lightweight championship from Tony Canzoneri, Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., lost a surprise 10-round decision to Eddie Cool, of Philadelphia, before 6000 in a non-title bout last night.

Ambers forced the fighting most of the way, but Cool, apparently following a set plan, either held the champion at arm's length with a left jab or tied him up in the clinches, while countering with rights to the head and body.

Judges Ed Loughran and Al Voice each gave Cool four rounds, Ambers three and three even. Referee Mat Adgle gave Ambers five rounds, Cool four and one even.

Cool won on his showing in the last round, when he abandoned his retreating tactics and forced the fighting for the first time. He landed several rights and lefts to the chin and followed through with body punches in close.

Cool made the champion look poorly on several occasions when Ambers backed the local boy into a corner. Cool always pulled through these spots by bending over low, weaving and ducking.

Referee Adgle warned Cool against holding in the third, but until the last he continued to tie up the champion's right in close while landing rights to the head and body.

In the fifth Cool staggered Ambers with lefts and rights, but Ambers weathered the storm and soon resumed his leading tactics. In the sixth Cool fell to the floor after missing a right swing, but jumped up. There was no count.

Ambers similarly fell in the eighth after missing a hard right and jumped up for no count.

Pilney to Wed. CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Andy Pilney, one of Notre Dame's 1936 football heroes, now coach at Weber High School, today obtained a license to wed his childhood sweetheart, Florence Rokos, Pilney, 23, and Miss Rokos, 20, will be married Nov. 7.

Dizzy Stuff. WILL Dizzy Dean be with the Cardinals next season? That's the "to be or not to be" puzzle for which fans are trying to find the answer. And, of course, there isn't any at this time.

In Florida Dizzy is popping off in regulation October style. In St. Louis Branch Rickey is admitting that Dizzy can be bought, if the offering is right.

There is nothing new in either situation, for Dizzy isn't himself unless talking in the fall about something that doesn't materialize in the spring.

Messrs. Braden and Rickey will any day admit willingness to part with any asset on the club if the trade can be arranged to suit them.

Dizzy's Florida utterances have no bearing on his future status with the Redbirds; and the possibility of his being traded by the Cardinals is strictly dependent on the Cards seeking more than they are getting in the deal.

There are very few clubs that could or would give the Cards in playing talent the equivalent value placed on Dizzy by the Redbirds' owner. Major-league club operators seldom wreck a team to acquire one player, even though he be a Dizzy Dean.

The odds are still even money that Dean will be pitching for the Cardinals next April. The Giants' offering of $200,000 will have to jump considerably to tickle Sam Braden's ear. And that's natural because $200,000 is only double what will be offered for the 27-year-old schoolboy wonder, Feller. If Commissioner Landis declares him a free agent.

"UNCLE" MACK GARNER. Premier of a dynasty of hard-booting jockeys, checked out of this mundane career yesterday, after having all but died with his boots on. He rode in four races yesterday afternoon, winning one.

Garnier was without doubt one of the really great riders of the country despite his middle age. Three seasons ago it was Garner who piloted Cavalcade to that imposing string of successes which established the son of Lancage as among the truly great racers of the American turf.

Garner takes with him to the grave an unexplained mystery. At the very peak of his achievements, that is to say the year in which he rode Cavalcade, the Brookmeade Stable released him for reasons never made public. If they were, this writer failed to see them.

The CASE of High Quest. STORIES, at the time, suggested that it was his ride on High Quest in one of the Eastern stakes, in which High Quest was cut down and ruined for racing purposes, that caused him to be demoted. But that sounds a bit thin.

Garner did not ride for a time, after his release, but later took to free lance riding and later obtained a contract.

Probably the defeat that most humiliated Garner was in the Freehand Stakes, when both Cavalcade and High Quest represented the Brookmeade Stable, which declared to win with Cavalcade, Garner up. Then, to the amazement of all, High Quest nosed out his stablemate, despite Garner's furious riding down the stretch.

KLEIN, BEARS' STAR, OUT OF SCHOOL SINCE DRAKE CONTEST

By James M. Gould. A bit chary of real scrimmages, because of the injury list which, while it gradually is decreasing, still is a menace to his peace of mind, Coach Jimmy Conzelman of Washington University will concentrate on signal work, blocking and place kicking for the time remaining before the game, Saturday afternoon, with the Oklahoma Aggies.

An up-to-the-minute report on the casualties would read as follows:

Joe Bukant, regular fullback—In fine form again and ready to play the entire 60 minutes if necessary.

Al Feist, captain and center—Much better but still favoring a bad leg. Probably will start Saturday but not likely to play throughout.

Bill Forreick, sophomore back—All O. K. again.

Bob Huggins, the Bears' best halfback—Vastly improved. Runs signals but can do no rough work.

Unlikely to start Saturday and likely to be used only if getting him into action might decide the game.

Les Brungard, regular end—Still limping a bit but an almost certain starter against the Aggies.

Jones Klein, great utility man—An unknown factor at present. Klein went home after being hurt last Saturday on crutches. He had not returned to school yesterday.

It will be remembered that the Drake game was lost directly because of Washington's failure to convert any of the extra point tries following three touchdowns. So, it has been decreed that everything possible shall be done to correct this weakness and Haffel, Lundy and sophomore guard Russ Meredith, are being worked daily perfecting this important place kicking.

Meredith is a new entry. He did the extra point kicking in high school and has shown form in tryouts which may make him No. 1 man if and when the Bears manufacture some touchdowns.

Seek Second Victory. The Bears really seem to be rounding to pretty fair form and, unless misfortune has a couple of extra frowns for them before Saturday, should be in Huggins' fettle for the battle with the visiting Aggies.

The Bears' nothing especially awesome in the 1936 record of the Aggies who will, like the Bears, be seeking their second victory of the season. As it happens, the one victory was in a conference game, Washburn being the victim. In other games, they have shown neither the offensive power nor the defensive strength displayed by the Bears.

Saturday is "Homecoming day" at Washington so there is added incentive for the players to strive for victory. Not that the Bears need any added "push" to make them hustle. As a matter of fact, the morale of the team has been very high all season; the trouble has been that the casualty list has been long. Certainly, there was nothing morale lowering in the Drake performance. They made as many touchdowns as did the Bulldogs, they didn't make as many, but, extra points and field goals, made a great many more fumbles.

But these Bears never let themselves get "down." They know that, at full strength, they are at least the equals of any of their opponents and they know this because, before the mass injury system set in, they had proved it.

It's Tough on Jimmy. Coach Conzelman is mourning the loss of three infected teeth, all on "the right side of the line." The molar gap interferes somewhat with Jimmy's mellifluous flow of conversation.

College football. It's the charge to get in that causes the old brow to buckle up like a washboard.

And how the pros would like to play in that cause of those college rates that turn out on Saturday afternoon! That would be somp'n.

Maccabees May Play Local Team In Another Game

Plans for another match between the St. Louis All-Stars and Maccabees of Palestine were discussed at a meeting this morning between Herman Obermann, legal representative of the Jewish soccer club, beaten in a game here last night, 3 to 2, and Charles DeWitt, president of the St. Louis League.

The Maccabees want to play another game and if they can obtain an extension of their time in the United States will play here again Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15. Obermann expects to be able to let DeWitt know in a day or so if his team can be here again.

A condition placed on the playing of another game by Obermann is that a neutral referee be used. If the game is played, a referee will be brought in from Canada.

By Dent McKimming.

In spite of rules, regulations and all the carefully-laid plans of peace-loving officials connected with the game, it seems a soccer match with international flavor can't be conducted on nice, friendly, neighborly lines. There was very little in the program at Wales Stadium last night to forewarn the crowd of 5500 of the fireworks that developed. The "exhibition game" ended in a fist-fight between players with the St. Louis all-stars winning from the heretofore undefeated Maccabees of Palestine, 3 goals to 2.

When play was halted by a general scrap in which several players of both sides exchanged punches, the Maccabee players, in a body, walked off the field, but Referee Joe Hand said after the game that their decision to quit the field was of no consequence to the playing time had actually expired at the very moment of the fight.

It Was All Over.

"There wasn't any more time to play," said the referee, "and had I succeeded in restoring order and placing the ball for a resumption of play, I would have been forced to blow a final whistle immediately, for time was up."

The wild melee in the center of the field at the finish was the crowning incident in a succession of collisions in which one or more players were injured. Time was taken out frequently while the wounded were ministered to, and for that reason playing time in the second half was extended four and one-half minutes. Each team made use of three substitutes, replacing injured players with fresh men. Although deliberate fouls were frequent in the second half, no player was ordered off the field by the referee.

This admittedly clever all-Jewish team from Tel-Aviv was obviously nonplussed from the very start by the rushing, bustling tactics of the St. Louis players. In the first few minutes the outside left, Panz, held up the game for repairs, and the paltender, Sidi, had to be escorted to the dressing room, unable to continue after he collided with a St. Louis forward. Spicy start; not hot finish.

All the wounded were not on one side. Muel Cuetto, Elmer Benoit and Earl Fay of St. Louis had quit the game, limping and Jack Simmermann barely survived, hobbling on a bad knee. Capt. Friedrich Donenfeld of the Maccabees was unable to finish because of an injury and a couple of others complained of aches and pains after the game. Some few escaped without marks and scars.

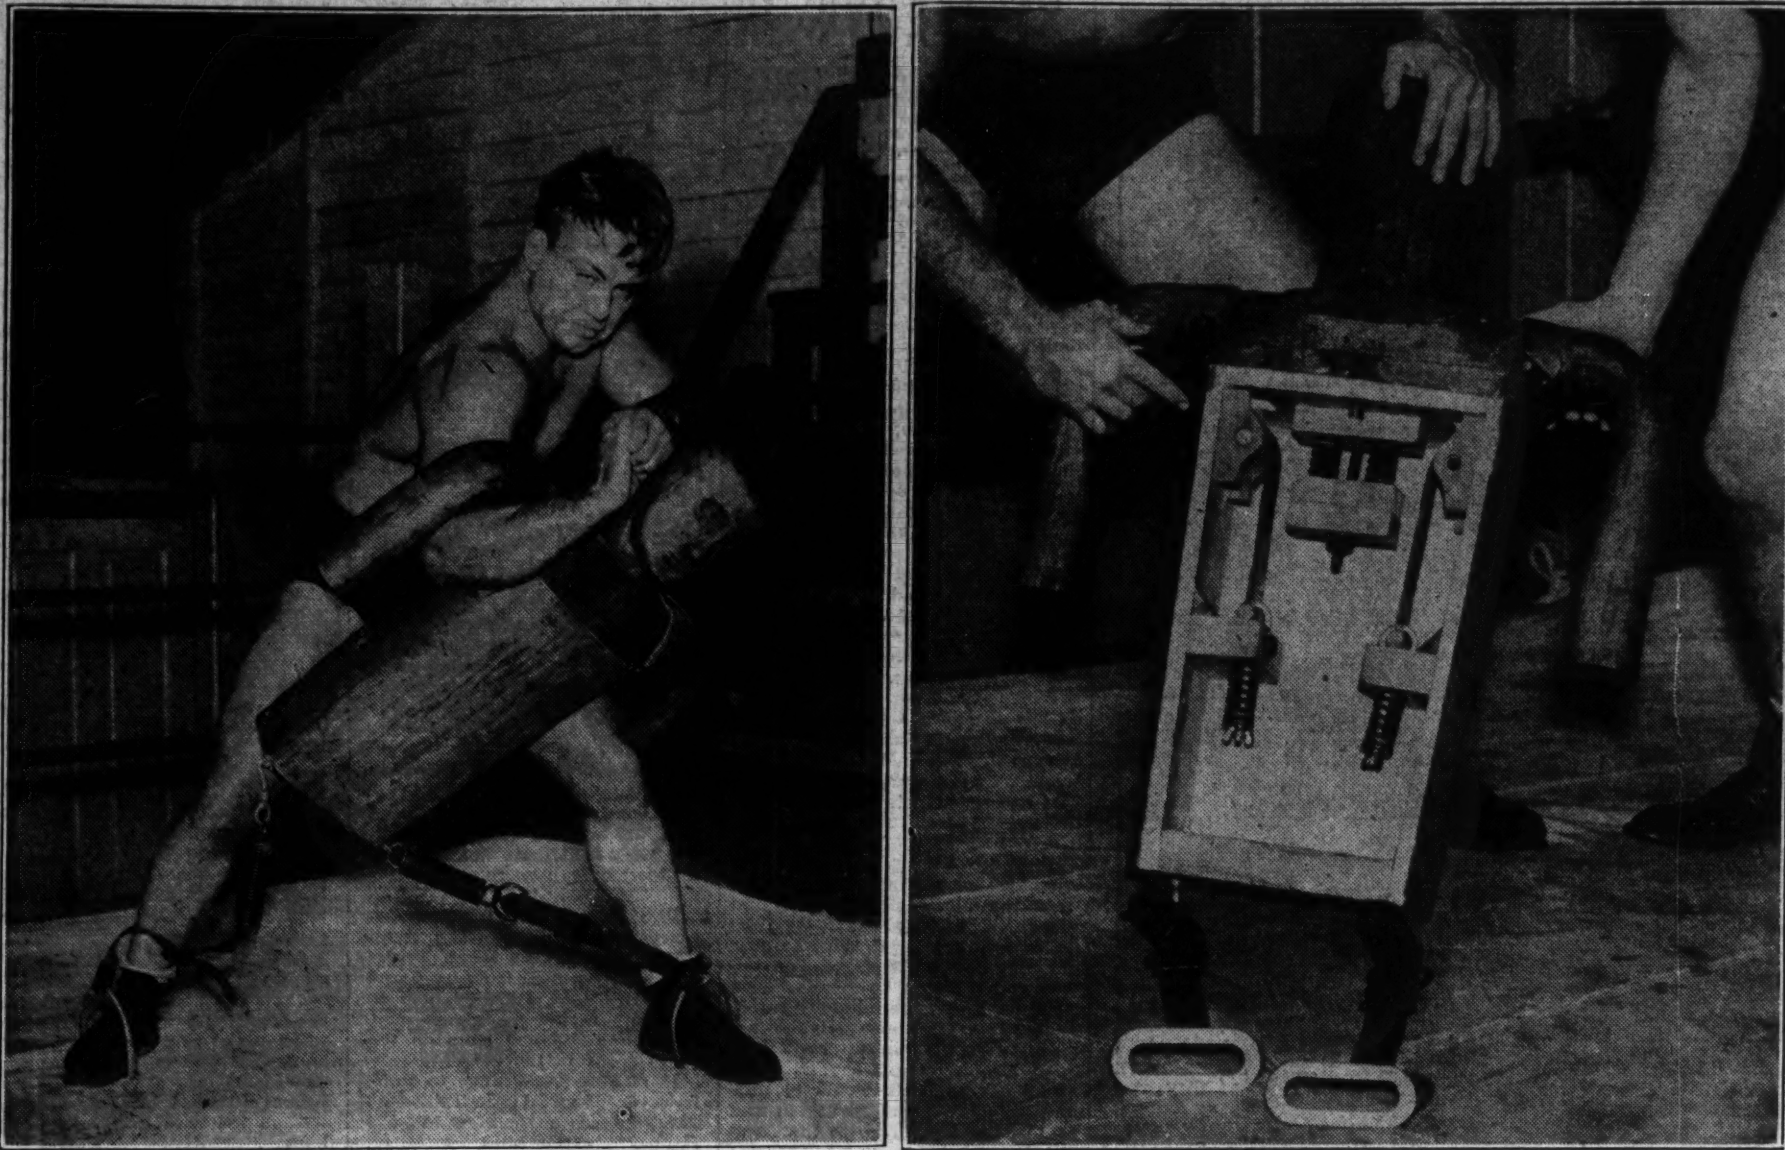

Why so rough? No particular reason except that the Maccabee club was trying to protect its remarkable record of no defeats in the past 30 games, and the St. Louis boys were trying to prove to the Maccabees and the rest of the soccer world that St. Louis still can win games.

Coach Says "Rough."

"Pokey," said Egon Pollack, coach of the Maccabees in the dressing room after the game. "That wasn't soccer. That was what we call English rugby. And the referee was the worst I have ever seen. Why did he take a goal away from us in the first half, claiming offense, and then turn right around and give St. Louis a goal in the second half when the center forward was two yards offside? Quote me, please. 'That's the good people of St. Louis.' The game that we were robbed of; the game that we never so much as kicked about on a football field and that never before in hundreds of games have we been forced to walk off before the expiration of time. That's not football."

It would take the wisdom of Solomon to decide which player or players were responsible for the start of rough play. In fact it appeared as though no one on the field had any objection to making it as rough as a stormy night at sea. It was a sort of professional hockey, on the football field.

Fine co-ordination in the Maccabee left wing led to the opening score, 14 minutes after the start. Center Forward Herman scoring on a backward pass from Panz. The visitors had the ball pretty well under control in those first 20 minutes but when the local forwards broke away for a blast at the Maccabee net they were very dangerous. At the 20-minute mark, Center half-back Platcek fouled an opponent at the center line and on the free kick, Fay of St. Louis put the ball straight forward to Simmermann's head. After some neat headwork, Nash to Leahy, the latter scored with a fast drive from six yards out, tying the count at 1-1.

A marvelous save. One minute later, Tom McGowan, the St. Louis goalie, fisted the ball away for a marvelous save and in the next minute the local team swept down the field to score again. This time it was Fay's long high center pass to Simmermann's head that did the trick, a very spectacular play. So the score was at half time, St. Louis 2, Maccabees 1.

It was not surprising that the Palestine team tied the score, but it took them 20 minutes of the second half to get the ball past McGowan. The right wing, Beth-Halevi, and Birshstein executed a bewildering piece of passwork to create an opening from which Herman scored.

But, as in the previous case, this only served to awaken the St. Louis forwards, and two minutes later Garcia's pass to Fay resulted in another fast pass between the full-backs on which Simmermann scored the third St. Louis goal—the winner. The Maccabee players protested vigorously, claiming Simmermann offside, but Referee Hand shook his head to their appeals.

There was no more scoring but there was a lot more excitement.

The Maccabees were not nearly so impressive as they were at Chicago. As Tom Scott, Chicago full-back, predicted after having lost to the Maccabees last Sunday, St. Louis speed and aggressiveness knocked the Palestine boys off their game. They seem to prefer slower opponents.

Play Next in Boston. Prior to coming here, the all-Jewish team had played six games in America and all opponents combined had scored only three goals. They depart today for Boston where they play Sunday.

Phil Kavanaugh, co-manager of the St. Louis Soccer League's picked team, was very happy over his team's victory. "That shows you

"Bolshevik Billy" Sandow Says Only Czar Can Save Wrestling; Marshall Meets Roche Tonight

A Bolshevik was shouting the need for a czar. If that sounds nonsensical, it may be added that this particular shouting was in the world of wrestling where sense and nonsense go hand in hand.

The self-styled Bolshevik was Billy Sandow, manager of Everett Marshall, a wrestler who will appear at the Arena tonight. The czar, Billy declares, is what wrestling needs to save it from the disrepute into which it has fallen.

"I'm not hooked up with anybody. I don't fall in with the plans of wrestling combines, so I guess I'm a Bolshevik," said Billy, who is well along in years but doesn't look it.

"But I can afford to be a Bolshevik because I have a wrestler who can really wrestle. He can beat Dean Detton. Why doesn't the Missouri Athletic Commission give him a match with Detton?"

"What this country needs is a wrestling czar like Judge Landis in baseball. Then maybe we'd find out who can wrestle and who can't."

Billy's pride and joy is to face Dorv Roche in the feature match of the Arena program tonight. Marshall, his manager, solemnly declared, will do no clowning. He will pin Roche as soon as possible. How soon "possible" is, Billy wasn't sure, as he has not seen Roche in action.

Sandow once was a good wrestler himself. That was so many years ago that he won't admit how many. The decline and fall of the rascal's empire saddens him no little, but he looks prosperous enough.

Athletic commissions are the special source of irritation to Billy. Take the Missouri commission. Billy has posted $1000, he says, with a challenge to Detton, but a lot of good it has done him.

"That big piece of cheese wouldn't be a heavy workout for my man Marshall. Why, my man has the strength of Hackenschmidt, the science of Dr. Roller and the gameness of Tom Jenkins."

Marshall, said Sandow, is recognized as champion in Kentucky, Colorado, West Virginia, Ohio, Wyoming and Illinois, and by the Midwest Wrestling Association.

The National Wrestling Association named Marshall, Leo Danie Boone Savage and Dean Detton as candidates for the world title.

ARENA PROGRAM

MAIN EVENT—Everett Marshall, La Junta, Colo., world's heavyweight wrestling title champion, 215, vs. Dorv Roche, Detroit, Ill., 205. "One fall to a finish."

SEMIWINDUP—George Zaharias, Pueblo, Colo., 230, vs. Tommy O'Toole, Houston, Tex., 230. Thirty-minute time limit.

QUICK ROUND—Jim McMillen, Antioch, Ill., 225, vs. Vic Mohl, Houston, Tex., 230. Thirty-minute time limit.

SECOND BOUT—Am Rader, Indianapolis Ind., 215, vs. Warren Rockwink, St. Louis, 220. Twenty-minute time limit.

FIRST BOUT—George Sauer, Lincoln, Neb., 180, vs. Babe Rodriguez, St. Louis, 180. Twenty-minute time limit.

The Place—The Arena, 6700 Oakland avenue.

Referee—To be named by Commissioner Ernest F. Oakley.

Time—First bout starts at 8:30 p. m.

strength of Hackenschmidt, the science of Dr. Roller and the gameness of Tom Jenkins."

Marshall, said Sandow, is recognized as champion in Kentucky, Colorado, West Virginia, Ohio, Wyoming and Illinois, and by the Midwest Wrestling Association.

The National Wrestling Association named Marshall, Leo Danie Boone Savage and Dean Detton as candidates for the world title.

Billy Threatens Suit.

"Why, you know what I'm going to do. I'm going to sue that association for injuring Marshall's reputation by classing him with those guys."

"Shades of Gutch and Jenkins! All that Savage has is a beard. If you brought Detton to wrestle in the states where Marshall is recognized as champion, the people would laugh him out of town."

Billy is also going to sue the Missouri Athletic Commission if it doesn't order a match with Dean Detton.

One of the evils of the present setup, Billy said, was that good amateur wrestlers are discouraged when they see how little merit has to do with becoming professional champion.

A czar would fix that up, the Bolshevik believes.

DEAN DECLARES HE'LL ASK FOR $50,000 FOR '37

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BRADENTON, Fla., Oct. 29.—Jerome H. "Dizzy" Dean, star moundman for the St. Louis Cardinals, today let loose a verbal blast at Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Redbirds, with the flat declaration that "it will cost $50,000 to get ol' Dizzy to pitch for the Cards next year."

"I'd sign for less with anybody else," Ol' Dizzy shouted. "The trouble started with the announcement of Rickey that he would trade Dean 'if it was good business.'" Dean said he understood that New York sports writers had stated a deal for him had already been made.

The baseball star declared: "If that's the case, Rickey apparently is trying to throw up a smoke screen, sour the St. Louis fans against me and soften them up for the announcement that I have been traded."

Earlier in the week, Dean had blasted Rickey's announcement with the question:

"How'd he expected to win the pennant single-handed?"

He also declared he didn't care who he pitched for, "just so I get my dough."

Would Like to Have Dean.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 29.—"We'll go to the limit to get Dizzy Dean," President William Bensawanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today in reply to a query as to whether the Buccaners were anxious to acquire the services of the eccentric hurler who has been placed on the auction block by President Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"If St. Louis is ready to talk serious business, so are we," Bensawanger said.

The Pirate prey declined to state what players he would part with if necessary.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29.—The Cincinnati Reds would like to get Dizzy Dean, and could use him—"But," Manager Drexler said today, "we probably would have to give up all our capable pitchers to satisfy the St. Louis officials, and we are not ready to do that."

General Manager Larry McPhail said there had been no negotiations between the two clubs, insofar as he knew.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—There is no possibility of an immediate trade between the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals involving Dizzy Dean, Gerry Nugent, president of the Philadelphia club, said today.

He explained the club had no money to lay on the line, and a glance at the roster reveals that the Phils are without any trading material likely to bring the St. Louis ace here.

Central College Players Will Go Without Shaving

By the Associated Press.

FAYETTE, Mo., Oct. 29.—CENTRAL COLLEGE co-eds have been temporarily deterred by the school's football players.

The Central gridiron heroes have agreed to "no dates" until the end of the season. That isn't all. They won't shave until after Thanksgiving.

Coach C. A. Clingenspeel, alarmed over his team's losing streak, proposed the "no date" idea this week. The players readily agreed to it.

The Eagles have lost five consecutive games, a record unparalleled since 1923. Last week's 16-0 defeat by Culver-Stockton was the first loss to the Canton (Mo.) team since 1926.

Lost 35 Games by One Run.

The Phillies lost 35 games by one run last season.

BUCKLER SIGNS TO MEET IRISH IN FIGHT HERE

Jimmy Buckler, the Kentucky Bulldog, was signed this morning by Matchmaker Jackie Callahan to fight Kid Irish, Alton featherweight, in one of the ten-round feature matches next Thursday night at the Coliseum.

The program, featuring a ten-round engagement between Billy Beauhild and Davey Abad, is being sponsored by the Navy Post of the American Legion.

Buckler, one of the most aggressive of the featherweight battlers, has fought the best in the 126-pound division. Last spring he put up a fine exhibition with Everett "Young" Rightmire at the Auditorium.

Irish knocked out Paul Lee at the Coliseum two weeks ago. Previously, Irish beat Mickey Genaro in a local fight.

Buckler will come here in a few days to begin training with the other six principals on next week's card who are already working out at the West End and Business Men's Gymnasium.

Johnny Miles, local light-heavyweight, while awaiting word as to whom he will fight in the third of the ten-rounders, is working daily with Jackie Nichols, who meets Charlie Dobbins, Memphis Negro, in his first professional bout.

SILVER SEALS REGAIN LEAD IN MAJOR CITY SCRATCH LEAGUE

The Silver Seals regained the lead in the Major City Scratch League by taking three games from Chas. J. Krona. The Brunswicks won three from the Atlas team, the Allhoffs two from Alexanders; Falstaff two from Watson Roads; Old Judge two from the Cabannes, and Missouri Pacific two from Wooster Lammers.

Glen Stieg of the Alexanders had high single game with 278, followed by Joe Walsh with 259. Individual high three was rolled by Art Zels of Watson Roads with a total of 707, followed by Walsh with 695 and Charles Biser, of Falstaffs, with 680.

The Allhoffs topped team single scores with 1070, and team three with 3042; second high going to Watson Roads with 3021.

SEVEN FIVES ENTER NORTH SIDE LEAGUE

Seven teams signed to play in the North St. Louis Sunday School Basketball League at the annual meeting of the organization last night at the North Side Y. M. C. A. Teams entered are: Fourth Baptist, Second United Presbyterian, East Grand Presbyterian, Third Baptist, Cavalry Baptist, Metropolitan Christian and Fourth Baptist Blues.

Games will be played at the Bethlehem gymnasium, 2500 Salisbury street. North St. Louis Sunday school teams that want to enter the league should write or see C. L. Messenbrink, North Side Y. M. C. A., 3100 North Grand boulevard.

Gophers Are 1-3 Favorites to Win From Wildcats

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—MINNESOTA'S gridiron force was a 1-to-3 shot against Northwestern today for Saturday's battle, in the books of Chicago betting commissioners. The Gophers were held at 1 to 3 in straight wagers, with Northwestern at 2 to 1. They also figured Minnesota to be eight points the better team in even money transactions.

Mahley Will Be Ready for Tiger Game Saturday

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 29.—Coach Don Faurot today felt certain the Missouri lineup Saturday against Nebraska at Lincoln would include at least three sophomores, with a fourth being run in to back up the line if Nebraska's running attack should threaten Missouri's goal line.

Henry Mahley, injured in practice yesterday, was released from the university hospital last night after doctors said the blow he suffered on the jaw was not serious. Faurot said the injury was slight and that the speedy back would be in uniform today.

Faurot indicated Henderson and Pieper, ends, would not be sufficiently recovered from injuries to see service. The status of Mason, full back injured last week, is not known, but Faurot said today Mason would leave with 33 players tomorrow if his injured ankle responds to treatment.

"SHRIMP" McPHERSON IS RECOVERING FROM INDIGESTION ATTACK

Alex "Shrimp" McPherson, until recently coach of the St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey Association, is in St. John's Hospital recovering from an attack of acute indigestion, it was learned today.

Reports stated that McPherson's condition is not serious and that he should recover within a few days. McPherson recently figured in a deal which sent him to Tulsa.

HUBBARD OBTAINED BY NEW YORK ELEVEN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The New York Giants of the National Professional Football League yesterday obtained Cal Hubbard, 255-pound tackle and American League baseball umpire, from the Green Bay Packers.

Hubbard was a regular with the Packers last season, but his baseball duties kept him from reporting to Green Bay when the 1936 pro football season opened and he was on the inactive list.

HIGH SCHOOL MUDDLE MAY BE CLEARED UP NEXT MONDAY

WHO'S WHO IN LEAGUE LIKELY TO BE DECIDED AT GATHERING

Supt. Gerling to Take Up Matter With Committee on Instruction — Saturday's Games Off.

By Robert Morrison.

The suspension of the Public High School League's football schedule, it was said today, was intended chiefly to bring about a definition of the athletic management's position rather than to test the question of a "free gate."

A spokesman who would not permit the use of his name in this connection explained the league board and principals of the seven city high schools, who constitute the management, desire to clear up their powers in relation to athletics. In the high schools, he said, athletics are separate from and not specifically recognized by the educational administration. The management never has had any form of permission to hold contests. It operates with no specified powers. The league directors are seeking to have those powers in black and white. Incidentally, they also want to settle the question of free admission to the stadium, a recently troublesome matter recently revived by Henry P. Schroeder, Board of Education member, who insists children unable to afford tickets must be admitted without charge.

Superintendent Will Decide.

To find out where they stand the league directors ordered the football schedule suspended, announced the superintendent yesterday, and referred the problem to the office of Superintendent Henry J. Gerling.

How it will be solved and by whom was not made clear by John Rush Powell, superintendent in charge of high schools, who said that Dr. Gerling was not yet prepared to make a statement concerning the situation.

It is probable that whatever decision is reached, league football will be resumed a week from Saturday, at least, with games scheduled for next Saturday at the Stadium to be played at the end of the season.

The directors, who want to know who's running the show, take the position that without admission charge to contests, the cost of athletics would be prohibitive.

A number of years ago the Board of Education authorized an admission charge for athletic contests, Dr. Gerling said.

May Be Forced to Quit.

It seems likely that if this point is pressed the board will reaffirm that authorization. Should it reverse the ruling, the schools likely would be forced to abandon athletics.

Schroeder said he had no intention of disrupting athletics in the high schools, but that he would make every effort to establish a free "gate" for children who were unable to pay for tickets, the price of which is 50 cents at the gate or 25 cents at the schools.

The league board, consisting of a faculty member from each high school, recommended the schedule suspension with this statement:

"Inasmuch as the manager of the high school league board has been informed by a responsible member of the Board of Education that the stadium belongs to the taxpayers, that the high schools have no right or authority to charge admission to the games, and has pre-emptively ordered those in charge of the gates to admit indiscriminately all who cannot afford to pay the price of admission, and since the proper conduct of the games and protection of the spectators is impossible under these conditions, the league board respectfully recommends a suspension of the current football schedule."

Meeting Next Monday.

The principals approved this move by the league board, "in view of the present emergency insofar as it involves undefined and overlapping responsibilities of the high school league and other authorities in the conduct of athletics."

It is expected that Dr. Gerling will bring the matter up for consideration at his regular meeting with the committee on instruction next Monday.

GOODMAN SCORES 71 IN PRACTICE ROUND FOR MEXICAN TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 29.—Johnny Goodman of Omaha fired a sub-par 71 over the Country Club course yesterday as a delegation of United States contenders began tuning up for the start of the Mexican amateur golf championship Friday.

Goodman's one-under-par round, and an even-par 72 posted by Lieut. Kenneth Rogers, United States army champion, were the day's best practice scores on the 680-yard layout.

The title will be defended by Ed White of Bonham, Tex., the 1935 winner.

Betty Jamison of Dallas and Patty Newbold, Kansas champion, are American contenders in the women's tournament.

Helen Jacobs Gets Her Letter

In a ceremony at the University of California Helen Jacobs (right), Wimbledon tennis champion and former student at the school, is given an honorary "Big C" by Mary McLaughlin, president of the women's athletic association.

300-GAME FOR SCHAEFFER IN CLASSIC PLAY

Even star bowlers find some days easier than others. Take for instance the Classic League, made up of the outstanding tenpinners in St. Louis. Last Sunday, the circuit rolled at the Wellston Recreation and a 2844 score was the high team total.

It was much different last night when the league rolled on the Del-Mar Recreation. When hostilities ended the following had been noted: One perfect game of 300. Four of six team totals over 3000. One 700 individual score and 14 others ranging from 599 to 615. Twelve team games over the 1000 mark.

The bowler who entered the game's "Hall of Fame" was Harold Schaeffer of the Budweisers. Starting with 215, Schaeffer "clicked" 12 strikes in a row in the second half for his perfect count and finished with 213 for a 728 count. Schaeffer's big score enabled the Budweisers to total 3152 and win three from the Witke with 2869. Bud Rice totaled 660 for the losers.

The Hermanns chalked up 3233, the best team score of the round and won three from the Say It With Flowers with 3149. Buzz Wilson, 686, and Otto Stein Jr., 655, were team leaders.

Although Hank Summers totaled 699, the Club Plantation finished with only 2908 and lost two out of three to Silver Seals with 3002. Chris Sotrell's 634 topped the winners.

YATES AND ZACH LEAD SIX-DAY BIKE FIELD

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 29.—Cecil Yates and Freddie Zach, American favorites, held to a narrow lead over the field in the six-day bicycle races here today, after disaster had struck two riders.

Mike Clarizio, who spilled after locking pedals with another rider on a turn, was in a hospital with a ruptured kidney.

Carroll Schultz, Minneapolis, was forced out of the race with cramps. His partner, Frank Lemjeur, teamed with Clarizio's former teammate, Frank Thelin, and continued the race.

MARQUETTE AND ST. MARY'S IN THE LIMELIGHT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Marquette's undefeated Golden Avalanche and the Gaels of St. Mary's who hold the opening spot on the Mid-West's biggest football program of the season polished off preparation today for their battle at Soldier Field tomorrow night.

Coach Edward P. (Skip) Madigan and his Gaels worked under the lights last night in Chicago's huge lakefront stadium, concentrating on ways and means of stifling the sensational forward passing of Marquette's Ray Buivid. The Marquette squad was due in Chicago today and will take its final workout tonight on the field of action.

Gophers and Wildcats. Minnesota and Northwestern which stage the main event of the football week Saturday at Evanston, tapered off work for their all-important struggle. Coach Bernie Bierman meted out tongue-lashings as the Gophers did some faulty ball-handling during a long general rehearsal. Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern's head man, gave his Wildcats a long, painstaking session on defense plans, and finished up with a brief drill on the offense.

The other Big Ten teams, somewhat overlooked in the excitement over the approaching battle at Evanston, whipped through final series workouts. Coach Francis Schmidt named 46 players, an unusually big squad, to invade South Bend for a revenge mission against Notre Dame. Elmer Layden apparently had given up hope that guard of the Irish, would be able to play against the Buckeyes and moved Jim Martin up to the regular eleven.

Michigan's plans for action against Illinois were upset when Bob Cooper, one of Coach Harry Kipke's better backs, suffered a shoulder injury and probably will not be able to play. The Illini were given a dummy drill, the regular Wednesday scrimmage having been called off to avoid injuries.

De Heer at Guard

Floyd de Heer, giant tackle, was moved to a guard spot as Iowa finished preparation for their meeting with Indiana, in an effort to tighten up the middle of the Hawkeye line. Hoosier hopes were raised by the return of Don Heistand, a shift halfback, and Bill Dileo, guard, who have been on the casualty list.

Chicago's offense was given a last going over before meeting Wisconsin, while the Badgers, showing plentitude of heart and spirit, finished with another session on plays and tackling.

Rated as One of the Greatest. Although he has played several seasons of hard professional football with the New York Giants, Dale Burnett is still rated one of the greatest backs in the game.

few who remembered the characteristics of Pompoon's sire. Apparently the 2-year-old star of the season inherits the falling of his daddy, who was a whirlwind up to a mile and a dud beyond that.

Pompey, on the strength of his 2-year-old record, was a hot favorite the year he ran in the Kentucky Derby. He showed there that he was little more than a sprinter.

With Pompoon it seems just another case of like father like son.

Open Field Casualties. IF YOU want to escape injury or fatalities in football, it's safer to play in the line than the backfield. The casualties of the season are again demonstrating that open play is the cause of majority of football accidents.

Washington University's line has, for example, fared better than the back field.

High school statistics, faithfully kept for insurance purposes, substantiate the theory that running, tackling and open blocking plays contribute most heavily to football injury totals.

In this connection it is interesting to note that of the 22 fatalities this year, a large proportion have resulted from head and neck injuries, probably due to headon tackling. Concussion, fracture and blood clots on the brain recur in the list.

It also is important to note, however, that practically no varsity team men were in the fatality list published yesterday. All were 20 or under. One casualty was only 6 years of age. Seven resulted in lot games and Carnival of Football. CHICAGO will be the hub of the football world this weekend, with Minnesota playing Northwestern in the outstanding game as a Saturday afternoon attraction.

As Soldiers' Field, Friday night, the powerful Marquette and St. Mary's teams will clash; and on Sunday afternoon the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay professional power-houses will climax the series of gridiron classics.

A Marquette victory will just about give Marquette first call over Catholic university eleven of the country; a Minnesota success will put the Gophers at the head of the all national championship candidates and a victory by the Bears will serve to enhance their lead in the race for professional honors.

In each case there is a fair chance for the favorite to bite the dust of defeat.

Oklahoma Dog Is All-Age Winner In Missouri Trial

By the Associated Press.

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 29.—"Tim Nugem III," a male setter, owned and handled by Herbert Scherers, Vinita, Okla., sportsman, yesterday was declared winner of the open all-age stake, final event on the annual Missouri field trials program at Sturgeon. Fifteen dogs competed in the event.

"Smoky Ginger," a male setter, owned by D. B. McDaniel, Houston, Tex., and handled by Jack Harper, Houston, won the second place. "Smoky Ginger" and "Tim Nugem" were paired against each other and ran the first brace of the open all-age stake. Both dogs found birds in their heat and handled them excellently.

Third place went to "Edmont's Joe," a male pointer, owned by

FLYERS BEGIN TRAINING FOR OPENING GAME

Under the direction of their new coach, John McKinnon, the St. Louis Flyers took part in their first official workout of the season this morning at the Missouri Athletic Association. Road work in Forest Park and a skating session at the Winter Garden will comprise the afternoon portion of the training.

The Flyers will wait until Sunday before engaging in their first practice game. Starting Sunday they will drill daily at the Arena.

Oscar Hansen, St. Paul's scoring ace last season, who came to the Flyers in a deal which sent five men to the Saints, and Swede Swenson, burly defense man, arrived late yesterday. The two players signed contracts shortly after their arrival.

Hansen, Swenson, Goaler Stopper Nelson, defense man Joe Matte and Leo Cabot and Forward Don Olsen were on hand at a get-together yesterday as McKinnon mapped out the training grid for the next two weeks.

Pete Mitchell, Frankie Ingram, Bobby Burns, Ollie Mulvihill and Pete Palangio, forwards, are expected today. Fido Purpur is not expected to start for several days.

The Flyers will start their home season Thursday, Nov. 12, at the Arena. They play the Tulsa Oilers here Sunday night, Nov. 15.

NEW YORK YANKEES AND CLEVELAND PLAY TIE IN "PRO" GAME

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The New York Yankees and the Cleveland Rams battled to a scoreless tie in the Yankee Stadium last night before a crowd of 20,000 to remain in a tie for second place in the American Football League race.

The Yankees made a threatening gesture in the first period when Ken Strong attempted to kick a field goal from the 29-yard mark but the try was wide. Neither team was able to gain any great amount of ground through the line, so they resorted to frequent punts. Cleveland attempting 14, while New York tried the air on 11 occasions.

The only threats toward scoring occurred when Bill Cooper of the Rams attempted to kick field goals in the first and third periods and three field goal attempts by Strong, in the first, third and fourth periods.

HAMILTON ASSAILS MODE OF HANDLING PENSION FUNDS

In Open Letter to President
He Charges Workers' Money Goes 'Into Pot to Pay Current Bills.'

'NO PROTECTION IN SOCIAL SECURITY ACT'

William Green Says There Is 'No Greater Security' Than Federal Supervision of Law.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Republican and labor spokesmen attacked and defended the Social Security Act last night while the Social Security Board asked the Justice Department to investigate "frauden-tous use" of the board's name.

In an open letter to President Roosevelt, John D. M. Hamilton, the Republican national chairman, said
in part:

"With the utmost respect, I cannot believe you read it (the law) or you could not have made the statement you did last Friday night over a nation-wide hookup, when you said: 'Our dollars are held in a Government trust fund solely for the social security of the workers.'"

"Really, Mr. President, there is no such provision in the act.

"No Protection," He Says.
"The money taken from our workers' pay envelopes, and taken from every employer of labor in addition, which starts off at 2 cents this January on every 99 cents the workers receive, and eventually reaches 8 cents for every 97 cents the worker receives, goes into the general fund of the Treasury.

"Once there, it can be used for any purpose the politicians elected to Congress decide. . . . There is no protection in the law, Mr. President. That is, none for the workers. Their money is not set aside.
It is used to pay current Treasury bills. . . .

"Under the unemployment insurance provisions of the same law,
those states which do not have unemployment insurance must send the funds they have accumulated to Washington if said states are to participate in Federal unemployment insurance.

"Three states have already sent their money to Washington. They received nothing but I. O. U's. Their money went into the pot to pay current bills."

In conclusion, Hamilton asked the President to "tell the country if you still think it should not be repealed."

Green Defends Law.
William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a radio address sponsored by the Democratic National Committee that the law would "enable workers to face old age with a feeling of security."

"The fund created will be carefully administered and supervised by the Federal Government. No greater security than that could be provided for such a fund," said Green.

Green briefly outlined the act's old age insurance clause as follows:
"Beginning Jan. 1, 1937, each worker will pay 1 cent for every dollar earned during the period of three years. After the expiration of this three-year period, beginning 1940, each worker will pay one and one-half cents for each dollar earned up to $3000 per year.

"This amount of tax will continue for an additional three years and then, beginning in 1943, each worker will pay 2 cents on each dollar earned for three years. Following that workers will pay one-half cent more for three years and finally, beginning in 1949, 3 cents on each dollar earned will be collected.

"During all this period, however,
the workers' employers will pay the amount equal to that paid by the workers. . . . Out of the fund thus created the old age benefits will be paid."

Board's Complaint.
The social security board reported its name was being fraudulently used in California, Illinois, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and other sections of the country in the form of a signature to posters concerning the act.

A sample poster exhibited by the board informed workers that their employers, under "the Social Security Act signed by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt," would be compelled to deduct certain amounts from their wages every pay day.
"This is not a voluntary plan.
Your employer must make this deduction. Regulations are published

Premier Blum's Double Budget Criticism by French Press

Increases Provided for Armaments—Bitter Debate Expected in Parliamentary Committee Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 29.—Critics of the Government predicted today a bitter parliamentary debate on Premier Blum's double budget.

Blum called a meeting of the Cabinet for today to discuss the attacks on the Government's action in approving increases in the ordinary and extraordinary budgets for 1937
—a boost of almost one-third from the $2116,000,000 of 1936 to $2,760,- 000,000 next year.

The newspaper Ere Nouvelle, declaring "Socialists have returned a double budget and special accounts for unlimited borrowing," urged Radical-Socialist allies to reject the program. The paper said the Radical Congress had pledged budgetary equilibrium, which was not in prospect with an already heavy deficit and the further borrowing proposed by the Government.

The Rightist newspaper Echo de Paris said the budget was an "unprecedented project" and declared the nation's confidence was sure to be shaken.

The newspaper Oeuvre, loyal to the Government, expressed apprehension of a parliamentary offensive, but Blum's newspaper Le Peuple defended Finance Minister Vincent Auriol for admitting a deficit instead of trying to conceal the truth.

Government supporters labeled the project a "transition budget" bridging the gap between former Premier Pierre Laval's policy of deflationary economy and the Blum program of "reflationary spending" designed to restore prosperity.

The Finance Committee decided to begin a detailed examination of the budget tomorrow. The major increase, under the new plan, would be in extraordinary funds totaling $844,000,000 for armaments, public works and unemployment relief.

More than half of this amount,
it was decided, would be set aside for strengthening the national defenses. The ordinary budget would allow another $688,000,000 for defense—making a total of $745,000,- 000 for armaments and defense.

He said that of $8,552,688 principal due on loans at the start of
this month, $6,543,897 had been collected. Total loans to farmers from Federal relief funds by the Tugwell
agency since its organization in
July last year, aggregated $87,066,- 409 to more than 350,000 farm families, he said. The loans were made for from one to five years with interest of from 2 to 5 per cent. The repayments involve only principal.

Tugwell declared the "practical success" of the program was demonstrated by "these healthy collection figures." He added that loans went to farmers "who had been unable to obtain credit elsewhere to carry on normal farming operations."

"The figures are more startling
when we consider the fact that the farmers receiving these loans were practically 'relief cases,' he said.
Collections "would have been much higher," he added, if the summer drouth had not caused delinquency
in some districts.

They seem to think it's a plan for Germany to want a share of the world's raw materials. Of course, we want a share and will get a share, too.

"The world should be thankful
we're trying to get it peacefully."
Have to do it because at the end of the war they stole our colonies from us.

"Now they ask us, 'why don't you pay in gold?' We answer, 'give us back our gold and we'll pay you in gold.'"

Goering said he had undertaken leadership in the program, "not as an economic expert, but as a great industrialist, but a person of un-bending will." He threatened profiters with the sternest reprisals,
saying they would be "treated unmercifully as swindlers and thieves."

Japanese Bankers Reported
Planning to Raise War Fund Newspaper Asserts They Intend to Contribute $14,000,000 Annually for Three Years.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Oct. 29.—The newspaper
Asahi today said a group of leading Japanese and Formosan bankers and industrialists is planning a general mobilization of all the big financiers in the country to contribute 150,000,000 yen ($42,760,000)
to Japan's war fund.

Hatsutara Akashi, sugar king and one of the promoters of the scheme, said: "Since the deplorable

Argentine Corn in Chicago
Ship Arrives With 85,000 Bushels; 110,000 More On the Way.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Carrying the first Argentine corn to be shipped to Chicago this season, the steamer John S. Pillsbury arrived last night with a cargo of 85,000 bushels consigned to the Norris Grain Co. The grain will be sold in the commercial market after going through regular inspection channels. Another cargo of 110,000 bushels of corn from the same source is scheduled to arrive aboard the George L. Torian next week.

A value of $1 a bushel was placed on the Pillsbury's cargo by Norris Co. executives. Domestic corn was quoted as high as $1.10 yesterday.
Importation of the corn was attributed by traders to the drouth which reduced domestic corn production far below normal.

TUGWELL REPLIES TO CRITICS; 76 PCT. OF LOANS PAID UP

Resettlement Chief Thinks Government Will Get Back Most of Its Rehabilitation Money.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Rexford G. Tugwell, Undersecretary of Agriculture and Resettlement Administrator—chief of the New Deal "brain trust" often singled out for hostile criticism—issued a statement yesterday in defense of his Resettlement administration.

"The record of collections answers once and for all prejudiced and partisan criticism" of the agency, he said. Announcing that 76.5 per cent of money due on rehabilitation loans had been repaid on Oct. 1, Tugwell said that "through these loans the Government is throwing its money to the wind."

"In my opinion," he added, "the preponderant majority of farmers under the rehabilitation program will pay out their debt 100 per cent."

He said that of $8,552,688 principal due on loans at the start of
this month, $6,543,897 had been collected. Total loans to farmers from Federal relief funds by the Tugwell
agency since its organization in
July last year, aggregated $87,066,- 409 to more than 350,000 farm families, he said. The loans were made for from one to five years with interest of from 2 to 5 per cent. The repayments involve only principal.

Tugwell declared the "practical
success" of the program was demonstrated by "these healthy collection figures." He added that loans
went to farmers "who had been unable to obtain credit elsewhere to carry on normal farming operations."

"The figures are more startling
when we consider the fact that the farmers receiving these loans were
practically 'relief cases,' he said.
Collections "would have been much
higher," he added, if the summer
drouth had not caused delinquency
in some districts.

They seem to think it's a plan
for Germany to want a share of the world's raw materials. Of course, we want a share and will get a
share, too.

"The world should be thankful
we're trying to get it peacefully."
Have to do it because at the
end of the war they stole our colonies from us.

"Now they ask us, 'why don't you
pay in gold?' We answer, 'give us back our gold and we'll pay you in
gold.'"

Goering said he had undertaken
leadership in the program, "not as
an economic expert, but as a great
industrialist, but a person of un-
bending will." He threatened pro-
fiters with the sternest reprisals,
saying they would be "treated un-
mercifully as swindlers and thieves."

314 PERSONS KILLED DURING ARAB STRIKE IN PALESTINE

Great Britain Withdrawing Troops
As Result of Walkout Being Called Off.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 29.—A total of 314 persons were killed in the 25 weeks of disorders in the Arab general strike in Palestine, Colonial Secretary William G. A. Ormsby-Gore reported to the House of Commons today.

Saying "the situation has improved rapidly" since the Arab strike was called off Oct. 12, Ormsby-Gore placed the casualties as follows: Moslems, 955, including 187
deaths; Jews, 385, with 80 deaths;
Christians, 60, including 10 deaths;
British army and air force, 125, with 21 deaths. The remainder of the casualties, the Secretary said, was divided between the Palestine police and the Transjordan frontier forces.

Great Britain, he said, already has taken steps to reduce the number of troops in Palestine, many of whom were sent there to reinforce garrisons during the disorders. A royal commission will leave next week to investigate conditions
there, Ormsby-Gore added.

Close co-operation with Yugosla-as the common aim of Czechoslovakia and Rumania after conversations between President Eduard Benes and King Carol.

A communique after the confer-asserted that "at the same time good will of the three states toward" the Italian-German European agreement was stressed.

It was emphasized also that members of the Little Entente would not interfere in each oth-deavor to harmonize interests with efforts to keep peace in Europe.

British Cabinet Changes.

POPE COMPOSING MESSAGE Communication on Marriage to Be Made Public Soon.

By the Associated Press.
VATICAN CITY, Oct. 29.—Pope Pius XI is working on an important document on marriage, possibly a new encyclical letter, which he intends to make public soon, prelates said today.

He has demonstrated great in-

DECREE SETS VALUE OF RUBLE

It Is Declared to Be Worth 4.25
Francs (Devalued) Instead of 5.
By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Oct. 29.—A Government decree yesterday maintained the arbitrary gold value of the ruble against the devalued franc and parity of the American dollar.

Whereas the old rate of exchange was three francs to one ruble, the decree sets it at 4.25 devalued francs.
The dollar remained unchanged in the decree, buying 8.66 rubles. The ruble circulates only domestically.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Satirical Toast to the G. O. P.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

HERE'S a toast to the G. O. P.—short, but not sweet. The Republican party! That noble institution, which, under Herbert Hoover, almost let the United States of America expire on its hands!

But history will record that we made a safe landing with Skipper Roosevelt, so why bother about a merely experimental Landon?

The Republican party put its big-league candidate for President, Senator Borah, in the political ash can. For, if Mr. Borah had been paid his weight in gold each year he served in the United States Senate, we Americans would still owe him money, substantially speaking.

Messrs. Harding, Coolidge and Hoover took the "rep" out of Republican—that is, all the "rep" that this unprogressive party has enjoyed since the broad shoulders of Lincoln and the other Roosevelt ceased to sustain it.

WILLIAM MORGAN HANNON.
New Orleans.

Query.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ON a recent Sunday morning as I sat looking out the window, my sight fell on the spectacle of a man, a fellow human being, raving a garbage can. When called on to receive some good food, the poor man took to his heels and ran.

Is this America, the land of opportunity and promise, where people eat from garbage cans and a benevolent Government burns wheat and kills pigs?

DONALD E. MOHR.

"Royal" and Common Votes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOW that Emily B. Procter, who writes from Bar Harbor, Me. (who perhaps is a rich woman who has a summer home in the North), has made it clear for your readers that a vote for the New Deal will mean approval of Roosevelt and his associates in the administration, the world can proceed on an even keel.

However, she warns us that the gang voters and the Communists are also going to vote for the New Deal, and her point is to warn us of associating our votes with their votes. This might be remedied that the overthrow of the eighteenth amendment was accomplished by the votes of others than truly "royal blood," but there was not much complaint made about the mingling of the "royal" and the common votes.

Strange Bedfellows.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IS it not an anomaly to see the cultured people of the Old South uniting with the Communists, Socialists and Negroes of the North to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt? Politics makes strange bedfellows!

The Jeffersonian Democrats, Americans before everything, are true patriots. Like Patrick Henry, they cry, "Give me liberty or death!" Their earnest words ring with sincerity as they rise to defend the Constitution and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Give heed to the future, Brothers of the South, lest ye be found wanting in the balance!

J. BASS.

Mr. Roosevelt's Strenuous Campaign.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

N President ever made such an active campaign for reelection as President Roosevelt. Heretofore, our Presidents have made a few campaign speeches and then stood on their record. It is true Hoover was an exception, and look what happened to him.

Roosevelt is out-Hoovering Hoover. He hustles from early-morning until late at night with his charming voice and graceful smile and tells you how he kept millions from starving. But he doesn't tell you he has added millions to the relief rolls and placed a burden of taxation on the laboring man that will endure throughout the ages. For, as Roosevelt says: "Taxes are paid by the sweat of the brow."

R. B. P.

Support for Roosevelt.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WOULD like to tell James A. Reed that the working class know that he doesn't give a whoop about them. I feel very sorry to have changed my attitude toward Reed, but lately he has been spending his efforts mainly in a series of soap-box calisthenics, attempting to tell the public that our President and those who support him are Bolsheviks.

I am a member of several organizations which endorse Roosevelt for reelection.

PETER G. PAPPAS.

Benefits of Proposition No. 4.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE following are reasons why every voter should vote "Yes" on Proposition No. 4, for restoration and conservation of the wildlife of Missouri: No additional taxes will be imposed; only money that is paid for hunting and fishing licenses will be used for restoration and conservation purposes; the Game and Fish Department will be placed in the hands of a non-partisan, non-salaried commission of four experienced men; the plan is a proved one, successful in Pennsylvania, Maine, Minnesota, New York and Colorado, and has helped these states commercially.

EDWARD K. LOVE.

"YOU PAYS YOUR MONEY—"

There were many humorous presidential sallies. And the whole affair became a laughing matter. A news report in Post-Dispatch of President's press conference of Tuesday.

Back in May, 1935, after the United States Supreme Court had bowed over NRA by a unanimous vote, the President of the United States called the reporters together in a special press conference and made his famous statement about how the Supreme Court had set the country back to the days of the horse and buggy.

The words of the President were solemn. They exuded gloom. All the reform-recovery measures of the administration had been imperiled by the NRA decision. Must the Government give up its efforts at crop control? If so, then we could expect 36-cent wheat and 5-cent cotton. The reporters wrote furiously to get down the President's forebodings.

The country, it seemed, was headed straight for chaos, all because the Supreme Court had called a halt on the regimentation of industry under the NRA codes.

Then, was no time for mirth and laughter, that cold gray dawn (so to speak) of the morning after. No wisecracks enlivened that press conference at the end of May, 1935.

Come (so to speak) the dawn of another and happier day. The President is again talking to the reporters. He is in a merry mood. The election, Jim Farley has told him, is in the bag. But the reporters fidget; they would like for the President to talk again about NRA. Gov. Landon has been prodding the President with questions, and young James Roosevelt has made some indiscreet remarks. Some people have said they are going to support the President in the belief that he will not try to revive NRA, and others are going to support him because they are convinced he will do just the contrary.

Will the President tell the electorate what he is going to do?

A reporter breaks the suspense. He refers to the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram's version of young James' remarks (namely, that the President intended to go out for a constitutional amendment to validate the NRA principles) and to James' charge of misquotation.

Pencils are poised over notebooks. Now for the great disclosure. Now for a solemn and nation-shaking revelation of the President's thoughts, like that of May, 1935.

The President says he naturally believes James' version of the Worcester speech. But he does not stop there. He continues to speak about the two reports of what James said. Now—now—it is coming!

"You pays your money," says the President, "and you takes your choice."

And beginning there, a merry time is had by all. One forward fellow asks bluntly whether the President is going to try to reinstate NRA. Mr. Roosevelt refers the reporter to his speeches. There are further efforts to draw the President out, but he gayly counters them all. The President laughs, everybody laughs. His secret remains intact.

What is the President going to do about NRA? You pays your money and you takes your choice. . . . Excuse all, laughing.

AN UNFORTUNATE POSTPONEMENT.

Bitter charges of political coercion in Pennsylvania have been made, against the WPA by Republicans and against private employers by the Democrats. Nationwide attention has been focused on the State by the controversy, and it would seem that the public interest would be served by a complete airing of the situation. Instead of this, the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee has refused to hold public hearings on the matter until after the election.

The committee's investigator, Louis R. Glavis, is a highly competent man, but public opinion has not been satisfied by his reports alone. If there has been coercion on either side, it should assuredly be exposed, and more important, steps taken at once to make it ineffective. If the accusations have been false, then this should be made plain, in justice to the individuals concerned.

It is not too late to begin hearings that would bring out the truth of the Pennsylvania situation. For the sake of its own prestige, the committee should scrupulously avoid any tactics that would lend themselves to the charge of "whitewashing."

SAVING WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY.

Washington University is going to be saved, even if it is necessary to discipline every student on the campus to do it. The school authorities, ever alert to mounting perils, have just struck another mighty blow for freedom. They have deprived Harold Clark, graduate student in physics, of his half-scholarship, worth $50 cash. Clark undoubtedly is a highly dangerous fellow. Not only is he a Phi Beta Kappa, but also a member of Sigma Xi, scientific honor society. It is said to see such a brilliant intellect turned to subversive purposes, and the university's broad tolerance is displayed in the fact that it permits the miscreant to continue attending classes.

Previously, the university powers—that he had crinkled down on two other campus menaces, Don Ellinger and Phillip Monypenny, by similarly depriving them of scholarships. We shudder to think upon how these three students were betraying their alma mater. Not only did they advise freshmen not to enroll in the R. O. T. C., but they used vulgar words like "sucker" and "mug" in doing so. It was the basest of ingratitude for students who benefit by the university's bounty in the way of scholarships to express an opinion about military training on the campus.

Washington University, of course, must be made safe for the R. O. T. C., and the best way to do that is to teach its critics a lesson. Probably there are many students who, if the truth were known, lack proper respect for the idea of teaching students to be soldiers. It should be possible to ferret them out. Why not launch a real Red hunt and round up the last traitor in a campus concentration camp?

FASCISM RULES THE BOOK SHELF.

When he wants to read a book, no matter what it is about or who wrote or published it, a citizen in a democracy goes to his favorite book shop or library and buys or borrows it. This is such a commonplace of daily life that it is difficult to realize that it is a privilege of citizenship in a free country. But it is, all the same, as the latest edict from Germany shows.

In honor of Book week, a new policy is defined by State Councillor Hans Jost, president of the Reich Chamber of Literature. "National Socialist books," he says, are henceforth "the only books that will go to our people." The list of banned books is a formidable bibliography, including hundreds of ancient classics and modern masterpieces that once were cherished by German culture. The Nazi era has been sterile so far as producing literature is concerned.

In a statement of amazing contradictions, Herr Jost further explains the Nazi literary policy. "I will not tolerate a dictatorship of the buying public," he says mildly, but: "The buying public is our people, and our people want to be and shall be convinced and led; that is the essential principle of our age." A little pressure may be necessary, for: "Christian art was likewise forced on its age with loving force." If loving force does not suffice, then: "Resistance will be broken with dynamite."

The free citizen, as he browses along the library shelf without a hint of governmental persuasion or leadership or loving force or dynamite, doesn't realize how well off he is.

THE REAL ISSUE.

Taking their stand on the admirable efforts of Secretary of State Hull to revive international trade, James P. Warburg and Dean Acheson have announced that they will support Mr. Roosevelt for re-election. (What an odd quirk of politics it is that Mr. Hull, only lately the stepchild of the administration, should now be its No. 2 hero!) Mr. Warburg is the author of that devastating book, "Hell Bent for Election," which came out a little over a year ago, and of "Still Hell Bent," which followed it by a few months. No more biting criticism of the President and his policies has anywhere been published. When Mr. Warburg came back into the Roosevelt fold, it was as if Herbert Hoover had announced he was going to support the President. The return of Mr. Acheson, who resigned as Undersecretary of the Treasury because of disagreement with Mr. Roosevelt's fiscal policies, was less spectacular; he had not written any books.

It is not to be doubted that each of these gentlemen felt that he had good and sufficient ground for his decision. What is questionable is the judgment that sets up the tariff policies of Mr. Hull, excellent though they are, as the criterion by which the Roosevelt administration shall be measured. We submit that the Roosevelt policies, taken as whole, have created an issue of infinitely greater importance in this campaign than the issue created by the differences between Mr. Landon and Mr. Hull on the tariff. We are convinced, moreover, that if Mr. Landon is elected, he will be compelled by events to pursue a course not markedly different from that of Mr. Hull. That, however, is beside the point. The point is that the all-embracing issue of the campaign is what Mr. Warburg, a few months ago, so vigorously said it was:

Mr. Roosevelt has definitely determined the issue which he must go to the country. He has definitely determined that the issue shall be whether or not we want to abandon the home rule principle, states' rights and the fundamental concept of our constitutional democracy in order to make a try for the "more abundant life" by setting up a bureaucratic dictatorship of "master minds" in Washington.

He has definitely asked us to decide whether we agree with Gov. Roosevelt, who in 1930 condemned such an attempt, or with President Roosevelt, who in 1935 recommends it.

Whether or not Mr. Roosevelt admits this to be the issue matters not in the least. His actions and his recent utterances can leave not the slightest room for doubt.

That, of course, is the issue, and Mr. Warburg's reiteration cannot obscure it.

THE IDAHO SILENCE.

Gov. Landon must, of course, be gratified with the support he has received from so many distinguished Democrats. He is the only presidential candidate whose election has been advocated by two former candidates of the opposition party for the high office. Other Jeffersonians, no less eloquent and less impressive only by a small margin, have pleaded his cause. It is something new under the sun.

Still, there is an obverse side. Certain Republican voices have not been heard. One in particular is that of the Idaho Senator, who, it has been ventured, might have resolved the problem of Illinois into a certainty. The gentleman from Kansas, it may be believed, would gladly have traded off several speeches by—let us say—John Hamilton for one blast from Borah.

PROPOSITION NO. 3.

Only seven states in the Union lack provision for teachers' retirement pensions, and Missouri is one of them. The backwardness of Missouri with respect to this sound educational measure is accounted for by a provision written into the Constitution of 1875. It is to make possible removal of this barrier that Proposition No. 3 will appear on the State ballot Nov. 3. (Only one other state, Texas, has such a constitutional barrier, and progressive citizens there, as in Missouri, are working for its removal.) It should be made clear that approval of Proposition No. 3 would not put a retirement plan in effect; it would merely authorize cities, school districts or the State to set up such plans if they desire.

The soundness of the pension principle has been demonstrated by long experience, not only in the educational field but in other vocations. For education, pensions have particular advantages. It is humane to retire teachers when their most effective period is past. The schools benefit, because the pension plan serves to attract more able persons to the teaching profession. Students benefit through being trained by a more efficient teaching staff.

Teachers' retirement systems usually are financed by contributions from the teachers themselves and by varying amounts from governmental units. The objection may be raised that such a measure would increase taxes in Missouri, but, actually, it has been found in many places that the system finances itself. That is, teachers who retire have attained the maximum salary level; they are replaced by new teachers at the minimum level. The difference, it has been found, often covers the cost of pensions.

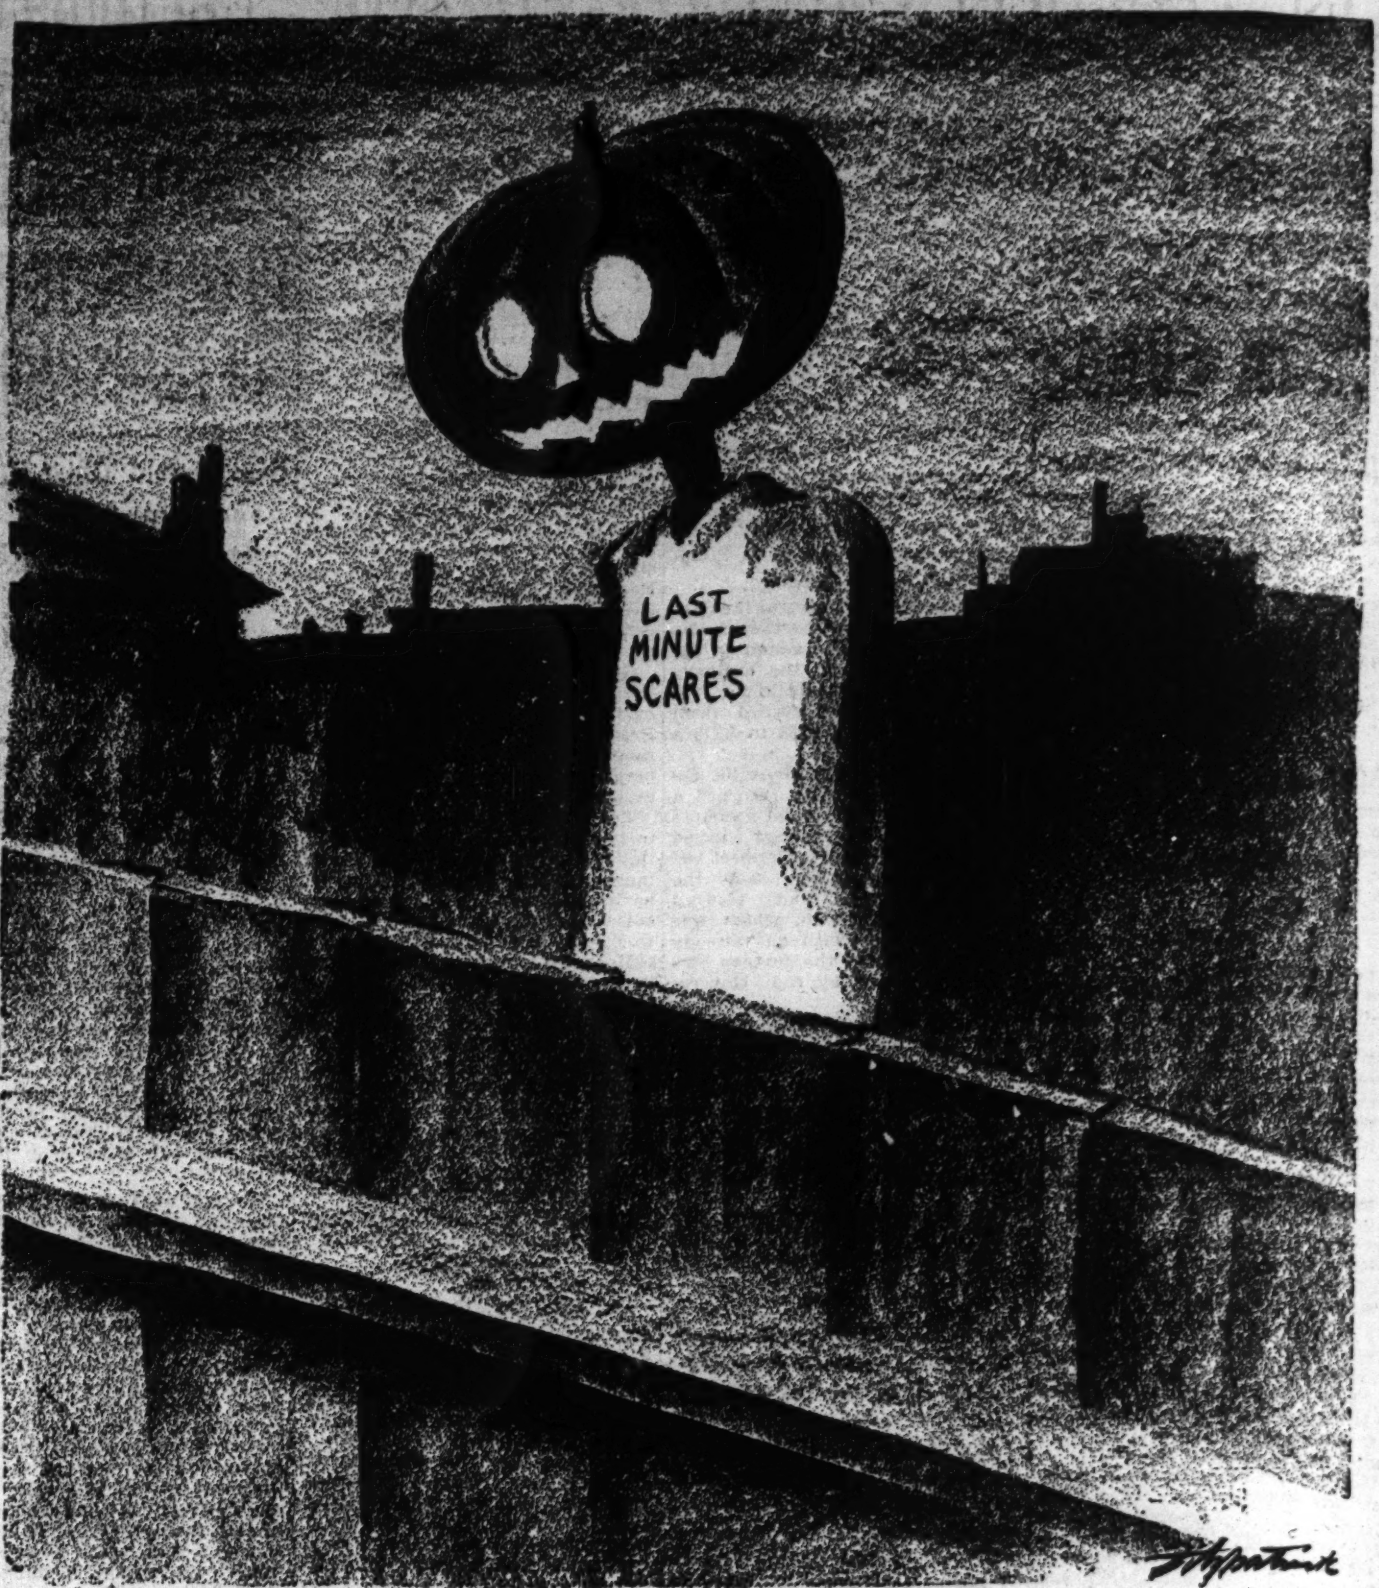

It is high time for Missouri to adopt this humanitarian and efficient plan in one form or another, and to cease lagging among the seven backward states. But before it can be adopted, the constitutional barrier must be removed. A vote for Proposition No. 3 is a vote for educational progress.

SLIGHT DISCREPANCY.

Said President Roosevelt in his address at Pittsburgh four weeks ago: "My administration has increased the debt in the net amount of eight billion dollars. . . ."

Said Secretary Wallace in an address at Belleville this week: "The Federal debt has been increased 11 billion dollars during the present administration. . . ."

One of these spokesmen, it is apparent to the most absent-minded listener, is wrong. There is a sizable discrepancy between their estimates, too; a difference, that, collected in $1 bills, would make a stack almost 500 miles high. The mathematicians employed by the President and his Secretary of Agriculture really ought to get together some time.

POLITICAL HALLOWEEN.

A Catholic View of Father Coughlin

Activities of radio priest disturb members of his faith, Catholic writer says; gives him credit for energy and rousing interest in economics, but finds he violates church rules on behavior and philosophy, and is also short on accuracy; thinks action will be taken after election, and that no more clerics will appear in political life.

Clarence J. Enzler, Ph. D., Professor of Sociology at St. Thomas College, St. Paul, Minn., in the Washington Post.

THERE is no problem more disturbing to the Catholic conscience in America today than this, "Must I yield to Father Coughlin the same submission that I give to my pastor?" Very few reply in the affirmative, and yet there are many sincere people who believe that Father Coughlin is the authorized spokesman of the Catholic church. Non-Catholics in large numbers blindly accept Father Coughlin as the official interpreter of papal encyclicals.

No less an authority than the Right Rev. John A. Ryan, S. T. D., of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, stated a few years ago that Father Coughlin was "on the side of the angels." Dr. Ryan later explained that he meant to approve both the goal of social justice of Father Coughlin and his energy in arousing the people to an active interest in economic problems.

Yet, on Oct. 8, 1936, Mr. Ryan, in speaking to a national audience, stated: "I say deliberately to the laboring men and women of America that Father Coughlin's explanation of our economic malaises is at least 50 per cent wrong and that his monetary remedies are at least 80 per cent wrong."

In economics, certain principles have been authoritatively indicated by Pope Leo XIII and Pope Pius XI. Certainly in them Father Coughlin finds support for some of his 16 principles. However, only six of his 16 principles are specifically enunciated in papal encyclicals.

The heart of Father Coughlin's monetary reform emphasizes abolition of the Federal Reserve and establishment of a Government-owned central bank; restoration to Congress of the sole right to coin and regulate the value of money; recall of non-productive bonds; abolition of tax-exempt bonds; broadened base of taxation on the basis of ownership and capacity to pay; conscription of wealth as well as men in the event of war. No matter how desirable some of these objectives may prove to be, they are not supported by papal authority.

In a recent radio address, Mr. Ryan stated: "Father Coughlin misuses the encyclical (that is, in speaking of credit) by implying that the Pope is speaking absolutely instead of conditionally. . . . The Pope is talking of a condition that sometimes obtains. He does not assert that it obtains always and everywhere and that it exists in the United States."

In April, 1932, Cardinal O'Connell expressed in vigorous terms an attitude of mind applied to Father Coughlin: "We do not like to hear almost hysterical addresses from ecclesiastics. They have a way of attracting attention they do not deserve. The fact is, they are not entirely just. We Catholics know the normal way the faith is propagated and its principles enunciated. When it is a question of universal truth, the head of the church, the Holy Father, speaks."

The excesses to which Father Coughlin has given expression during the past summer, particularly in his abuse of the President of the United States, have brought a vehement reaction against him from most Catholic editors. This thought, too, has been expressed in America: "Wherever he is mind or heart, the language that he uses is the language of the hustings; it is not the language of purely ethical indignation."

The editor of the Commonwealth states: "It is not likely that Mr. Ryan's radio address will cause many of Father Coughlin's emotion-intoxicated Catholic followers to use their reason, and thus to subject Father Coughlin's oratory to the logical analysis which so clearly reveals its fatal contradictions. . . . Father Coughlin's methods lead only toward discord or disaster."

In the Intermountain Catholic, Father Robert Dwyer writes: "However much we may regret this dissension, our conviction remains that the source of unpleasantness is precisely the political activities of the Detroit priest. . . . The American priest does not belong in party politics."

The Catholic church is no novice in dealing with Father Coughlin. It is not quick to condemn and it never condemns one unseen or unheard. That may or may not explain the attention given Father Coughlin by church authorities in Rome.

At the present time, there are churchmen who think that Father Coughlin, while tearing down what his own hands have wrought, has great possibilities for good. Unquestionably, the Catholic church will attempt to direct his energies into the channels he followed in 1930.

Pope Pius XI, in "Quadragesimo Anno," with which Father Coughlin professes familiarity, writes: "Let them not urge their own ideas with undue persistence, but be ready to abandon them, however admirable, should the greater common good seem to require it."

Church authorities know that Father Coughlin's fact-finding activities do not keep pace with his public pronouncements. Either the church must supply him with research assistants who can be trusted and who are comparatively impartial, or his activities must be restrained. It is apparent that no official action will be taken until after the November election.

At the present moment, certain members of the American hierarchy are advocating a plenary council for America. The last was held in 1877. In Article 83 of this council, priests are expressly commanded to "abstain from public discussion of political or secular matters, either in or outside of a church." The Bishops of Canada have passed a drastic regulation depriving priests who engage in politics of their benefices. Will the Bishops of this country do likewise?

While Father Coughlin personally may continue as a priest to appear upon the American scene, it is the writer's firm conviction that for the last time a Catholic priest has appeared as an active figure in political life, and that the mental turmoil occasioned by Father Coughlin's incoherence and peculiar activities will be solved once and for all within the next few months.

Whether the good achieved by the radio priest offsets the scandal he has given will be the subject for years to come. Even his foes must yield to him respect for stirring energy, for stimulating interest in political issues and for translating abstruse economic doctrines into intelligible phrases.

New National Pastime

From the New York Times.

THOSE two gentlemen at the next table are not quarreling over their coffee and apple pie. They are merely engaged in weighting a couple of presidential polls. One of them is weighting the Literary Digest poll to help out Mr. Roosevelt and the other is weighting the Baltimore Sun poll in Maryland to help out Gov. Landon.

Long ago, it got far beyond the elementary mathematics of majorities and pluralities and just plain rows of figures. It is now a question of the trend of figures, and their drift, and their shift, and their adjusted average. We take the 1932 Democrats who are now for Landon and multiply them by the Lemke first-voters who are the offspring of 1932 Hoover fathers and 1936 Roosevelt mothers, and we weight it all by the great silent mass which forgot to register in both years.

When the election is over, it will no longer be true that only 10 men in the country understand the Einstein theory. There will be 10,000,000 of us, all trained and hardened mathematicians. How could it be otherwise, with some 3000 polls let loose upon the American people, and every one of us busy trying to explain away the polls we don't like?

But, of course, we should never dream of using such a vulgar, amateur expression as "explain away." Nowadays people do not explain away. But wherever you turn, there are people engaged in "weighting" figures.

Maine does not actually have to go Democratic to insure the election of a Democratic President. It is enough for Maine to go lukewarm Republican for the nation to go Democratic. It is a question of the size of the Republican majority in Maine.

People seem to have forgotten that as Vermont went, so went the nation. Not that Vermont ever went Democratic, but if the Republican plurality in the Vermont September election was more than 20,000, it meant a Republican President in November; if below 20,000, it meant a Democrat.

But obviously, if we go in for such refined thermometric fluctuations, there isn't a single state that could not marshal a critical temperature point where it flashes the green or red light for the whole nation.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

From the Charlotte (N. C.) News.

PENNSYLVANIA'S Joe Guffey, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, discloses with indignation that the Du Ponts, Dukes of Delaware, have contributed enormous sums to the Republican campaign. Lamont leads the list with $105,000. Irene is down for $95,000 and Pierre for $84,000. Other du Ponts and du Pont Co. executives trail along to make up a total that would pay off about a sixth of the Delaware State debt.

"These figures are made public," Senator Guffey intones with all the disapproval he can muster, "for the information of the voter, to show who's financing the Republican campaign."

At about the same time, it was being announced from State Democratic headquarters in Arkansas that Mrs. Jimmy Cromwell, nee Doris Duke, had given the world's richest woman, had given $2000 to the cause. Why $2000 and why Arkansas? Well, political contributions no larger than $5000 are lawful income tax deductions. It is probable that Mrs. Cromwell will make similar gifts to this and that state organization, rather than to national headquarters in a lump sum.

But do the Democrats denounce this rich woman's gift? They do not. They think it's a plum cut of her. Somehow, they draw an ethical distinction between Duke handouts and du Pont handouts. Ourselves, we don't see the difference.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Nationalism and the Class Struggle: II

THE history of the last years in Europe, in which the class idea has consistently yielded, in a showdown, to the national idea, has been bearing on events at home. For it would appear that whatever leadership can most clearly incorporate the national idea in a practical program will control, eventually, the policy of the country.

One cannot follow the present campaign without the growing conviction that both major political parties are moribund. The Democratic party has yielded to the New Dealers, and thereby lost much of its leadership. The most effective spokesmen for the Republicans at this moment are Democrats. And however trenchant the criticism leveled at the administration may be, it remains that the opposition is chiefly asking the American people to vote against something in a few days' time, instead of for something.

I have doubted from the beginning whether this tactic would succeed. But if it does, there is an apprehension even among some of its supporters that it will establish only a "breathing space" for an economic boom which may be all too brief, after which the furies will be loose again.

Actually the psychological force which gave Mr. Roosevelt his first tremendous elan—which rolled up the votes for him in 1932 and sustained him so strongly for many months—was an awakened and conscious American nationalism, liberal in spirit, as traditional Americanism is.

It responded to this appeal for solidarity in the face of crisis; it listened eagerly to his comforting and confident words; it recognized his courage in pointing out serious national problems and delinquencies, and it responded to his avowed decision to do something about them.

That recognition and desire are still present in the American people. But a certain measure of it has been alienated from the President. There was a time when the President had the people of the United States in his confidence. One no longer feels that.

One does not know any longer exactly what the President is driving at, and he does not tell us. Also, confidence has been alienated by methods. There has been a tendency to talk a great deal about superior purposes and ends, but to be extremely careless about any old means of achieving them. But many thoughtful people are quite sure that the means are more important, if possible, than the end, and that the means, in the long run, always determine the end.

One cannot possibly believe that our social life is going to be purified by the political spasm which we are now assembled at the Democratic convention. And the fear of concentrated personal authority is very real indeed.

A regime which began with an appeal to all honest Americans and a request for disinterested collaboration has finally asked chiefly for trust and acceptance, rather than for understanding. For one can only co-operate with what one understands, and no amount of propaganda can take the place of unanswered questions.

On the other hand, the nature of some of the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt has won him support in unexpected quarters. The virulent hatred of the most reckless, often expressed in respect even for the high office he holds, the unbridled peddling of unsupported rumors, the personal gossip, publicly suppressed but whispered in drawing rooms, the hysterical complaints of impending ruin, uttered by people who have never, throughout the depression, known a moment of physical discomfort, all these, and even frictions, the truly conservative temper, which does not incline toward hysteria and has an affinity for manners.

It is, therefore, as a result of numerous factors, for not all of which the President is responsible, that Mr. Roosevelt's following has become more and more a class following. The New Deal threatens to become a class party. The emergence after the election of a Farmer-Labor party under trade union domination and with collectivist principles is predicted; under the aegis of the Government if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected; in the opposition, which will catch up most of the present New Deal sentiment, if he is not.

If that is the uncertain present and the possible future of the New Deal—and one must carefully qualify the probability—it ought to be primarily a cause of concern to Mr. Roosevelt, not to his opponents. If the President has given up his first attempt to consolidate the national will and come to rest instead upon class support plus an army of political spasm, then the New Deal idea is ready to be buried. New ideas based upon the "resurgence of the masses" along the lines of the class struggle will not prevail in this country. "Masses" is neither an American word nor an American idea. One can make this prediction with the simple confidence born of observing the invariable decay of such ideas in much more favorable soil during the last 20 years.

In not a single country has a party or movement organized on the idea of class division won and maintained the political power. I do not except Russia, for the Bolshevik revolution was a coup d'état.

It is probable that the class struggle will not prevail in this country. "Masses" is neither an American word nor an American idea. One can make this prediction with the simple confidence born of observing the invariable decay of such ideas in much more favorable soil during the last 20 years.

OSCAR JOHNSON AGAIN SYMPHONY PRESIDENT

Elected by Society for Fourth Year—Orchestra Season to Open Tonight.

Oscar Johnson, 38 Portland place, was elected for his fourth consecutive year as president of the St. Louis Symphony Society at the society's annual meeting at Jefferson Memorial yesterday.

The society maintains the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, which will open its fifty-seventh season at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Opera House of the Municipal Auditorium with an all-orchestral concert under the direction of Vladimir Golschmann. The concert was moved up from Saturday night so as not to conflict with the Republican rally which will be held for Gov. Alf M. Landon at that time.

Golschmann is beginning his sixth season with the orchestra. The program includes Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony, the first St. Louis performance of Albert Roussel's Sinfonietta for String Orchestra, Respighi's "The Fountains of Rome," and Wagner's prelude to "Lohengrin."

Speakers at the meeting yesterday included Oliver F. Richards, treasurer of the society; Mrs. Charles M. Rice, head of the Women's Committee; Miss Mary Roland Tausig, chairman of the Junior Division; and Arthur J. Gaines, secretary-manager.

Johnson has been one of the most active participants in the orchestra's work and the largest donor to the society's maintenance fund. He accompanied the orchestra on its tour last year and this summer toured Europe with Mr. and Mrs. Golschmann.

Gaines predicted that the orchestra was "now ready for what will be its finest season." He mentioned the new stage set and new lighting effects which will be used tonight for the first time.

Other officers elected at the meeting are as follows: L. Warrington Baldwin, Dr. Malvern B. Cloyton, Mrs. John T. Davis Jr., David L. Grey, Mrs. Irene W. Johnson, J. D. Wooster Lambert, George D. Markham, Joseph Pulitzer, Charles W. Wiggins, Mrs. Newton R. Wilson and Mrs. F. E. Woodruff, honorary vice-presidents; Henry T. Brinkworth, Mrs. Theron E. Catlin, Hugo A. Koehler, Mrs. Edward Mallinckrodt Jr., Morton J. May and Mrs. Rice, active vice-presidents; Richards, treasurer, and Gaines, secretary-manager.

Members elected to the Board of Control are Mrs. Willard Bartlett, Mrs. William Dee Becker, Mrs. O. K. Bovard, F. A. Brickenkamp, Mrs. Elsey G. Burkham, Mrs. Henry S. Butler, Dr. Oliver H. Campbell, Warren T. Chandler, Miss H. Blakesley Collins, Mrs. B. B. Culver, Mrs. E. G. Curtis, Mrs. J. Lionberger Davis, Mrs. Samuel C. ## Q. K. UNDERWOOD, FORMER NEWSPAPER WRITER, DIES

Retired 20 Years Ago, Was on Post-Dispatch and Globe-Democrat Staffs.

Quincy K. Underwood, former newspaper writer, who retired 20 years ago after a breakdown in health, died of pneumonia at St. Mary's Hospital yesterday. He resided on his farm, "Cherry Lodge," 3443 Brown road, St. Louis County.

Born in Helena, Ark., Mr. Underwood began his newspaper career at the age of 18 and came here about 12 years later after serving on the staff of the Memphis Commercial Appeal. He was assistant city editor and dramatic critic of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and later was on the Post-Dispatch staff.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Julia C. Underwood, church editor of the Globe-Democrat; his sister, Mrs. Virginia Underwood Glass of Cherry Lodge, and a niece, Mrs. Elmore R. Condon.

A tea planned for tomorrow by Miss Helen Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Knight, in honor of Miss Susan Elizabeth Thompson, the Velled Prophet Queen, has been postponed until Monday, Nov. 9.

Miss Thompson will leave tomorrow for Cambridge, Mass., to attend the Harvard-Yale football game at the guest of friends of her brother, Edmonstone Thompson, a student at Harvard Law School. She will return Monday.

A series of 10 art exhibitions will be shown at The Principia, first on the Elsie, 111, campus and then at Page boulevard and Belt avenue, starting next Monday and continuing through the middle of May. The school has agreed to pay the rental fee of 1 per cent of the price of the drawing to those artists who are members of the Artists' Congress.

Water colors by three members of the art colony at Woodstock, N. Y., will be shown first from Monday to Nov. 15. A group of mural sketches and cartoons by WPA artists will be shown starting Jan. 16.

MARRIAGE IN 1933 DISCLOSED

Morris B. Boone's Wife Was Former Evelyn Thornton.

The elopement of Miss Evelyn Thornton, sister of Mrs. J. Shelby Righthouse, 455 North Clay avenue, Kirkwood, and Morris Beecher Boone, son of the Rev. C. S. G. Boone, 400 North Taylor avenue, Kirkwood, was disclosed yesterday. They were married June 26, 1933 in Pontiac, Ill., but announcement of the marriage was not made until yesterday. Mrs. Boone, who is 28 years old, is the daughter of W. A. Thornton of Iowa, Kan., but has resided at the home of her sister for the last three years. Boone, 32 years old, is a department manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co. His father is a retired Baptist minister.

MRS. JAMES A. SEDDON DIES

Services for Wife of Former Circuit Judge Tomorrow.

The funeral of Mrs. James A. Seddon, who died yesterday at Barnes Hospital, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cathedral, with burial at Bellefontaine cemetery. She was the wife of a former Circuit Judge and was 69 years old.

She was the daughter of the late Judge John Wickham. Her home, known as Summerleas, was near Airport and Graham roads, St. Louis County. Surviving are her husband and two sons, James A. Seddon Jr. and Dr. John W. Seddon.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE engagement of Miss Alice Lyle Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Garrison, and Chester Clark Ogden was announced at a luncheon today. The party was given at the Garrison home, 4013 Delmar boulevard, where the wedding will take place Friday afternoon, Nov. 20, at 5:30 o'clock.

The bride-elect belongs to a pioneer St. Louis family. Her great-grandfather, Daniel R. Garrison, who, as a young man, became a director of the old Ohio & Mississippi Railroad (now the Baltimore & Ohio), built the road through to St. Louis in 1855, thus connecting the East and Middle West by rail. Mr. Garrison came here in 1835 from Garrison-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Alexander Lyle, a Virginian, and another great-grandfather of Miss Garrison, came here in 1826, and his old home still stands in Canandaigua Park. Still another great-grandfather, Jacob Lurton, came from Kentucky in 1817 and was the first Judge of Jersey County, Ill.

Miss Garrison is a great-niece of Mrs. John N. Booth, with whom she and her family make their home, and is a niece of Judge Nelson E. Lurton of Shanghai, China, a former St. Louisan. After graduating from Mary Institute in 1933, she attended the St. Louis School of Fine Arts at Washington University. She is former champion woman fencer of St. Louis and for two years has been champion for Missouri in fly and bait casting.

Mr. Ogden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ogden, 7644 Parkdale avenue. While a student at the University of Missouri he became a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He also joined Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society. He is associated with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Most of the party guests today were members of a club to which Miss Garrison belongs, formed during her Mary Institute undergraduate days. They were Miss Betty Berninghaus, Miss Ruth Tobin, Miss Mildred Bush, Miss Margaret Gilliam, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Jane Fischer, Miss Peggy Marquis, Miss La Rea Slay, Mrs. Adalbert Ayars Francis and Mrs. R. Marlin Perkins, a cousin of the guest of honor.

Hallowe'en colors predominated in the dining room, where the party was seated around a table with a pumpkin centerpiece surrounded by fall flowers. Just before the dessert was served, the lid was removed from the pumpkin and a doll bride and bridegroom emerged holding Miss Garrison's engagement ring.

Mrs. Garrison invited the following friends to sit with her at a smaller table: Mrs. Clement Williams, Mrs. David R. Williams, Miss Edna Houghtlin, Mrs. Ogden, mother of the prospective bridegroom; Mrs. John J. Rowe, Mrs. James F. Callaway and Mrs. Edgar F. Rehm.

A tea planned for tomorrow by Miss Helen Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Knight, in honor of Miss Susan Elizabeth Thompson, the Velled Prophet Queen, has been postponed until Monday, Nov. 9.

Miss Thompson will leave tomorrow for Cambridge, Mass., to attend the Harvard-Yale football game at the guest of friends of her brother, Edmonstone Thompson, a student at Harvard Law School. She will return Monday.

A series of 10 art exhibitions will be shown at The Principia, first on the Elsie, 111, campus and then at Page boulevard and Belt avenue, starting next Monday and continuing through the middle of May. The school has agreed to pay the rental fee of 1 per cent of the price of the drawing to those artists who are members of the Artists' Congress.

Water colors by three members of the art colony at Woodstock, N. Y., will be shown first from Monday to Nov. 15. A group of mural sketches and cartoons by WPA artists will be shown starting Jan. 16.

MARRIAGE IN 1933 DISCLOSED

Morris B. Boone's Wife Was Former Evelyn Thornton.

The elopement of Miss Evelyn Thornton, sister of Mrs. J. Shelby Righthouse, 455 North Clay avenue, Kirkwood, and Morris Beecher Boone, son of the Rev. C. S. G. Boone, 400 North Taylor avenue, Kirkwood, was disclosed yesterday. They were married June 26, 1933 in Pontiac, Ill., but announcement of the marriage was not made until yesterday. Mrs. Boone, who is 28 years old, is the daughter of W. A. Thornton of Iowa, Kan., but has resided at the home of her sister for the last three years. Boone, 32 years old, is a department manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co. His father is a retired Baptist minister.

MISS JANE WELLS, Velled Prophet Queen of 1934, and her fiancé, Clifton H. McMillan Jr., are to be complimented at several parties before their wedding, which is to be an event of late Saturday afternoon, Nov. 7.

Saturday night Miss Lois Burkham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elsey G. Burkham, 2 Westmoreland place, will give a dinner at her home and the following evening the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Terry, will entertain the bridal party at a buffet supper.

Wednesday and Thursday night's parties also are dinners, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. John S. McMillan, the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice Sheldon, respectively. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan, who have moved to Chicago, will arrive in a few days and will be with her mother, Mrs. Charles M. Folk, in the St. Louis Country Club grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon will give their dinner at the home of Mrs. Sheldon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bixby, 13 Portland place.

After the rehearsal a week from tomorrow the bridal party will be entertained by Miss Elizabeth Cole Freeman at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Freeman, 38 Brentmoor. The hosts and hostesses all are members of the wedding party.

Miss Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Wells, 53 Kingsbury place. Mr. McMillan is the son of Mrs. Clifton H. McMillan of the St. Louis Country Club grounds.

Mrs. Bennett Champ Clark is visiting friends in St. Louis for two weeks. At present she is with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pershall, 8051 Crescent drive, after having spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mayne, 7 Picardy lane. She will return to Washington after the presidential election Nov. 3.

Mrs. Thornton Poole Boland of Washington has arrived in St. Louis and is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Helms, 448 Maryland avenue. Mrs. Boland will be here until sometime in the winter, when she will go abroad.

Mrs. Robert A. E. Walsh entertained a group of debutantes and their escorts at dinner last night at her home, 24 Portland place, in honor of Miss Josie Conant, Miss Grizelda Polk and Miss Betsy Mahaffey. Other guests included Miss Claire Angert, Miss Nancy Bascom, Miss Elaine Bonnet Meyer and Miss Miquette Magnus.

Two St. Louis students at Dartmouth College, August B. Ewing III, son of Nathaniel W. Ewing, 46 Kingsbury place, and William Upthegrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Upthegrove, have been included in the corps of debutantes at the debut ball of Miss Elizabeth Sagendorf Nov. 25, in Boston at the Somerset Hotel. The debutantes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Adam Sagendorf, attended the Winsor School and is a provisional member of the Junior League.

The Junior Division of the Women's Committee of the St. Louis Symphony Society will hear its first pre-symphony talk at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the home of Miss Frances Bates, 6215 Lindell boulevard. Miss Martha Love will discuss this week's pair of concerts.

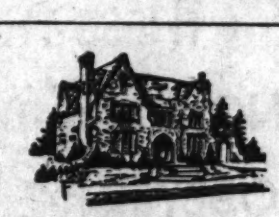

Mrs. Webster Tilton of New York will arrive Saturday to visit her brother, Lewis D. Doper, of the St. Louis Country Club grounds. Her daughter, Miss Ann Stickey, together with Miss Frances McPheeters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McPheeters, 4955 Maryland avenue, are attending Miss Child's Graduate School in Florence this winter. Mrs. Tilton will be here about six weeks.

Mrs. Paul B. Jamison, 6105 Lindell boulevard, is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Albert Jeffreys of Hollywood, Cal., who arrived here Sunday from New York. Mrs. Jeffreys will remain for two or three weeks.

Beautiful Suburban St. Louis

UNIVERSITY CITY CLAYTON RICHMOND HEIGHTS BRENTWOOD WEBSTER GROVES GLENDALE KIRKWOOD MCKNIGHT VILLAGE LADUE VILLAGE HUNTINGLEIGH VILLAGE MAPLEWOOD FERGUSON

It is inevitable that at some time bereavement should enter these fine suburban homes. It is most fitting that the Last Rites be held in comfortable surroundings, adequately exemplifying the station in life.

It is therefore well an acquaintance be had with funeral values. An inquiry into the Robert J. Ambruster Pre-Arranged Funeral Plan will prove illuminating as to details and costs, especially as the latter are no greater than elsewhere, indeed, because of the wider distribution of overhead, usually more moderate.

There is nothing to sell. A conference is for furnishing information only. Call CA 2429 for an appointment.

And so of impressive architecture, at the very entrance to these lovely gardens of homes, is the Robert J. Ambruster Mortuary, conceded to be the most beautiful structure of its kind in America by thousands who have traveled the length and breadth of our great country.

It is built from the ground up for the purpose. Throughout it is designed and furnished for accommodating the flow of service in an orderly manner. A thoroughly trained organization anticipates every wish.

But there is more than building, furnishings and organization. There are obvious spiritual values. It is a place blessed by sacred associations. It has ministered to sorrow. It has assuaged grief. It has brought comfort. It has inspired peace. The very substance of reverence pervades.

An invitation is extended to our suburban neighbors to call. The time of need may not be imminent, but when the occasion arises, remembrance may be had.

G. O. P. Candidate Asserts Young Persons Start With Debt Before Them.

By the Associated Press.
LACROSSE, Wis., Oct. 29.—Addressing a special appeal to first voters, Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, in an address here last night, charged the Roosevelt administration with prolonging the depression "distress" of American youth and curtailing its opportunities.

"With a capable and honest and intelligent Government," he said,
"we would long since have found a place for the youth of the land."
There is a "lost generation,"
Knox said, composed of young men and women who left school in the last seven years to find the world had no place for them. Some of these, he said, had been attracted to revolutionary doctrines, and now scorn the system into which they were born.

"I tell them their bitterness is misdirected," said the Chicagoan.
"The American system is not at fault. Recovery . . . was on its way four years ago. . . . All it needed was stimulation of enterprise, and a new administration in Washington restricted enterprise."

Young Wants No Charity.
"I charge the present administration with responsibility for this lost generation. I charge it with responsibility for these years of idleness and disappointment and futility. It boasts of bonodoggling and relief payments and charity to the young. And I say that the youth of America wants no charity at the hands of the Federal Government."

The opportunity for youth, Knox declared, has been reduced by one measure after another from the Roosevelt administration. He charged in addition that President Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture
Wallace, and Harry Hopkins, FERA administration, held to a philosophy of defeat and resignation with the "relief rolls and the concentration camp" as its fruits.

"It is the young people who will pay for the wastes of this administration," Knox continued. "Every one of them starts life with a burden of debt. Every one faces a rising cost of living. Every one faces the prospect of a reduced purchasing power of his wages and his savings."

"But they face more than this.
Across the Atlantic 300 million helpless people goose-step to the orders of dictators. Youths go to their daily tasks with the fear of the lash and prison shadowing them.
Under such a Government
there is no freedom of speech, or religion, or marriage, or education or opportunity. The present administration in America moves stead-

The cost of a one-acre plot and a house in the tract ranges from $1500 to $5000.

ly toward a regimented state."

5,000,000 First Voters.

Knox estimated that there are about 8,000,000 first voters who attained voting age since 1932. Their votes he said can decide the election, and he declared: "Next Tuesday the youth of this land will have an opportunity to preserve the American system."

"In no campaign before this one," Knox said, "has the form of government of our country been at stake. In no campaign has the Constitution been at stake. In no campaign has the solvency of the Treasury been at stake."

Government checks "will pour into Wisconsin," Knox predicted, in the final week of the election campaign, but, he declared, "I do not believe the farmers of Wisconsin will sell their birthright for a mess of pottage."

"You know you will pay back those checks with heavy interest!"
he added. "You know you are paying the imports of farm products, in industrial disorder in your State, . . . in the awful costs of relief."

Norman Thomas Attacks Act, Insurance Situation in General.

By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 29.—
Attacking the Social Security Act as "exceedingly unsatisfactory,"

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, told an audience here last night that the whole insurance situation "requires fearless and constructive investigation."

He attacked the act on three grounds:

"Failure to provide any arrangements for health insurance; inadquate grants for immediate old-age assistance through a plan that places the burden on younger workers, and grossly unsatisfactory arrangements for unemployment insurance."

"The law now provides nothing for those unemployed," said Thomas. "Hence, to get any of its benefits a worker now unemployed must first get a job, and then lose a job, in a state which has a compulsory insurance law."

"Then he will be eligible for the meager benefits such as the state grants and is able to pay."

He told the audience that the Socialist party did not offer such criticisms without constructive suggestions.

"Long ago we adopted the principles of comprehensive social insurance legislation, the principal cost of which should come out of the class which derives its wealth from the exploitation of labor with hand and brain," Thomas said.

He criticized the large insurance companies for what he termed their "grossly excessive" salaries, "outmoded" mortality tables, the "petty largess" of industrial insurance and the "dangerous political influence"

he said they wielded.

"This whole situation demands fearless and constructive investigation for which I promise to agitate, whoever is elected," Thomas said.
"Its grosser evils demand immediate legislation. As long as insurance still provides under capitalism some security, that insurance should be placed in the hands of state and genuinely co-operative agencies rather than in the hands of the great companies which have made insurance so important a part of finance capitalization."

"Life insurance . . . should be protected. It should immediately be investigated with a view to ending the legalized robbery now prevailing, especially on the part, by the great insurance companies."

New Deal Aid to Woman's Christian Temperance Union

It is customary for the United States Government to give financial aid to organizations of an educational or scientific nature holding international conventions in this country. However, it may surprise brewers to learn that the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union comes under this category, for, the following bill places $10,000 at the disposal of that organization. In the New York Herald Tribune we read, "Senator Alva B. Adams, Democrat, of Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee which handled the bill, said—that he knew nothing about the item except that it had been recommended in a last-minute Presidential letter. 'We just put it in to avoid controversy,' said the Senator."

APPLE WEEK BRINGS THIS FRUIT TO FRONT

Universally Liked Fruit Has Found Its Place in Many Delicious Dishes.

Next week is Apple week, when this simple, though universally prized fruit comes into its own. While the apple crop here in Missouri has not been very good this year, other sections of the country provide ample quantities for every man, woman and child.

Apples supply minerals and vitamins and the necessary bulk. They have found their way into numerous dishes from salads to desserts. The cook who does not have some apple recipes in her repertoire is passing up a wholesome and delicious possibility.

Spiced Apple Sauce Cookies.
One-half cup shortening.
One cup sugar.
One egg.
Two cups flour.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-fourth teaspoon cloves.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One cup thick, unsweetened apple sauce.

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually, creaming continuously. Whip in egg. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly and add alternately with the apple sauce—adding flour first and last. Drop from a spoon on a buttered cookie sheet about two inches apart.

Bake in oven 350 degrees F. until nicely browned. Remove the cookies with a spatula before they cool. One-half cup nut meats or raisins or a mixture of the two may be added. Makes four dozen cookies. These are good with tea.

Apple Ginger Marmalade.
Four pounds sugar.
One pint water.
One ounce ginger root, finely shaved.
Four pounds apples, finely chopped.

Four lemons, grated yellow rind and juice.
Make a syrup of sugar and water by boiling them together three minutes. Add the remaining ingredients. Cook until thick and clear. Seal in sterilized jars.

Apple Dumplings.
Six medium sized tart apples.
Flour.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
Six tablespoons sugar.
Two tablespoons butter.

Six tablespoons water.
Peel and core the apples. Roll them in flour. Place them in a baking pan. Mix the salt and sugar. Fill the cores with it and sprinkle it over them. Dot with butter and add the water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender. Baste occasionally. There should be sufficient thickened sauce to serve a little with each apple.

Apple Sauce Cake.
One-third cup shortening.
Three-quarters cup honey.
One cup apple sauce.
One-quarter teaspoon cloves.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
Two cups flour.
One cup raisins (seeded).
One-quarter cup walnuts.
One teaspoon soda dissolved in one tablespoon hot water.
Cream shortening and honey well, add apple sauce, then flour, spices and salt sifted together. Beat and core the apples. Roll them in flour. Place them in a baking pan. Mix the salt and sugar. Fill the cores with it and sprinkle it over them. Dot with butter and add the water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender. Baste occasionally. There should be sufficient thickened sauce to serve a little with each apple.

This cake can be made several days previous to the time of use as the flavor improves with age. It is a good cake for children.

Apple Tapioca.
Three apples, sliced thin.
One-quarter teaspoon nutmeg.
One-quarter teaspoon cinnamon.
Two tablespoons butter.
One cup raisins.
Two and one-half cups hot water.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
Three-quarters cup brown sugar.
One-third cup Minute tapioca.
Put apples and raisins in a deep, buttered baking dish. Add one-half cup of brown sugar, the spices and butter. Cook tapioca in a double boiler with salt, water and one-quarter cup brown sugar and pour over the apples. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until apples are soft. Serve warm with cream or hard sauce.

CODFISH BALLS
One cup salt codfish.
Two heaping cups diced raw potatoes.
One egg.
One tablespoon butter.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
Cook the soaked shredded fish and diced potatoes in boiling water until the potatoes are nearly soft. Drain thoroughly in a strainer and then return to the kettle and shake over low heat until quite dry. Mash them vigorously, add the butter, pepper, and well beaten egg. Drop by spoonful into deep fat at 355 degrees F. and fry for one minute or until delicately browned.

A Protection.
If the pie has browned before the filling is quite done, cover the pie plate with an inverted pie plate or pan and continue cooking until you are sure the filling is done.

In Case of Fire.
Flour will extinguish the flames of burning oil or fat.

Ham and Egg Canapes.
Butter, deviled ham, white bread, hard-cooked egg, seasoning. Cream the butter and ham. Cut the bread into rounds a quarter of an inch thick, and spread with the mixture. Separate the whites from the yolks of the eggs. Season the yolks with salt, pepper, onion juice and enough salad oil to blend to a paste. Chop the egg whites and season. Place the yolks in the center of the canapes and sprinkle with whites around the edge. Allow one egg for each two canapes.

Saled Bowl.
Salad green, four tomatoes, one cup sliced cucumbers, two cups cooked asparagus, six slices onions, six green pepper rings, one cup grated raw carrots, two-thirds cup French dressing, one-quarter cup Roquefort cheese, crumbled.
Chill any desired salad green such as chervil, cress, lettuce or cabbage. Mix and chill rest of ingredients. Place in large bowl and add rest of ingredients. Pass additional dressing.

CHOCOLATE FLAVOR HOLDS INTEREST

Aztec in Mexico Called It "Chocolatl" and Drank It Spiced.

Of all the flavors extant for dessert, chocolate seems to hold American interest. Ice cream, pies, cake and cookies are made tempting with the flavor that had its beginning long ago in Mexico when the Aztecs drank it as "chocolatl," with the addition of spices. The Spaniards who conquered Mexico added sugar to the drink and carried it to Europe. In 1657 a Frenchman opened a shop to sell it in London and in 1700 the English found that the addition of milk improved it.

The oldest chocolate recipe known in America is the famous recipe in the Washington family, credited to Mary Washington and called "black cake." It is really our devil's food cake which has come to be such a general favorite with men.

Chocolate Banana Cream Pie.
Three squares unwhitened chocolate.
Two and one-half cups milk.
One cup sugar.
Six tablespoons flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two egg yolks, slightly beaten.
Two tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One baked nine-inch pie shell.
Two egg whites.
Four tablespoons sugar.
Five or six ripe bananas.
Whipped cream.

Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar, flour and salt; add gradually to chocolate mixture and cook until thickened, stirring constantly; continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour small amount of mixture over egg yolks, stirring vigorously; return to double boiler and cook two minutes longer. Remove from boiling water; add butter and vanilla. Cool. Slice bananas into pie shell and pour cooled filling over them. Lay banana slices in circle around top of pie and pile whipped cream in the center.

Chocolate Rice Fudding.
Two cups cooked rice.
Two cups milk.
One-half cup sugar.
Four tablespoons cocoa.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Wash rice thoroughly. Heat the milk in double boiler, add the rice and cocoa mixed with sugar and salt. Cook until thick. Add the vanilla and serve cold with cream.

Parfait.
Two-thirds cup sugar.
One-third cup light syrup.
One cup water.
Three egg whites, beaten stiffly.
Two squares chocolate melted and cooled.
Two cups cream, whipped.
One tablespoon vanilla.
Cook sugar, light syrup and water until small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water (238 degrees F.). Pour syrup in fine stream over egg white, beating constantly. Continue beating until cool. Fold in chocolate, cream and vanilla. Place in trays of mechanical refrigerator for 3 or 4 hours, or pack in ice and salt. To serve arrange in parfait glasses, and serve with whipped cream or chocolate sauce.

Chocolate Date Cookies.
Two and one-half cups flour.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One package dates.
One-half cup shortening.
One cup brown sugar.
One egg.
Two squares chocolate melted.
One-half cup milk.

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and cinnamon. Work in dates (pitted and sliced) with finger tips. Add sugar gradually to creamed shortening; then the beaten egg and the melted chocolate. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Drop the mixture by rounded teaspoonfuls two inches apart on well-oiled baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 10-15 minutes.

Chocolate Banana Milk Shake.
One ripe banana.
One ball vanilla ice cream.
Three-fourths cup cold milk.
Two to four tablespoons chocolate syrup.
Slice or break banana into medium mesh wire strainer. Press through strainer with a spoon. Add other ingredients and mix in cocktail shaker, or fruit jar. Shake well and serve cold. Makes two drinks.

RICE MOLD

Two cups boiled rice.
One-half cup soft crumbs.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
One-quarter teaspoon paprika.
One-quarter teaspoon finely chopped onions.
Two eggs, beaten.
One-half cup milk.
Two tablespoons butter, melted.
Mix ingredients and pour into buttered shallow mold (round or ring). Set in shallow pan in which one inch water has been placed. Bake 30 minutes in moderately slow oven. Remove from oven and let stand five minutes in the water. Carefully unmold. Garnish with parsley.

Whipping Cream.
Whipping cream should have 30 per cent or more of fat, and should be kept cold right up to the time it is whipped.

MIXED GRILL
One pound ground lamb shoulder. Three strips bacon. Three pear halves (canned). Three pork sausage links. Buttered bread crumbs. Shape ground lamb lightly into three meat cakes. Wrap each with strip of bacon. Place on broiler with the sausages, and the pear halves, cut sides up, covered with buttered bread crumbs. Place broiler three or four inches under flame, close and allow to cook. Turn meat once, but not the fruit. Remove pears when delicately browned. They require eight to 10 minutes; sausages, 10 to 12, and lamb, 15 minutes. Arrange all on chop platter with watercress garnish.

For Icing.
Roll out lumpy confectioner's sugar with a rolling pin before attempting to use it in frosting. Otherwise it will have ugly little lumps throughout the icing.

A Cookie Note.
To flatten cookies, use the broad side of a knife which has been dipped in cold water.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND By DR. ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM Daily in the POST-DISPATCH

WINNIE'S WISH
AND HOW IT CAME TRUE

I WISH-
HAI HAI HA

MAMA, IF YOU HAD A WISH, WHAT WOULD YOU WISH FOR?

RIGHT NOW, DEAR, I'D WISH TO NEVER SEE A WASHBOARD AGAIN.

REMEMBER ME TO GET A NEW WASHBOARD, WILL YOU, ETHEL? MY OLD ONE'S...

WHAT, WINNIE? YOU STILL SCRUB CLOTHES IN THIS NEW PAY OF "NO-SCRUB" SOAPS?

BUT AREN'T THOSE "NO-SCRUB" GRANULATED SOAPS HARSH? DON'T THEY FADE...?

AND YOU SAY IT GETS CLOTHES 4 TO 5 SHAPES WHITER, TOO?

ABSOLUTELY!

MY WIFE SAYS IT'S ALMOST A MIRACLE HOW SUCH A SAFE SOAP CAN WASH SO FAST AND WHITE.

BUT HAVEN'T YOU HEARD? THE IVORY PEOPLE HAVE DEVELOPED A NEW SAFE ONE-GRINDOL. IT SOAKS OUT DIRT IN 15 MINUTES WITHOUT SCRUBBING OR BOILING AT ALL.

WHY ETHEL, IT'S THE WHITEST WASH I EVER SAW—AND ONLY 15 MINUTES' SOAKING!

AND IF YOU STILL DON'T THINK OXYDOL'S SAFE FOR COLORS, LOOK! HERE'S A COTTON PRINT DRESS I'VE WASHED SCORES OF TIMES—ISN'T IT FRESH AND BRIGHT!

GOODBYE, OLD WASHBOARD AND BOILERS—THIS CERTAINLY IS MY LUCKY DAY!

HOW NEW "15 MINUTE SOAKING" SOAP MAKES WASHDAY SO EASY YOU'RE AMAZED!

The latest amazing "no-scrub" soap invention, OXYDOL, comes to you from the makers of gentle Ivory. It is the result of a patented process which makes soap much faster acting, yet keeps it safe... a formula that makes it 2 to 3 times whiter washing than less modern soaps, by actual tests.

Just 15 minutes' soaking to the tubful... no scrubbing, no boiling... and white clothes come so white it will amaze you! Even tough spots come clean with just a few quick rubs between your fingers.

Yet OXYDOL is safe. Even sheerest cotton prints, soaked through 100 consecutive washings in OXYDOL suds, showed no perceptible sign of fading.

With OXYDOL you get thick, 3-inch suds—even in hard water. Suds that go to work on grease, dirt, stains, 2 to 3 times faster than less modern soaps.

White clothes come 4 to 5 shades whiter, by actual Tintometer tests. Yet every washable color stays brilliant, fresh! OXYDOL is economical, too. Tests show that it will go 1/2 to 1/4 again as far as even the latest soap chips on the market. One package often gives twice the suds—does twice the work—lasts twice as long as less modern soaps.

No wonder women by thousands are quitting bars, flakes, chips, and old-type "no-scrub" soaps for this remarkable new invention.

Try Under Money-Back Guarantee
Get OXYDOL from your dealer tomorrow. Unless it lives up to every claim, take partly used package back to dealer and get money refunded.

MANY NEW DISHES
INCLUDE CRANBERRIES

Tart Flavor and Bright Color.
Lend Zest to Cakes and Desserts.

Cranberries are in the market now, ripe and red, berries that made their beginnings a long time ago as the accompaniment to the Thanksgiving turkey and the Christmas goose.

Cranberries, once called crane-berries because their blossoms are shaped like a crane's head, have found their way into various dishes today. Their tart flavor and bright color now lends zest to cakes, pies, desserts and relishes. According to dietitians they are a good source of vitamin C and contain iodine and mineral salts.

Cranberry Orange Bellish.
This requires no cooking and is very good with hot or cold meats.
Put four cups cranberries through the meat grinder. Pare one large or two small oranges with a sharp knife, remove seeds and trim off the white membrane leaving the pulp exposed. Put the rind and pulp through the grinder and mix with the cranberries. Stir in two cups of sugar and let stand a few hours before serving. For future use pour the mixture into glasses and cover with paraffin.

Upside Down Cake.
Two cups cranberries.
Two cups sugar.
Three tablespoons butter.
One-half cup shortening.
Two eggs.
One cup milk.
Three cups flour.
Three teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Cream together the shortening
and one cup of sugar, beating well.
Add the eggs and vanilla and then the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Mix well.
Melt the butter and the remaining sugar in a skillet and then add the cranberries. Pour in the cake mixture and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 45 minutes.

Cranberry Sherbet.
Four cups cranberries.
Two and one-half cups cold water.

Two cups of sugar.
Juice of two lemons.
One teaspoon gelatin.
One-half cup cold water.
Soak the gelatin in one-half cup of cold water. Cook the cranberries with the remaining water until the berries stop popping. Add sugar and cook until dissolved then remove from fire and add the gelatine and strained lemon juice. Pour into the freezing trays and freeze for about two or three hours basing occasionally with the liquid in
the dish.

Cranberry Ham Slices.
Three cups cranberries.
One and one-half cups strained honey.
Two tablespoons whole cloves.
Two slices ham.
Mix the cranberries and honey,
grate the fat edge of the ham.
Place one slice in a baking dish and spread with a mixture of the cranberries and honey. Top with the second slice and cover with the remaining cranberry mixture. Garnish with whole cloves and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about one and one-half hours basing occasionally with the liquid in
the dish.

Cranberry Orange Pie.
Four cups cranberries.
Three-quarters cup orange juice.
One teaspoon grated orange rind.
Two cups sugar.
Two and one-half tablespoons quick cooking tapioca.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon butter.
Grind or chop the berries, add orange rind, sugar, melted butter, tapioca and salt. Mix well and pour into an unbaked pie shell and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for about 40 minutes.

INDIAN CURRY

One large onion, chopped.
One large apple, chopped.
Five large stalks of celery, chopped.
Four teaspoons curry powder.
Four cups cooked lamb (stewed lamb).
Two tablespoons seeded raisins.
Three egg yolks.
Three tablespoons milk.
Freshly grated coconut, almonds and chutney.
Sauté onion, apple and celery in butter until tender, but not brown. Add curry powder and cook one minute more. Add lean lamb, seeded raisins and enough stock to cover. Simmer for 20 minutes. Beat yolks of three eggs in the milk. Warm slightly and add to curry just before ready to serve. Serve on freshly steamed rice and pass dishes of freshly grated coconut, shredded almonds and chutney for guests to serve themselves. This recipe serves four.

HALLOWE'EN FEASTING BRINGS NOVEL SWEETS

Cookies and Cakes Help to Celebrate This Ancient Druid Ritual.

Of all the holidays observed by the American people, none perhaps has a more weird historical background than Halloween. Its origin is traced to the early belief held by the Druids that Saman, the Lord of Death, held final judgment over all the souls, which, in accordance with their belief in reincarnation, he had assigned to animals during the previous year. It was a highly solemn occasion, and was celebrated with great ceremony. All the relatives of the dead who were to be judged endeavored, by sacrifices, to secure light sentences for their loved ones. Black sheep were offered, and fatted calves. The ceremonies extended into the night.

A Druid Feast.

From this has grown our own custom of celebrating Halloween. The black animals, the pretense that witches and ghouls are beings from the other world in general were abroad, come from the rites of the Druids though they have undergone some change under Christianity, and the devil, as we call him, has usurped the place of the Druid god, Saman.

Halloween is one holiday, like Christmas, from which parents derive their fill of enjoyment through the fun which it affords their children. Although Halloween parties are given by many grown-ups, it is essentially an event celebrated by children, often in fact, to the despair of their elders.

Since this occasion is one for children, mothers may seize the opportunity to apply a Halloween touch to the food served on this day. There are countless ways to prepare some of our everyday foods in a manner appropriate for the occasion.

An excellent example of a food which children and grownups too enjoy the year 'round is peanut butter cookies. Everyone knows, of course, what a delicious spread peanut butter is for sandwiches, but far too many housewives apparently limit their use of this nutritious product to this alone. In reality there are many other uses for peanut butter in cooking. Peanut butter cookies have already been mentioned, but it is equally delicious in fudge, muffins, soup, as a flavoring for baked beans, and salads, and a host of other interesting ways.

If peanut butter cookery is new to you, the following recipe will convince you of the many possibilities this product offers. Check your pantry now to make sure you have a jar of peanut butter on hand.

Peanut Butter Cookies.
One-half cup butter
One-half cup brown sugar
One egg, well beaten
One and one-fourth cups flour
Three-fourths teaspoon soda
One-fourth teaspoon baking powder
One-fourth teaspoon salt
Cream butter and peanut butter together. Add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add well beaten egg to creamed mixture. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt together and add to creamed mixture. Chill dough well; then form into balls the size of a walnut. Place balls on lightly greased baking sheet. Flatten with fork dipped in flour, making criss-cross pattern. Bake in a quick, moderate oven, 375 degrees Fahrenheit from 10 to 12 minutes. Makes four dozen cookies.

To give an appropriate and fitting touch to Halloween to the peanut butter cookies, black cats are good to eat and easy to make. Frost the cookies with your favorite white frosting and while it is still soft, place a chocolate mint or candy water in the center. Allow this to set and the frosting to become firm before applying the melted chocolate.

Melt chocolate over hot water and keep just warm enough to prevent it from becoming solid. Use a toothpick to apply the melted chocolate to make head, tails, legs and whiskers of the cat. No two will look alike, but it doesn't matter for someone said long ago that variety is the spice of life.

Cocoa-Mocha Frosting.
One-fourth cup condensed milk.
One and one-half tablespoons strong black coffee.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Two and one-fourth cups confectioners' sugar.
Two teaspoons cocoa.
Blend sweetened condensed milk, strong black coffee and vanilla. Add confectioners' sugar and cocoa, which have been sifted together. Blend thoroughly. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two (nine-inch) layers, or top and sides of loaf cake, or about 18 cup cakes.

Chocolate Malted Milk Cake.
One-half cup butter.
One cup sugar.
Two eggs, separated.
One-half cup cocoa.
One-fourth cup chocolate malted milk.
Two cups flour.
Two and one-half teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon salt.
One-half cup condensed milk.
One cup water.
Cream butter until light and fluffy. Add sugar gradually, beating well. Add egg yolks, and beat again. Add cocoa and chocolate malted milk which have been first mixture alternately with one cup milk. Put spoonful of butter in greased muffin pan. On this place a teaspoon of apple butter. Cover with spoonful of batter. Bake in hot oven (400 degree F.) for 20 to 25 minutes.

Want the best cakes, pies, fried foods you ever tasted? Try Spry!

... everything will be so digestible, too

GET ready for compliments. Spry cooks all ways get them! Spry cakes and biscuits are so light and delicate, Spry pastry so tender and flaky. And foods fried in Spry are marvelous—crisp, light, tender and as easy to digest as if baked or boiled. Just try them and see.

Spry is ALL-vegetable, purer, whiter, smoother than any other shortening. It's triple-creamed, blends twice as fast, cuts cake-mixing time in half. Fries without smoke or unpleasant odor. Stays fresh right on the pantry shelf. No need to keep in the ice-box.

Spry saves you money, too. Just compare its modest price with the high cost of other shortenings used for cakes. Get Spry today. And be sure to make these delicious new doughnuts (recipe at right). The pumpkin gives them a delightfully different flavor. You'll love it!

Dot's "surprise" recipe for FROSTY PUMPKIN DOUGHNUTS

3 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons Spry

3/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
4 egg yolks, well beaten, or 2 eggs and 1 egg yolk
1 cup canned or cooked pumpkin (or squash, if desired)
3/4 cup thick sour milk

Sift flour, spices, salt, soda and cream of tartar together 3 times. Cream Spry and brown sugar until well blended. Add egg yolks and mix well. Add pumpkin, then milk, and mix thoroughly. (Delicious made with squash, too.) Add sifted dry ingredients and mix until smooth.

With a little handling as possible, roll dough on floured board to 1/4-inch thickness. Let dough stand 20 minutes. Cut with doughnut cutter.

Fry in deep Spry heated to 375°F, or until doughnut center browns in one minute. Turn doughnuts when first crack appears. (Remember, no smoke, smelly kitchen when you fry with Spry.) Drain on absorbent paper. When doughnuts are cool, shake in a paper bag with granulated sugar. Makes 2 dozen 2 1/2-inch doughnuts.

If sweet milk is used instead of sour milk, reduce milk to 3 tablespoons, omit soda and cream of tartar, and use 3 1/4 teaspoons baking powder.

Broiling is Popular Cooking Process

Thick Cuts Should Be Cooked at Lower Temperature for Best Results.

Broiling is one of the most popular ways of serving meat and its attractive appearance and flavor are greeted with enthusiasm. The method, however, is not greeted with the wholehearted enthusiasm that its due and broiling is a more or less neglected art.

Broiling is neither difficult nor involved even though the old school of broiling stressed frequent turning and close watching. When it was finally learned that searing meat does not keep in the juices it was recognized that there was no need of turning the steak until the side exposed to the heat was browned properly. The modern method is extremely simple. One turning is recommended.

Cuts for Broiling.

Cuts for broiling should be very tender and have little connective tissue. Porterhouse, T-bone, club, sirloin and rib steaks may be broiled successfully if they are sufficiently fat; otherwise they should be cooked by one of the methods used in preparing less tender cuts. Rib, loin, shoulder chops and steaks from the leg of lamb broil very well.

Veal steaks and chops are sometimes broiled, but broiling is a much better method because veal is the flesh of an immature animal. It has little external fat and no marbling, which is the intermingling of fat with lean found in other meats. The problem is to keep the veal from drying out during cooking and that is why veal is often protected by flour or an egg and crumb mixture, browned and then cooked slowly. Veal has a high proportion of connective tissue, which, though it is tender, requires somewhat longer cooking than beef to give the best results.

Ham Slices and Bacon may be broiled. Pork chops must be cooked to the well-done stage, therefore they require slower and longer cooking than beef or lamb. As with veal, the lower temperature is used to prevent driving off too much fat and drying out the lean portions.

Steaks Should Be Thick.

Neither steaks nor chops should be cut too thin for broiling. A beef steak should not be cut less than one inch thick. Some cooks prefer a thicker cut that is between two and two and one-half inches thick. Lamb chops are usually cut about three-fourths of an inch thick because this prevents drying. Chops and steaks cannot be done to a rare or medium turn unless they are sufficiently thick and so have a well-browned exterior.

Steaks and chops done to a turn as the saying goes, depend upon personal preference. Some prefer rare beef; others like medium and still others want steaks and chops well done. There is much to be said in favor of beef and lamb that is not cooked beyond the medium stage, as the meat is juicier and more flavor is retained.

An ideal broiled steak or chop should be browned on the exterior to develop aroma and flavor and give an attractive appearance. They should be juicy and uniformly cooked. The ideal standard for rare beef requires that the larger portion be heated only enough to change the color of the raw meat to a bright rose red and that the outer brown crust and the intermediate gray layer be as thin as possible. In a medium-done steak the heat is applied long enough to change the center to a light pink. The free running juices will be less than in the rare steak.

Time Required.

The time required to broil a piece of meat depends upon three things: The degree of doneness desired, thickness of cut, and temperature used. A meat thermometer may be used to tell when a steak or chop is done. The thermometer is placed horizontally in the steak before putting it in the broiler and the steak is removed when the thermometer registers the degree of doneness required.

There are differences of opinion regarding the best temperatures to use in broiling. The usual practice is to broil at a high temperature. The broiler oven is preheated for five or 10 minutes with the regulator set at 500 degrees. The meat is placed on the rack and the temperature is reduced to moderate (350 degrees). Most cooks now advocate the low temperature for better results.

The broiler rack should be placed so that the steak is about three inches from the source of heat. This gives a more evenly cooked steak or chop. When the rack is close to the flame the outside of the steak will be overdone and the inside quite rare.

Uniformity in doneness is apparent when the steak is cut. Where this has not been watched three definite layers will appear. The two outside layers will be well done while the center layer is quite rare.

Escalloped Potatoes and Peas.

Six tablespoons butter, six tablespoons flour, three cups milk, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one tablespoon chopped parsley, four cups diced cooked potatoes, two cups cooked peas.

Melt butter and add flour. When blended, add milk. Cook until creamy sauce forms. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into buttered shallow baking pan or dish. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE CAKE HELPS ENTERTAIN GUESTS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY

Your face may not be your fortune, but here's a chance to find that fortune in a piece of cake on Halloween, and "save your face" as a clever hostess. Even the darkest prophecy will be enjoyed if the cake is good, so first we'll tell you how to make an Orange Sponge which is an infallible foundation for the festive touches which dress it up for Halloween. Directions for the fortunes are given following the recipe.

Wheel of Fortune Cake.

Beat until very light yellow four egg yolks. Add (about two tablespoons at a time) beating after each addition: Three-fourths cup sugar. Add (about four tablespoons at a time) beating after each addition: One-half cup orange juice, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half teaspoon grated orange rind. Mix, sift and add (about one-fourth cup at a time): Two cups sifted flour, three-fourths cup sugar, one-half teaspoon baking soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Fold in carefully four egg whites, stiffly beaten. Bake in ungreased tube-cake pan in moderate oven (300 degrees) for one hour. Ice with orange butter icing.

Orange Butter Icing.

Three tablespoons butter. Two cups powdered sugar. Two tablespoons lemon juice. Two tablespoons orange juice. One teaspoon grated orange rind. Cream together, using more juice or sugar as necessary for good spreading consistency. For a deeper color, add a drop or two of orange vegetable coloring.

Before the final coating of icing, the fortunes on small pieces of paper, roll tightly and insert in the cake in a small hole made by a skewer. The place may be marked by a toothpick until the cake has been frosted and divided into eight sections by orange segments. Add chocolate to part of the frosting and number sections from one to eight. This is easily done by means of a cake decorator.

Before the refreshments are served, have each guest draw a number. The drawing may be made hilarious by having numbers on slips of paper sticking out of the mouth of an orange pumpkin face. Have each guest pull a "tooth." When the cake is served, each guest is given the piece of cake corresponding to the number he has drawn. If more than eight guests are present, two or more cakes should be served. Have the guests read their fortune aloud as they find them. Much fun will ensue when "certain" people get "certain" fortunes.

Fortunes should be original to create mirth. Here are a few suggestions, but try your own ability as a fortune-teller:

1. As long as you continue your present mode of living, you will find no change in the future.

2. Trust the person on your right.

only as far as you can see him.

3. The party opposite you may have a handsome face, but means no good for you.

4. A trip to Alaska—better bring your earmuffs.

5. Your future is being plotted against by two people whom you least suspect.

6. Tuesday is your lucky day.

7. You will soon find out that there are several things you shouldn't have done.

8. An airplane trip is in the offing.

WHIPPED CREAM BISCUITS

One cupful sifted pastry flour. Two teaspoonful baking powder. One-half teaspoonful salt. One-half cupful whipping cream. Mix and sift dry ingredients two or three times. Mix lightly with whipped cream. Roll or pat to desired thickness and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until golden brown, 12 to 15 minutes.

Mother: If Your Child Eats Poorly, Try This:—

OVALTINE is a delicious pure food concentrate first created in Switzerland and now approved by thousands of physicians throughout the world. It is particularly noted for the remarkable increases in weight and nerve power which so frequently occur when it is added to the daily diet.

For example, Mr. Edward W. Kuhn, 530 Tupelo St., New Orleans, La., writes: "My daughter had been very delicate. She weighed only 29 pounds, did not have any appetite, and had to be coaxed and forced to eat. We first started giving her Ovaltine less than two months ago. Now she weighs 41 pounds and has a wonderful appetite."

This letter, of course, covers only one individual case. And we do not claim or guarantee that similar results will occur in every case where Ovaltine is used. But this letter is so typical of thousands we have received, that we believe a thorough trial of Ovaltine is justified by every intelligent mother whose child is nervous and underweight.

Thousands of nervous people, men and women, use Ovaltine to restore vitality when fatigued. Ovaltine is also highly recommended as a strengthening food for nursing mothers, convalescents, and the aged—also for sleeplessness when taken as a hot drink just before going to bed.

Ovaltine is very inexpensive to serve—and can be obtained at all drug and grocery stores. You simply give it mixed with milk—either hot or cold—and children love its delicious taste. Note special offer at the right.

FAVORITE SOUP OF RUSSIANS SERVED WITH SOUR CREAM

Here is the favorite Russian soup made with beets and served with a bit of sour cream to give it a tang: Borsch.

One-half pound lean shoulder beef.
One-half pound neck of lamb.
Two quarts cold water.
One and one-half cups diced, peeled beets.
One diced carrot.
One cup diced celery.
One chopped onion.
One cup canned tomatoes.
Two thin slices diced salt pork.
One-half teaspoon flour.
One tablespoon chopped parsley.
One cup shredded cabbage.
Two potatoes, diced.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
One cup crumbled rye bread.
One egg yolk.
One-half bottle beer.
One-third cup slightly sour cream.

Cut the meats in small dice and add to the water with all the vegetables except the potatoes and cabbage. Mince the salt pork. Add to it the flour and parsley and stir into the soup. Cover and simmer for two hours. Then add the potatoes, cabbage and seasonings and simmer 30 minutes longer. Stir in the bread. Beat the egg yolk slightly and add the beer. Stir into the soup and cook and stir for three minutes; then serve in soup plates with a little cream in each.

Baked Apple Filled With Mince-meat.
Wash and core the cooking apples. Hollow out the center and replace with mince-meat. Place the apples in a baking dish. Sprinkle them with the brown sugar. And add one tablespoon of orange juice for each apple. Bake until the apples are tender. Baste frequently. Serve with a generous portion of whipped cream.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

Cranberry Meringue Pie.
One and three-fourths cups sugar.
Three-fourths cup cold water.
Four cups cranberries.
Two tablespoons flour.
Four eggs.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Four tablespoons powdered sugar.

Cook sugar and water to a syrup. Add cranberries and cook until they have stopped popping. Cool. Mix flour, salt, yolks of eggs until smooth and stir in three tablespoons of the juice of cooked cranberries. Then add to the berries and simmer for three minutes. Stir in butter and vanilla, set aside and cool. Turn into a deep pie shell which has been baked, cover with a meringue made of the stiffly beaten whites and powdered sugar and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Apple Snow.
Three-fourths cup cooked apples.
Three eggs whites.
Powdered sugar.
Rare, quarter and core four sour apples. Steam until soft and rub through sieve. There should be three-fourths cup cooked apple. Beat the whites of eggs until stiff; add gradually apples sweetened to taste. Pile lightly on a dish and serve with custard sauce. One tablespoon lemon juice may be added.

Apple Muffins.
Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one cup milk, one egg, four tablespoons apple sauce.

Sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk and the beaten egg and mix well. To this add the moist fat. Drop spoonfuls of the mixture separately in greased muffin tins. Add one tablespoon of apple sauce to each muffin, and then cover the sauce with the muffin mixture. Bake from 20 to 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This recipe makes one dozen muffins.

Speed Oider.
One quart cider.
One-half cup brown sugar.
One two-inch stick cinnamon.
One teaspoon whole cloves.
One teaspoon whole allspice.
One small piece mace.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Dash of cayenne.
Mix all ingredients together and bring to a boil quickly, then lower the flame to simmer and boil gently for 15 minutes. Strain, cool and pour over ice cubes to serve.

Doughnuts.
Four cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
Two eggs.
One cup sugar.
One cup milk.
Two tablespoons fat.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Deep fat.
Sift flour, measure and sift twice with baking powder, salt and spices. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and blend well. Add dry ingredients alternately with the combined milk, melted fat and vanilla. Add sufficient flour to handle, keeping the dough as soft as possible. Roll lightly to one-fourth inch in thickness; cut with floured cutter. Fry in at least three inches deep of fat heated to 365 degrees Fahrenheit, for three minutes, turning frequently. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes three dozen.

Colonial Oyster Stew.
One-fourth cup butter.
One pint oysters.
One quart milk.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
Pepper.
One teaspoon paprika.
Melt butter, add drained oysters and cook three minutes, or until edges curl. Add milk, salt, pepper and paprika and bring almost to the boiling point and serve at once with oyster crackers.

LANTERN SALAD ADDS TO HALLOWE'EN MENU

Parties are apt to be pretty much the same all year 'round unless you take advantage of the passing holidays. Halloween is an especially appropriate occasion for the hostess to entertain in a lively and festive manner. A simple and yet very appropriate part of your Halloween menu might be lantern salad. You may use either peaches or pears in preparing this attractive and delicious dish.

Lantern Salad.
Chill thoroughly halves of peaches or pears. If the latter is used, remove a slice from the smaller end so that the half will stand upright, and put together with a filling of cream or cottage cheese and chopped nuts. Arrange on nests of crisp lettuce on well chilled salad plates. Top with a chocolate cookie and a marshmallow, or a chocolate drop placed on a mint. You may use whatever material you have on hand for the faces. Claws are perhaps the easiest to use, although it is easy to cut gashes for eyes, nose and mouth and insert bits of candy. A bit of pimiento or red apple peel may be used for the mouth.

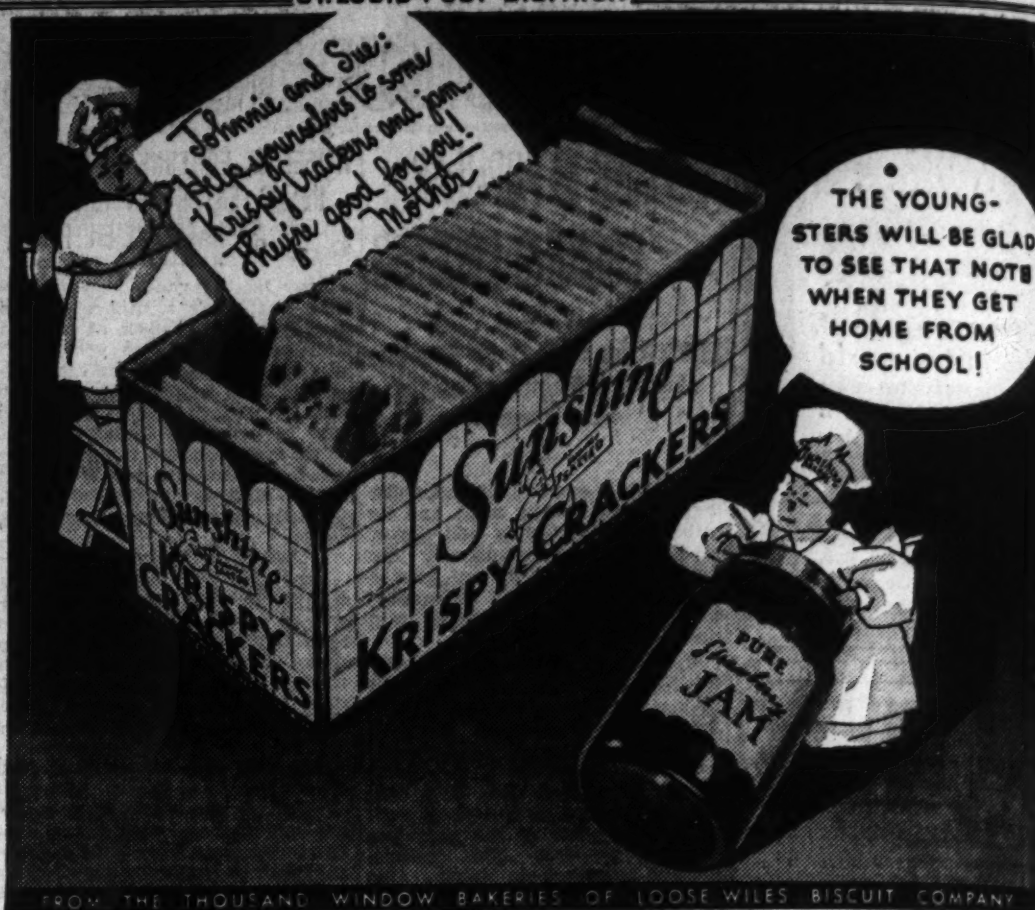

A Lantern Salad of this type may be used as part of a fruit salad tray. It will help to garnish the tray and increase the variety of servings offered.

Cream Mayonnaise Dressing.
A bowl of cream mayonnaise dressing makes a most appropriate accompaniment to serve with this salad. Whip one-half cup of heavy cream and fold it into one cup of mayonnaise. Sprinkle the top with finely chopped nuts, such as were used in the center of the salad.

Onion Crop This Year Is Especially Large

This Vegetable Not Only a Fine Seasoning But Adds Useful Bulk and Minerals and Vitamins.

The test of a good cook, someone has said, lies in her seasonings. And this might almost be taken to mean whether or not she is skillful in her use of onions, knowing how to add them sparingly for some dishes, lavishly for others. A glance through any cook book reveals a "soupcon," as the French say, or a suspicion of onion in many a soup, stew, hash and hors-d'oeuvre—in every course up to dessert. There's even an old-fashioned concoction called onion pie.

Then there are the scores of good ways of cooking the onions themselves as one of the vegetables in a well-rounded meal. Baked, boiled, creamed, stuffed, fried, in combination with many other foods—from peanuts to apples—from lamb to liver—onions are good. It's no wonder the Israelites in the wilderness complained to Moses for lack of them, or that O. Henry and other writers have built stories about them. Americans are credited with eating about 10 pounds of onions per capita a year.

So it is cheering news that the Bureau of Agricultural Economics brings in its October crop report. Onions did not suffer during the past season from the frosts or drought that reduced the supply of many other vegetables and fruits, the crop reporters say. This year's onion production is unusually large, and the price of onions will probably not get high throughout the early winter.

Large Crop. Nearly 12,000,000 sacks of 100 pounds each are in prospect from the late crop. Many of these onions are larger sized than is usual for the yellow Globe type raised in the North and East. Both New York and Michigan have about twice their usual crop of late onions. Indiana, Ohio and Minnesota are contributing their share of the globe type. Those onions are sharper and stronger in flavor than the mild sweet Spanish or Valencia type onions produced in Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Washington, but they are almost as large and can be used in many of the same ways.

Before onions are sold in wholesale quantities, they are graded for size, maturity, firmness and shape, and percentage of defects. Bright, clean, hard, well-shaped, mature onions with dry skins are usually of good quality. In selecting onions in a store, avoid those that have begun to sprout, or in which the seed-stem has developed, or that show signs of rot, especially if they are moist at the neck. Onions that have a dry stain on the outer skin are not necessarily injured if they are hard and dry. Much of the stain will disappear when the outer layers are peeled off. Misshapen onions are sometimes wasteful to prepare, but otherwise perfectly edible.

When it comes to food value and their place in a well-rounded diet, onions supply some minerals, and some vitamins B and C when eaten raw in sandwiches or salads. Like other vegetables, they add useful bulk. But, after all, it is more for flavor than for food value that we eat onions.

The larger sizes are very good stuffed with a mixture of bread crumbs, nuts, celery and seasonings, after a preliminary cooking to make them tender. They may also be baked whole, or cut up and scalloped or creamed.

The smaller sized onions, often brown-skinned, are ordinarily selected for mincing to season such dishes as meat loaf, milk-vegetable soups, or hash. Part of the forecast make by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics indicates that large-sized onions will be more plentiful this fall than smaller ones. So if you are cutting a large onion for seasoning, wrap the cut piece in waxed paper, and it will keep for a day or two in a cool place. Don't put it into the refrigerator to lend its "aroma" to other foods, though, unless it is in a covered jar.

Use as Seasoning. The standard method of introducing onion flavor into a soup or

FILL EMPTY JARS WITH A DELICIOUS CONSERVE FOR THE WINTER

BLUE plums are in the market now and you can still fill those empty jars with a conserve in case you did not do so earlier in the season.

Plum Conserve. Cook two cups brown sugar and four cups of dark karo together to boiling point. Wash five dozen blue plums, remove seeds. Slice four oranges thin; chop one pound figs. Add one pound seedless raisins. Put all fruit and juice of one lemon into karo and sugar syrup and cook for 45 minutes—or until thick. Blanch two cups walnut meats, chop, and add to fruit mixtures about five minutes before removing from fire. Pack into sterilized jars or glasses and seal.

Sauce is to cook a tablespoon or more of chopped onion in the butter or other fat until it is tender and transparent, then stir in the flour, and finally the liquid, and cook until the raw starch flavor disappears. Cooking the onion in fat before it is used in any mixture gives a richer, better flavor.

High on the list of good dishes made with onions, an epicure would place onion soup—sent to the table with a slice of toast generously sprinkled with grated cheese in each bowlful. That's the substantial finish. For the start, first cook sliced onions, plenty of them, in fat until they turn yellow. Then add meat broth and simmer slowly until the onions are tender and the soup is the right consistency to serve.

Onion item No. 2 on an epicure's list would probably be French fried onions. The large mild onions on the market this fall are perfect for the purpose. Slice them crosswise, about a third of an inch thick, and separate the rings. Dip these into a thin batter, and fry them like potato chips in deep fat. If there are any left over, you can keep them crisp for several days in a container with a tight lid.

A particularly savory and seasonable combination, with forequarter cuts of lamb reasonable in price, is roast breast of lamb with baked onions stuffed with forcemeat, utilizing the lean trimmed from the fore-shank.

Roast Breast of Lamb and Stuffed Onions.

Select a breast of lamb including the fore-shank. Have the butcher crack the bones of the breast so that it can be carved between the ribs. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, remove the fore-shank, cut off the meat, and grind it for the forcemeat stuffing. Make a pocket by cutting through the flesh close to the ribs and sprinkle the inside with salt and pepper. Pile in the hot forcemeat stuffing lightly, and sew the edges together. Rub the outside with salt, pepper and flour.

Lay the stuffed breast, ribs down, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water. Place the roast in a hot oven (480 degrees F.), and sear for 30 minutes. If there is not sufficient fat to keep the meat from drying out, baste with brown gravy made from the drippings.

For the baked onions, choose a large, mild-flavored variety. Cut the onions in half crosswise and simmer in lightly salted water until about half done. Lift the onions out and arrange in a baking dish. Remove the centers without disturbing the outer layers. Chop the onion centers and add to the forcemeat stuffing. Fill the onion shells with this mixture, cover, and bake in a moderate oven for about one-half hour, or until the onions are tender. Remove the cover from the baking dish during the last of the cooking so that the onions will brown well on top. Serve with the roast lamb.

The ingredients for the forcemeat stuffing are as follows: Ground lean meat from the fore-shank of lamb. Two cups fine dry bread crumbs. Two tablespoons fat. One-half cup chopped celery and parsley.

Chopped onion. One-fourth teaspoon savory seasoning. One teaspoon salt. One-eighth teaspoon pepper. Melt the butter in a skillet, add the celery and onion, and cook for two or three minutes. Add the ground meat, and stir until the juice evaporates and the meat browns slightly. Then add the bread crumbs and seasoning, stir until well mixed, and use in stuffing the lamb breast and onions.

Terming "cooperative commonwealth" the 30-year-old goal of Socialists, Dr. Smith asserted that "this objective is not properly prayed for in a Methodist church, since the Methodist church in the United States has indorsed in the twenty-third article of religion the Constitution of the United States, which provides for an individualistic democracy and not a socialistic democracy."

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By Martha Carr

My dear Mrs. Carr: If you will use it, this letter is intended to cheer up "Terribly Unhappy". Reading Mrs. Carr's column last night (as I do every night), I felt a tinge of sympathy for you. I, too, was very "terribly unhappy" at 14 and 15 years of age and a sort of "Lena Pry," an ugly duckling. Everyone poked fun at my very small nose and--knowing noses--I knew that could not be changed. I married at 14 (my husband surely wanted a wife no one else would have) because I was perfectly sure I would never have another chance. But, I must tell you, my dear, four years makes such a difference; that is, if you work hard to achieve the things you want most. I learned to work, dress and walk and wear my hair to match my nose. And there is something in confidence, also. Throw back your shoulders, don't swing those Lena Pry arms too much, walk slowly and as gracefully as you can and--SMILE, a real honest-to-goodness smile. Feel the smile and watch the effect. This will make people forget your awkwardness and soon others will forget it, also, and you will then be sure to forget it. Then--some day there will be more Prince Charmings waiting for your consent than you want. It's hard to work to be beautiful when you have little to work with, but it is very interesting and satisfying after years of struggle and patience to gaze back from the glory of achieving it to the "Ugly Duckling." Willpower, ambition and perseverance are all you need. Here's hoping you luck and knowing you'll come out on top, even as I. TABLES TURNED.

My dear Mrs. Carr: THERE is a lawyer who has been very kind to my children, and has been helping us. Now I would like to show him my appreciation and take him a small gift. I want your advice on what is proper. He is a young man, married and lives at a hotel. Would a lovely plant be all right? He does not smoke.

AN ADMIRER.

I think the plant, sent from the florist, with your card (and perhaps the names of the children added) to the hotel, the small envelope addressed to Mr. and Mrs. would be a very nice expression of appreciation.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM a boy 19 years of age and just have received an invitation to a Halloween party, requesting me to come masked. What sort of a costume would you suggest me to wear? O. C. H.

At the parties of all kinds now, it is becoming more and more the vogue just to wear an amusing head dress. You might take either the Halloween pumpkin or the Halloween apple. Have one made large enough to go over your head and rest on your shoulders. Either one can be made of wire and covered with paper, then painted. Leave place, of course, for the nose and eyes. You can have large leaves made of green crepe paper to cover (and disguise) your shoulders and for it to rest upon. If you like, add to the costume trousers too short and wide stripes and wear some one else's shoes, too large and with straw coming out the toes. Carry a basket of persimmons (green or ripe, but preferably the former), and invite guests to partake.

My Dear Mrs. Carr: I S to "Yvonne D." asking about Carlsbad Caverns, my husband and I were there about four years ago. It is a most beautiful sight and well worth the trip and admission. Since they now belong to the Government, a letter to the Department of the Interior or to the Chamber of Commerce at Roswell, N. M., will bring her all the information she could want. One can get a round-trip ticket any day at El Paso, Tex., reasonably on the bus.

MRS. Z.

Thank you for the response to this letter in the column. I have a number of others sent in for "Yvonne," which I appreciate. If the young lady will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope, I shall be glad to forward them to her.

Dear Martha Carr: WE will appreciate it very much if you will ask again in your column for light, wholesome books (secondhand) for the charity patients in the Firmin Desloge Hospital.

We could also use books on literature, history, science, religion or anthologies of any kinds for the nurses, who have practically nothing but their fellowship. Surely there must be hundreds of people who do not keep light fiction after a year, two, three, five or 10 years. I shall appreciate it if you will make this request again. We will call for books.

INEX SPECKING. I am glad you wrote again, and hope we will have many others.

MRS. SIMPSON'S EARLY LIFE IN BALTIMORE

THE KING, THEN PRINCE OF WALES, AT TIME OF MRS. SIMPSON'S FIRST MARRIAGE.

MRS. SIMPSON'S CHILDHOOD HOME IN BALTIMORE

MRS. SIMPSON... AN INFORMAL STUDIO PORTRAIT.

Society in Old Home Town Turns Up Its Nose at King's Friend--Former Suitor Defends Her.

By Virginia Irwin

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.

MRS. WALLIS WARFIELD SIMPSON, the most talked of woman in the world today, has hardly made a ripple on the surface of society in the venerable and very proper city that is her old home town. Gossip about her they may--behind closed doors--but in public the dowagers who knew Wallis Warfield away back when, confine themselves to a lifted eyebrow or a haughty stare at the mention of her name. The fact that she may become the first American-born woman in history to marry a King--and a first-rate British King at that--has made no impression on the old guard here. They would much rather point with pride to the fact that Baltimore has the first statue of George Washington to be erected in this country.

It seems that Mrs. Simpson--and Mrs. Simpson's mother, for that matter--were social non-conformists. They did as they pleased and refused to live according to Baltimore's rules. They defied tradition. They enjoyed life. The things they did would not be noticed today, but 20 years ago it was different. Wallis and her mother were marked down as radicals and the verdict is still upon the books.

"Imagine that woman with her name in all the newspapers," said one horrified woman as she ushered me through the front door of her ancient home.

"I will not discuss Mrs. Simpson," said another.

And so it went. The women who knew the Warfields in the leaner days in Baltimore did not want her name mentioned in their parlors, sacred with the dust of 100 years. But there is one person in Baltimore who would make an excellent press agent for Mrs. Simpson, if she needed one. He is Carter G. Osburn, an old-time beau of Wallis's. Now 40 years old, Osburn is as enthusiastic as ever about the Baltimore belle.

"I hope she does marry the King and then comes back here and sits down Charles street and thumbs her nose at everybody who has said one word against her," said this man who has known her and her family all his life. "The only thing I wish is that Alice, her mother, were still living. It's a beastly shame that Alice couldn't have lived to see Wallis get to the top and if Alice Rasin were still around, you can bet she would tell a few of these old gals, reeking with jealousy, where to get off."

Carter Osburn, scion of an old Maryland family, remembers Wallis Simpson as "a grand egg, 1000 per cent okay," and admires her as much today as he did 22 years ago, because "everything she got she had to get herself."

As Wallis Warfield, the woman who is today the favorite of the British monarch, has often been referred to in English dispatches as the daughter of a Baltimore butcher. The Baltimore city directory of 1896 lists her father as T. Wallis Warfield, clerk, and the Baltimore Warfields trace their ancestry back to Knight Pagan de Warfield, who in 1066 crossed the channel with William the Conqueror and fought in the battle of Hastings. But with all his family background, Warfield left his wife and daughter in poor circumstances when he died in 1899. One Baltimorean insists that Alice Warfield ran a boarding house at 212 East Biddle street and took in "paying guests" to support herself and daughter between the years 1900 and 1908. Another denies the story and says the mother was sort of a "society housekeeper at the Chevy Chase Club, supervising table appointments and arranging dinners and parties." And still another says that S. Davies Warfield, Baltimore banker, helped the two. How much help Banker Warfield gave Alice Warfield and her daughter is not known, but when he died in 1928, Wallis Warfield was left only the income from a $15,000 trust fund, and a notation in the will stated "my niece has been educated by me and otherwise provided for by my mother and myself in addition to the provision made here-in."

WHATEVER the financial status of herself and daughter, Alice Warfield, who in 1908 married John Freeman Rasin, saw that young Wallis took her place with the daughters of more affluent families, attending exclusive Arundel School and later Oldfield's, finishing school for Baltimore's elite. On Dec. 7, 1914, Wallis Warfield made her debut at Bachelors cotillion and newspaper accounts of that date describe her "exquisite gown of white satin combined with chiffon and trimmings of pearls."

Two years later another newspaper account carried the details of her wedding: "One of the most important weddings of the early season took place at 6:30 o'clock last evening at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church when Miss Wallis Warfield, daughter of the late Teackle Wallis Warfield and Mrs.

AS A SCHOOLGIRL... WHEN MRS. SIMPSON WAS WALLIS WARFIELD, A BOARDING SCHOOL STUDENT IN BALTIMORE IN 1912 WHEN SHE MET THE KING. AT LEFT, IN 1928, WHEN STILL MRS. E. W. SPENCER.

John Freeman Rasin became the bride of Lieut. E. Winfield Spencer Jr., U. S. N., now stationed at Pensacola, Fla., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Winfield Spencer of Highland Park, Chicago. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large assembly of guests, the rector, the Rev. Edward Barnes Niver, officiating.

"The church was decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums while lighted tapers and annunciation lilies were used on the altar. "The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. S. Davies Warfield, by whom she was given in marriage, wore a gown of white panne velvet made with a court train, the pointed bodice being elaborately embroidered in pearls and the skirt fell over a petticoat of old family lace."

Among Wallis Warfield's bridesmaids at her wedding to Lieut. Spencer was a girl who is today Mrs. John Sadler of Cockeysville, Md. Mrs. Sadler, unlike some of Wallis's early acquaintances who will not permit their names to be used in her connection, explains the attitude of some of Baltimore's ultra-proper folks by saying: "The people who are quick to criticize her are probably as envious as they were in the old days when Wallis was the only one among us to have a serious beau during her debutante years and wore clothes that made our mouths water."

"And there was never any doubt about Wallis's success," Mrs. Sadler generously adds. "She was superlatively smart without being beautiful and she had a poise and a knack for finding her way around that made most of us seem like clumsy children. It has been 20 years since I saw Wallis, but I say now--more power to her."

So, in Mrs. Sadler, her girlhood chum, and in Carter G. Osburn, her old beau, Wallis Simpson has at least two ardent champions in Baltimore. She is reported to have written one member of her family and suggested that "the newspapers be set right about the rumor that my father was a Baltimore butcher," and the relative is reported to have refused to take any hand in the matter and replied that if she hadn't made herself "the most talked of woman in the world, there would be no such rumor."

Osburn does not believe that Wallis Simpson ever wrote such a letter.

"It wouldn't make any difference to her if someone called her the daughter of a Baltimore butcher," he says. "She knows that she is as well. If not better, born than the King himself and besides there isn't the least bit of snobbishness in her. People who get as far as she has simply by their intelligence, haven't room for snobbishness."

Baltimore hasn't seen much of Wallis Warfield since the days of her marriage to "Win" Spencer, but they have heard, as all the world has, how she became the favorite of England's King while living in London with her second husband, Ernest Simpson, and the old-guard can't quite forgive her for ever allowing herself to graduate into a position where her name is in headlines and her pictures on the front pages of newspapers. And the residents of Biddle street left from the days when Wallis lived there are outraged because Mrs. Helen Hartman, who now runs a rooming house in Wallis's old home, receives the curious who want to see the place from which Wallis started out on the climb up the ladder to Buckingham Palace.

Mrs. Hartman doesn't mind if the callers come on days when she doesn't have a headache--she has them frequently--and she explains kindly that the house has "11 rooms, on three floors, and rents for $30 a month."

Last week Baltimore was in a dither over the rumor that Wallis Simpson would visit here after a stay in Bermuda. Arrangements for the Bermuda trip were said to have been completed and the guessing was that sometime this fall Wallis Simpson would arrive in Baltimore to spend part of the six months' quiet retreat required by her divorce decree. And if, and when, the King's favorite does descend upon Baltimore, it will be interesting to see how this venerable and very proper city treats the charming social bolshevik who struggled through a girlhood of strained gentility, weighted down with Baltimore traditions, and who may someday not far off become the wife of England's King.

Reasons for Popularity of Young People

Feeling of Friendliness Towards Fellows Is Essential to Obtain This Quality.

By Angelo Patri

"IS BOBBIE going?" "O, my yes! We couldn't get along without Bobbie. Sure he is coming."

"Hm. Well, I guess I don't want to go. I'd rather stay home and read a book."

"O, go on. What's the matter with you? First thing you know you will be left out of everything. We aren't going to keep asking you if you keep telling us you don't want to go. Come on and have some fun like the rest of us."

"No, thanks. I'd rather stay home and read."

After an hour or so of being alone Hugo asked his mother a queer question. "Why does everybody like Bobbie Dale so much? He isn't any smarter than the rest of us, but the way the crowd hangs on to him makes you think he's a human wonder. I can't see it."

For a minute mother pondered the question. The desire to be alone with a book was clear to her now. She would do her best to clear this up. Briskly she answered, "He is such a friendly, helpful sort. No matter what's on foot he's ready to step along. Any idea that is offered gets a boost from him. He likes people and lets them know it. He'd walk a mile to make a boy or a girl feel that he wanted to be friendly and 'in' with them. He asks for friends and he gets them."

"Yeah. He asks for them. Before I'd do that I'd go without friends."

"THAT would be a great mistake," said Angelo. "This world is a busy place and the people in it are hurried, bothered, lonely. The one thing each of us needs is friendship. We have to have it. We can't have it unless we make a bid for it, invite it, do something to win it. Nobody is ever going to force your door to get to your heart. You've got to keep that door wide open, stand outside it and welcome people in. You can have just as many friends as anybody if you set about earning them."

"How can I earn any?"

"Well, say that you get busy right now. Take the car and go out to meet the crowd coming home. Take their luggage and give the girls, who are most tired, a lift. Say right out that you kept thinking about them and just had to come to see how they were getting on. Go ahead now. Practice that feeling and it will soon be honestly yours. You can't get along without friends, and you have to make them out of your free time, your crowded time, your grudging and cherished interests. You've got to give yourself freely before you can take a single heart. Now go out and get busy."

If you would be popular put the other fellow first. Strangely enough that process results in your being first, and worthy of your place.

Angelo Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Banana Nut Bread

One and one-half cups mashed bananas.

Two cups flour.

One-half cup bran.

One-half cup sugar.

Two tablespoons molasses.

Two-thirds teaspoon salt.

Two eggs.

One-quarter cup sour milk.

Two tablespoons fat, melted.

One-half cup nuts.

One teaspoon baking powder.

One teaspoon soda.

Press bananas through sieve and when soft, beat well, and add rest of ingredients. Pour into buttered loaf pan, let stand 15 minutes. Bake 50 minutes in moderately slow oven. Serve cut in slices.

This bread is good used for sandwiches for the lunch boxes.

A fish salad or broiled fish is most attractive garnished with thin slices of lemon, one slice sprinkle with minced parsley and the next one plain.

bowls of lavender and purple flowers to keep the room together. We've found ever so many purple things sticking their brave heads up through the weeds of a neglected garden. The front hall hasn't anything to be said for it at present, so sheaves of evergreens are going to do the honors there, and--we hope--they'll even hide the places where the wallpaper's torn.

By Walter Winchell

Memo of a Columnist's Girl Friday
DEAR Mr. W.: Mrs. Fred Francis, the Flagler heiress, phoned. Wanted to tell you she didn't make any details about the item about the divorce to that Tampa editor. That her attorneys did it. Any way, she divorced Mr. F. at Miami on the 10th and the newspapers have corroborated it.

Patricia ("Honeychile") Wilder's husband, Robin Harris, finally arrived in H'wood to see her, after being in a Texas house for hitting a steer with his silver. "To-varich," I hear, got nearer $150,000 than 100, as you said.

I saw Deputy Comm. of Police McDonald (say, isn't he handsome?) personally supervise a case on E. 58th the other night. Man fell or jumped. . . . A hospital next door refused to give first aid—told the Commissioner "we don't handle these cases." . . . The Commissioner shook his head and told his men he was going to see about that, and seemed very disgusted. . . . Some song pluggers want you to boost Hildegarde because she is so decent to them. . . . They probably don't know why: She plugged songs for Irving Berlin five years ago.

Beth Brown is grateful. Her book, "Riverside Drive," is due on the 4th and last Tuesday some guy threatened to sue her saying he wrote a play by that name, etc. He wanted 10 G's. . . . She dug up a clipping from the column older than his claim and confronted him with it—and he's disappeared. . . . So she sends kisses to European censors are holding up the French and Gaumont newsreels at the Madison Trans-Lux. . . . Joe Ward's new spot in the Bronx is "The Maxine." Evelyn Nesbit is the attraction. . . . L. Wolfe Gilbert pawned the tribe's jewels, he says, to go into the music game again with "Meet the Family," which has hit possibilities. . . . Duke, the septa errand boy at the Winter Garden, has a role in the new B. Lillie show. . . .

They say the Horace Dodge-Mickey Devine merger is finally going to happen. In preparation she has bought 23 ensembles and 18 pairs of shoes. . . . Mabelle Russell's blue-awning at the Maria on 52d St. is big-time. . . . Mayor La Guardia goes there now and then—only night spot he ever goes to. You said to remind you to give orchids to Lee Centra's singing of "But Not Without You" with Art Shaw's crew. . . . Carmella Ponsella's vocalizing on Friday nights is another orchid. . . . New week-end at Tommy Man's estate. . . . Sonya Wolfkoff, beautiful blonde formerly with Vanities. . . . Sheila Barrett says Manville's theme song must be: "I Love a Parade." Teehee. . . . Fernad Gravat, the French flicker star, arrives from Yurrop next week to Taylor-Gable it on the coast. The welcoming party will be "select." . . . "Going Places," London's newest musical, had a more hectic premiere than the Ruth Etting show. . . . Boogie for one of the stars—not June Knight, who scored heavily. . . . Margaret Sullivan had a doctor in the wings during the premiere of "Stage Door"—very sick girl.

Isham Jones is very ill, also. Broke up his hand, I hear—to recuperate his health. . . . "Here's Love in Your Eyes" from "Big Broadcast" is a nice chune, but so was "There's Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie." . . . Janet McLeod, Boston society girl, with oodles of coin, is in Hollywood acting as a ladies' fashion expert in a swanky men's shop. . . . Gertrude Niesen has changed her hair to near blonde and screens better, as a result, they tell me. . . . Plenty of squawks because Palm Springs has doubled its tariff since last year.

It's a girl at the William Seelyes. . . . Is this a good thumbnail for George Raft: America's Sheikh-heart? . . . Say, how about Sidney Blackmer for the role of Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind"? . . . Was written for him, I think. . . . Fannie Hurst just got 85 Gs for "Sister Act" from Warners. . . . How did your screen test come out over at the X-ray Laboratories? —YOUR GIRL FRIDAY. (Copyright, 1936.)

Cheese Biscuits
Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup grated cheese, one-quarter cup butter, one-third cup evaporated milk mixed with one-third cup cold water. Sift dry ingredients and mix with grated cheese. Rub butter into the dry ingredients, add milk and water. Turn onto a floured board and pat to three-eighths inch thickness. Cut into rounds and bake in a hot oven on a greased cookie tin.

LOVE, HONOR AND NEGLECT

A Family Discussion Is Little Help To Frances In Her Distress—She Waits Vainly For Word From Him.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.

SUE-MARIE was reading the newspaper account of the accident in which her daughter had figured. But, unlike her husband, she did not blame Frances. It was Bill who was responsible for this as he had been for everything else.

"If you hadn't married him it would never have happened," she declared.

"That's not the question," Mr. Sherman reminded her. "She did marry him and is living with him. It's time for you to grow up, Frances. You can't be a child all your life."

"But, daddy, I couldn't let Booty go with them alone."

"That was Booty's responsibility. Not yours. You are married and there are things a respectable married woman doesn't do."

"He sounds like Mrs. Bond," Frances thought, but she realized that what he said was true.

"What is Bill going to think?" her father continued.

"What difference does that make?" demanded Sue-Marie. "If he hadn't neglected her as he's been doing for months she wouldn't have been with Belinda. I haven't said anything. I've kept my promise to you," she cried, hysterically. "Frances will tell you I've offered neither sympathy nor advice, and where has it gotten her? She comes home half dead at 3 o'clock in the morning. Paul said he took her to her apartment. Why didn't she stay there? Because of that awful, old woman. That's why!"

"This was so uncannily close to the truth that Frances was surprised.

"Don't upset yourself now, dear," pleaded Mr. Sherman. "I asked you to keep out of it only because I felt it was the best policy to let them work out their own salvation. I still think so."

"Well, I don't," she sobbed. "If you think I'm going to see my daughter mistreated any longer, you're crazy."

They were discussing her as if she weren't present. And the scene which had been so full of life and things hadn't worked out more satisfactorily," her father admitted. "I had hoped they could become adjusted to each other. If they can't, of course, she can come home. God knows I've no desire to punish her for making a mistake. But so long as she does live with him I expect her to act like a wife."

Mrs. Sherman was weeping bitterly. Big tears rolled down her face.

"I've certainly made a mess of things," Frances thought. "It would have been better if I had listened to them in the first place. Do you think Bill is going to be dreadfully angry with me?" she inquired.

"Almost any man would be," her father assured her. "You'd better talk things over with him and come to a definite understanding. I don't know what the trouble is between you, but you certainly are going to have to get it settled."

He leaned over to kiss her and she clasped her arms about his neck.

"I'm sorry to have worried you so. It will never happen again."

When he had gone Frances telephoned the office to tell Bill when he arrived that she was at her parents'. The operator had evidently seen the morning paper. Frances thought she sounded slightly supercilious, but nothing mattered to her now but Bill's opinion. There was no possibility of

"You've admitted that neither of you are happy. You've gone around looking absolutely haunted."

"I haven't been happy but I may have been partly my own fault. If he would only make his mother live somewhere else!"

"But he's told you that he won't

TODAY'S PATTERN

Variety

IF YOU like variety and flattery in your frocks, you'll "go for" this Anne Adams channer, pattern 4161. For in addition to being one of the most slimming frocks of the season, it boasts a dainty vestee which may be made in a variety of colors, and changed at will. Just see the trim lines of its tuxedo collar, the full front and back pleats of the skirt, and the choice of individual sleeve lengths! Smart as can be, aren't they? You'll receive a new thrill in wearing a frock you've made yourself, and your friends will never guess how easy the pattern was! Perfect in wool or silk crepe, or synthetic.

Pattern 4161 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and one-half yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Famous Man's Determination To Succeed

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

MORE than 40 years ago, in a lonely farmhouse in Wisconsin, in the middle of a stormy night, a child became dangerously ill. Suddenly the quiet home became a house of fear.

It struck terror to the heart of a little boy as he saw his brother suffer, and watched the drawn and anxious faces of his father and mother—so eager to help yet so helpless.

The nearest doctor lived miles away, but when sent for he came as rapidly as a team of good horses could bring him. To this day the boy remembers the relief when the doctor arrived.

As the doctor entered the sick-room, the boy—unexpectably slipped in, too, unnoticed in the excitement, and hid behind a piece of furniture, and watched the doctor at work.

Calmly the doctor examined his patient, touching here, listening there, making his tests. As he sat down to pour out the medicines to be given, he said to the parents: "The child will get well."

At once the boy felt the tension relax, and from his hiding place he saw the drawn faces of his father and mother light up in a way so wonderful that he could never forget it.

Then and there he decided what he wanted to become when he grew up. To have such knowledge and skill, to be able to cause such a light to shine in the faces of people—that was his dream.

Years passed, and his whole life found focus in his dream—his desire and determination to become a doctor. Such is the story of one of the great bacteriologists of our time.

Among his peers it is freely predicted that his name will go down in history among the benefactors of the race, especially for his studies of infantile paralysis, if for nothing else.

Surely neither men nor angels can know a satisfaction more real, a joy more wonderful, than to be able to bring the light of hope and happiness into the faces of men and women.

Cranberry Sherbet

(Serve with main course.)

Four cups berries.

Two cups water.

Three cups sugar.

Two cups milk.

One teaspoon grated lemon rind.

One tablespoon lemon juice.

Boil berries and water until berries are soft. Press through sieve, add rind and juice to sugar. When mixed, slowly add berry juice and milk. Pour into freezer and freeze until stiff.

This sherbet can be frozen in mechanical refrigerator by beating well at 30-minute intervals during first two hours. It will require about four hours to freeze.

French dressing is made rapidly and satisfactorily by placing all the ingredients in a small closed jar and shaking vigorously. They will blend into a delightful dressing.

Two days later, when Sue-Marie suggested that they talk things over with the family lawyer, Frances agreed.

Cauliflower and Tomatoes

Open a small can of tomatoes and in a baking dish place alternate layers of cauliflower and tomatoes, seasoning each layer with minced onion, salt and pepper. On top place a generous layer of grated cheese, buttered crumbs, salt and paprika. Bake until nicely browned. The dish will be found so tasty one is inclined to make a large casserole with a whole head of cauliflower.

Waist Reducer

STAND ERECT, FEET COMFORTABLY APART, ARMS OUT SIDEWARD SHOULDER HEIGHT—BEND AND TWIST TO TOUCH RIGHT FOOT WITH LEFT HAND—STRAIGHTEN UP, ARMS STILL RAISED—NOW BEND AND TWIST TO LEFT, KEEP KNEES STRAIGHT AND ARMS IN SAME SIDEWARD RELATION TO BODY, SO THAT TOUCHING THE FOOT IS NOT A MATTER OF REACHING, BUT OF BENDING AND TWISTING.

A thick waist is an awful waste—an unnecessary waste of feminine attractiveness. If you have rid yourself of a protruding abdomen, or if you were blessed with a flat one, you are ready to start on these exercises for making the waist slim. If you still have your abdomen with you you can do these exercises along with the ones for the stomach.

Exercise No. 22: Stand erect, feet a comfortable distance apart. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height. Bend over, twisting the body so that you can touch the right foot with the left hand. Straighten the trunk, keeping the arms raised sideward. Bend over, twisting the body so that you can touch the left foot with the right hand. Raise trunk. While doing this keep your knees straight and try to keep the arms in the same sideward relation to the body so that instead of lowering the arms you have to twist the body. If you can't touch the foot, reach over as far as you can in the direction indicated.

What is your figure moulding problem? If you want your questions answered directly, send a 3-cent self-addressed envelope. All correspondence will be strictly confidential. Address your letters to Josephine Lowman, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Underweight People Often Unable to Gain

Recently the Use of Insulin,
However, Has Been Found Effective.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

It is generally acknowledged that it is more difficult to put weight on a constitutionally underweight person than to reduce a constitutionally overweight. They may follow directions religiously, and rest, eat high caloric diets, and practice posture and strengthening exercises, but still they remain that deplorably skinny condition. Something about their nature just does not let them get plump.

For them is another hope lately developed—the use of insulin.

Insulin is the substance isolated in 1922, and which proved to have such magical effects in the treatment of diabetes. It is a normal secretion of the body produced by certain cells in the pancreas, and its function is to burn sugar in the blood and tissues in order to produce energy.

One of the immediate effects of a dose of insulin is the production of a fierce hunger. This is natural, because of the reduction of available food in the body due to the utilization of the sugar.

Now it is the necessity of producing hunger which insulin has which suggested its use in the treatment of underweight. Most of the "skinny" know that one of their chief difficulties is lack of appetite and a positive distaste to stuffing themselves with food.

SOON after it was discovered, insulin was used for the treatment of inanition in infants. The results were excellent, and soon a good sugar in the blood and tissues made. Then in adults.

It, unfortunately, has to be given hypodermically. Small doses of 5 to 10 units are given either before all three meals or more often, before only two. The treatment should always be started under the care of a physician, although there is no reason why the patient cannot learn to administer it himself after tolerance has been determined. The "patient" is usually allowed to go about his work as usual.

How it works is a matter of some debate at present. One theory is that the improvement in weight is simply the result of the increased appetite, and hence an increased food intake. The other suggests that malnutrition is essentially a state of increased secretion of the adrenal glands with increased adrenalin in the blood, and that insulin is a physiological antagonist of adrenalin; hence its introduction into the body restores the body cells to normal balance and optimum weight results.

That it works there seems to be no doubt. The technique has been standardized and most physicians have learned to administer it. The weight gain is steady, amounting to about two and one-half pounds a week. Since this is in ambulatory patients at full activity, it must be regarded as very good.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
T. G.: "A woman told me recently that she had read an article in a newspaper that the use of nail polish would poison the skin around the nails. Is this true? Is it harmful to wear it all the time? How about the lipstick that comes to match the polish?"
Answer: Nail polish and lipstick are not poisonous. Sometimes cosmetics may have special hypersensitive effects on some people, but this never is true in my experience with nail polish and lipstick.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 20 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Beef Vegetable Soup
One cooked roast bone.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
Two tablespoons minced celery.
One-half cup diced carrots.
One tablespoon chopped parsley.
One tablespoon chopped onion.
Five cups water.
Three tablespoons butter or gravy.
Add water to all ingredients except butter. Cover and simmer one and one-half hours, remove meat bone, add butter and serve hot in bowls. Two-thirds cup cooked macaroni or rice can be added with butter.

Linseed Oil
Linseed oil applied to leather furniture makes it soft and pliable, gives it a darker shade, and increases its durability.

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

I do not think so except perhaps in wars of aggression; but outside of Italy's rape of Ethiopia and Japan's raids into China, it would be hard to prove we have had any "wars of aggression" since, say, 1900. But when a nation's life is at stake, as I think ours was in 1917, I cannot see how any individual can rightly set up his ideas, judgments, theories, philosophies, etc., against the national will. He is staking the lives, fortunes and institutions of his fellow men and their civilization on his individual judgment. Every one should oppose war to the limit, but when the nation finally calls for defenders the right of individual judgment is at an end. At least that is my view of this problem.

This is well nigh the universal judgment of lawyers of experience. Herman and M. Goldberg in England quote the great trial lawyer, John Chute, as saying: "Let me give you my dying advice—never cross-examine a woman. It is of no use. They cannot disintegrate the story they have told; they cannot eliminate the part that is for you from the part that is against you. They can neither come, nor shade, nor qualify."

Swing is the new name for jazz with some extra short circuits, fire crackers, "hot stuff," let'er go Gallagher, devil-may-care thrown in, without losing the rhythm, indeed, as an aid to rousing all the biological rhythm with which nature has endowed the race. Writing in To-day, Greta

Palmer believes it means people are coming into a happier mood of life, forgetting the depression, and ceasing to cry in their beer while they listen to "torch" singers and "sweet" crooning melodies dealing with young people whose love affairs have got into a psychoanalytic muddle. # Hounded

By Harry A. Beck

WHEN Percival Abernathy hit town, arriving blind-baggage on one of the more pretentious and fast trains from the last town he had been run out of, Percival no doubt was broke. Or at least he was so nearly deflated financially that there was no humor in the situation. The fact did not fail to register upon Percival as he heard the faint jingling of a few coins when he slid with practiced grace onto the gravel of the darkened upper stretches of the railroad yard.

It must be understood at the beginning that Percival was not all that the name might conjure up in the imagination. In fact, for quite a number of years the name Percival had been supplanted for a coarser but more serviceable cognomen, "Slim," in those intervals when a number had not been more practical.

Having sprung from a more or less distinguished line, the name is understandable. But it is also understandable that a black sheep without benefit of an immediate family has distinctly no use whatever for a fancy name. What Slim really had need of was shelter, clothing and food, with perhaps enough money thrown in along with it to satisfy a gentlemanly craving for participation in various games of chance. He rarely lost any money—long years of practice took care of that!

Slim knew where he would procure all these things. He was by turns moocher, petty thief, gambler, confidence man or whatever best suited his welfare, yet withal he was a very likeable chap. The education he had absorbed before he turned out to be a rogue of sorts stood him in good stead in many an emergency. All of which serves to show what sort of person Slim was.

He hadn't been in town a week before he realized that conditions were not what they might have been. It was a condition which called for thought, and that Slim was very adept. Like a great many people, Slim was fond of having money—the more the better—but likewise had an inherent aversion to working for it. For two days Slim mulled over a great many schemes whereby he might replenish his depleted capital, and on the second day a grand idea struck him with the suddenness and clarity of a bolt from the blue.

He had a wealthy elderly maiden aunt living in town. He remembered hearing his father speaking of her. And here he was going around mooching meals and a flop from grudging friends! Hastily he sought out a telephone directory and feverishly looked up her address. The old girl should be good for a lot more than he was getting by his present tactics!

The same afternoon Slim rang the doorbell of the old-fashioned mansion, actually looking presentable in his borrowed suit, a fresh haircut and shave and a suave air. The old lady received him telly, but Slim went to work on her in earnest when he perceived that she was due for not many more months on this earth. He cast about for some method by which to break the ice of her reserve.

He finally discovered it. Auntie was almost morbid on the subject of dogs, especially the bulging eyed Peks which was her sole companion, outside of the butler and the cook. He petted the mutt, praised it, remarked on how fortunate Auntie was to possess such a paragon of canine pluckitude. And Auntie fell for it like a ton of bricks.

Before he left, Slim had a promise of a job-taking care of the peech in return for his food and lodging! He gaged inwardly. He hated dogs, but this was a golden opportunity to get in solid with the old girl before she left the earth.

And who could tell? Auntie had no relatives that Slim could decipher, outside of himself. After all, it was worth a few months of detestable work to run the chance of being cut in on all, or a least a goodly portion, of Auntie's dough after it was all over. Slim went to work, and what I mean, he really slaved!

He took full advantage of the fact that, aside from her numerous ailments, the Pekings was her only weak spot. Early in the morning Slim began his duties with the dog. Under Auntie's fond supervision from her wheelchair, he petted the creature, washed it, took it for airings, combed and brushed its straggling hair, treated it as though it was a very treasure. Which it really was, according to Slim's line of thought.

The expected few months until he should reap the just rewards of all this detested and unaccustomed toil stretched into a year, a year and a half. But Slim never relaxed his wonderful care of the bound—while Auntie was around. If he booted the mutt a few times when he wasn't observed, maybe he could be excused.

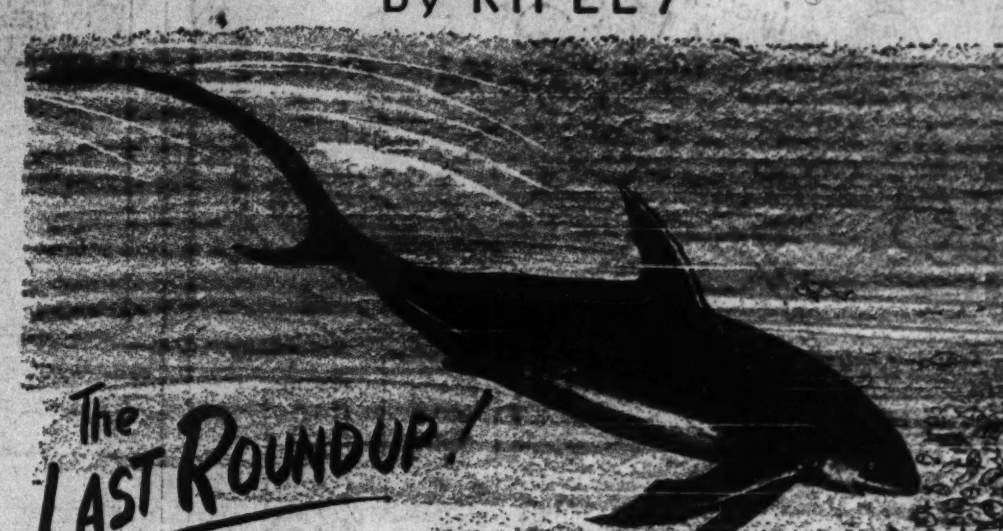

To Slim's vast relief, the day arrived when Auntie had him delivered to her lawyer. It seemed that Auntie felt that she hadn't much longer to live, and wished to revise her will. Slim's heart bounded when she shyly mentioned that she wanted to leave him something to repay all his kind services. Slim protested that she must be needlessly alarmed, that he hoped she would live for another 10 years, which pleased Auntie. Slim had his fingers crossed.

The old lady proved to be a good prophet. Slim sat in the musty parlor after the funeral, drying his eyes while the lawyer read the will. The last will and testament of dear old Auntie. The tears stopped flowing miraculously when the lawyer brought out the startling news that Auntie's money was to go to a dog and cat hospital!

The lawyer cleared his throat and began afresh. Slim heard, to my dearly beloved nephew, Percival Abernathy, I leave my most dearly loved possession, because he is the only one who will appreciate it! Slim leaped forward. This was more like it! Visions of a valuable LEGISLATURE BEFORE U. S. SENATE—James Jackson (1757-1806), distinguished Georgian, was elected Governor of his State in 1788 when he was 31 years old. He declined the election on the grounds of youth and inexperience, although he had a distinguished military and legal career behind him even then. He was subsequently elected a United States Senator, but resigned after two years for the purpose of running for the State Legislature. He was elected Governor of Georgia a second time at the age of 41, and then returned to the United States Senate for a term of 9 years.

Abernathy, I leave my most dearly loved possession, because he is the only one who will appreciate it! Slim leaped forward. This was more like it! Visions of a valuable collection of jewels or bonds flitted across his mind, and he smiled contentedly to himself. The lawyer resumed reading, and then Slim almost fainted.

Creamed Shrimps

Remove seeds and membrane from two green peppers and cook for five minutes in boiling salted water. Cut into thin strips. Blend three tablespoons butter with three tablespoons flour and stir one pint of milk in slowly. Cook until smooth. Add one pint shrimps, the peppers and one-half teaspoon salt and cook until the shrimps are hot. Serve in pattie shells or on squares of buttered toast.

One tablespoon granulated gelatin. Four tablespoons cold water. One-half cup boiling prune juice. One-half cup seeded cooked prunes. One-third cup diced celery. One-quarter cup nuts. One-eighth teaspoon salt. One teaspoon lemon juice. Soak gelatin five minutes in water, dissolve in juice. Cool, add rest of ingredients and fill individual molds. Chill until firm, unmold on lettuce and top with salad dressing. Other fruits can be used in place of prunes.

The Corner in Education

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

THREE HUNDRED scientists gathered at Harvard in September, gave a dynamic exhibition of terrific thinking. But none of them got his "H."

Three hundred men is a larger huddle than the one that loses regularly to Princeton. But the 300 never played against Yale and never out-fumbled Dartmouth.

The only chair ever offered to us in college was the high one in the corner. The badge of office was a paper hat.

But we still claim the only difference between a professor and a pupil is that the professor read the book first.

Whenever our teacher asked us a question in the old days, we quoted the Bill of Rights and refused to answer. Thereby raising the standard of intelligence 15 degrees in the immediate neighborhood.

So far as education is concerned, we are still in the academic doldrums, and our alma mater is an ivy-covered dog house. If you hear the strains of "Boola, Boola," this twilight, it will be me and the 300 professors whizzing by in a chummy.
